If All Lights Went Out,
One Dull Little Boy,
So He Goes to Miami,
Science Goes on.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ACTING GOVERNOR Wolber, of New Jersey, Edison's state, supports enthusiastically the suggestion made by W. R. Hearst, Jr., to President Hoover that on the night following Edison's funeral, all electric lights be extinguished for one minute to remind the country of its debt to Edison.

The dullest would be impressed, and made to realize the value of Edison's work, if suddenly, instantaneously, electric light in every city could be changed to utter darkness. Millions, by the way, would probably get in that moment a view of the sky, and the stars, at night, for the first time in a long while.

EDISON, A LITTLE boy of 10, was already working at new ideas, "trying to invent things." His teachers complained that he was "absent minded," did not pay attention, called him "dull."

Many other little boys suffer from so called "absent mindedness" which in reality is proof of a mind trying to work on its own problems. In spite of constant interruption and exactions.

Fathers and mothers and TEACHERS ESPECIALLY should remember it.

MR. ALPHONSE CAPONE, bootleg-prohibition "big shot," is convicted and Judge Wilkerson will probably sentence him to Leavenworth Penitentiary for several years. But sentencing him does not mean SENDING him.

Legal technicalities and delays will postpone the "sending" for several years.

Meanwhile, Mr. Capone, whose specialty is not cowardice, orders several suits of clothing "tropical weight" for his approaching journey to Miami's sunshine.

HOW DIFFERENT from the game of racketeering. You read about the "tropical weight" suits. And then about a certain bootlegger and racketeer who had refused to take the hint of a bootleg organization and retire from the beer trade.

He was sentenced, not to Leavenworth, but to death.

Two men called on him. One grasped his hand firmly, saying "Hello, Max," while the other pressed a gun against his head and fired five bullets.

Racketeering does not recognize any appeal. The law may have to come to that.

MEN COME AND GO, stocks rise and fall. Governments dwindle and pass. SCIENCE GOES ON.

Bell Telephone scientific laboratories have developed a new air gauge to interest you. You know that the atmosphere presses on us, living at the bottom of the air, as the water presses on fish living at the bottom of the ocean. No living man could carry half the weight that his body carries, without knowing it, in atmospheric pressure.

Messrs. Jaycox and Weinhart, engineers of Bell Telephone laboratories, have invented an air gauge that will measure air pressure to within ONE-TRILLIONTH. That divides the actual pressure by 1,000,000,000,000. The pressure on your body would be reduced to one-trillionth of normal, if you could go to the top of our atmosphere, and you would instantly explode. That is one ordeal to be met on our first journey to the moon, or Mars.

THE LEAGUE of Nations, having dragged in Uncle Sam to share with it the hostility of Japan, practically orders the Japanese out of Manchuria. Japan wants to know why years of treaty violations by China are overlooked, and only Japan criticized.

What interests the United States is THIS:

Suppose the League of Nations gave us that sort of order some day. Suppose it had ordered us to get out of Cuba when we went there after the Maine was sunk. Suppose it had ordered our marines to get out of Haiti recently? Should we feel inclined to obey?

Why should we join the league in giving orders to the Japanese empire. When we know that we should not be willing to have the league give orders to us. We should defy such orders, as Japan probably will defy the league.

IT IS THE intention of Japan to attend to its own affairs, thus setting Uncle Sam a good example. This is shown by news that the Japanese are digging trenches and building barracks in Manchuria. Settling down for the winter, regardless of League of Nations "ukases, sanctions, and won't you PLEASE."

MEXICO AND SPAIN discover now what Russia will discover later, that the people will not, without resistance, see their church and religion torn down.

They will not tolerate the theory that there is no God, and all they have to hope for is the little that a dictator can give them here on earth. That teaching may suit the dictator who has everything, not the peasant with just enough to keep him alive.

At Tlapacoyan, in Mexico, statues were taken from the village church and burned. The church was sacked. The desecration and contemptuous ignoring of religious feelings were complete.

BUT THERE WAS a sequel. The people attacked the municipal authorities, held respon-

Burgoyne's Name Stricken Off City Payroll

SCHOOLEY'S MISSING PROBER FIRED

School Board Committee Asks Treasurer's Bond Be Increased to $250,000

Arthur G. Burgoyne, chief investigator for former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, was discharged today 24 hours after his superior had been dismissed from service.

Treasurer Richard W. Thompson, named in Schooley's stead, said he did not know where to reach Burgoyne, missing since October 3, and simply struck his name from the payroll.

Burgoyne showed City Controller James P. Kerr government bonds amounting to $125,000 purporting to be those put up by the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company as security for city time deposits.

BONDS MISSING

A search for the bonds recently in Schooley's office failed to disclose them. The bank examiner in charge of the closed institution said there was no evidence that the bank had provided security.

Other developments in the audit of the Treasurer's office were:

1—Decision of Controller Kerr to extend the audit now in progress to all city departments handling public funds, following a conference at which Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, L. M. Johnston, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, and Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, of the League of Women Voters, were present.

2—Finance Committee of Board of Education recommends that City Treasurer's bond be increased from $50,000 to $250,000.

3.—District Attorney A. T. Park announced that no grand jury action regarding Schooley would be taken until after the audit of his office is completed.

Announcement of the extension of the probe followed immediately upon the heels of Mayor Kline's dismissal of Schooley and

MISS NORMA CUPPS

BLAST WRECKS STORE, 2 HURT

Two persons were injured early today as a gas explosion wrecked the one-story building housing a branch office of the Lights Dry Cleaning Company, 4607 Butler street.

The blast, firemen said, occurred as Norma Cupps, 20, of 431 Lincoln avenue, lighted a heater soon after opening the store.

Miss Cupps had bent down to light the stove and the force of the explosion passed above her. She suffered only slight burns and shock.

John Wlodarski, 52, of 174 Forty-sixth street, pedestrian, was burned severely as the flames belched from the store front and was bruised when the force of the blast hurled him into the street.

Both victims were taken to St. Francis Hospital. Miss Cupps was released after treatment of her minor injuries.

BULLETIN.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Maj. James H. Doolittle, attempting a dawn-to-dusk flight from Ottawa, Ont., to Mexico City via Washington, D. C., landed here at 1:10 p. m. (C. S. T.) today.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Maj. "Jimmie" Doolittle, attempting a dawn-to-dusk flight from Ottawa, Can., to Mexico City, hopped off for Corpus Christi, Tex., at 9:36 a. m. today.

Doolittle brought his speedy biplane down here at 9:29 a. m. He negotiated the second leg of his flight from Washington in three hours and two minutes, averaging 220 miles an hour. He hopped off from Ottawa at 4:40 a. m.

Doolittle did not leave the plane or shut off his motor as he refueled. He climbed out on the upper wing, directed the refueling in which the ship took on 100 gallons of gasoline and three and one-half gallons of oil, climbed back in the inclosed cockpit, gave the ship the gun and took off at high speed, seven minutes after landing.

GIRL HELD IN STUDENT ROBBERY

WIFE SOUGHT IN 2 TRUNK MURDERS

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Frail, tubercular Mrs. Winifred Ruth Judd, 27-year-old doctor's wife, fleeing in terror after assertedly committing an astonishing double murder of two other young women and cramming their dismembered bodies into two trunks, was the object today of the most intensive Pacific Coast hunt since the pursuit of William Edward (The Fox) Hickman, boy killer of a little Los Angeles girl.

The victims, whose hacked bodies were found in two dripping trunks and a suitcase in the Southern Pacific Railroad baggage room here late yesterday, were:

Agnes Leroi, 35, brunette, graduate nurse, formerly of Portland, Ore.

QUARREL OVER CAT

They were killed late Saturday night or early Sunday morning in Phoenix, Ariz., in an apartment where the three women had lived together.

As officers of Arizona and California and special detectives of the Southern Pacific followed trails of Mrs. Judd through the two states, veteran homicide experts of the Los Angeles Police Department sought an explanation of the crime in sex psychology and traced the motive to a trivial quarrel, originating over a pet cat.

Mellon Bank Fraud Suspect Returned

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Joy Palmer Harper, charged with a $100,000 to $500,000 swindle, was returned to Detroit today from Mexico City.

Harper is specifically charged with obtaining $20,000 in check forgeries, based on the confession of John Buford Gest, who said he and Harper counterfeited travelers' checks on the Mellon National Bank, of Pittsburgh.

Rifles Pocket of $55 At Bedside of Owner

Swissvale police today are searching for a burglar who early this morning crawled through an alley window into the home of Mark C. Eagleson, a street car conductor, 7818 Edgewood avenue. After ransacking the downstairs of the home, he stole $55 from Eagleson's trousers, which were hanging on the back of a chair near his bed.

Attack by Bull Fatal to Farmer

Joseph L. Catherwood, 63, farmer of near Culmerville, is dead in his home today, the result of being attacked by an enraged bull October 3. When the bull charged, Catherwood was hurled against a fence and was crushed about the chest. The bull, which had been dehorned, butted Catherwood several times before it was driven off.

FINDING PUPILS' STOLEN BANK BOOKS

HARRY STROUP — MARION UPDEGRAFF, 9 — WILLIAM JOYCE

Miss Marion, 425 Winton street, the missing Allen School pupil found with the 14-year-old girl held for "collecting" school bank savings of more than 40 small pupils, showing radio car patrolmen where the bank books, without their tiny sums of pupils' money, had been hidden.

40 PUPILS' SAVINGS TAKEN

14-Year-Old Suspect Seized As 'Fake' Collector; Missing Child Is Found

A 14-year-old girl who, police say, assumed the role of a bank collector and victimized more than 40 pupils of the Allen School of their savings, was taken into custody shortly before noon today, a few hours after she had obtained the money and disappeared with one of the pupils. The pupil, Marion "Brownie" Updegraff, nine, of 425 Winton street, was found with the pseudo collector.

A radio-equipped scout car manned by Patrolman Harry Stroup and William Joyce found the pair in Bailey avenue, near the Castle Shannon incline. They took them to the Allen School where, police say, pupils identified the suspect as the girl who had stopped them and took their savings. The Updegraff girl returned to her classes. Police are holding the suspect. Because of her youth the Sun-Telegraph will not publish her name.

Police received the report of the "fake" collector shortly after school opened today. They learned that about 40 children had lost small amounts of change and that the Updegraff girl was missing.

Sarah Jane Updegraff, 5, sister of Marion, told police that her sister has been taken away by the collector. Police are seeking to ascertain whether their youthful prisoner had victimized pupils at other Hilltop schools.

The prisoner told police that she had thrown away the bank books and spent the money. She said the loot amounted to about $2 and that it had been spent for a new purse.

Bank Teller, Bandit Killed in Robbery

MENOMINEE, Wis., Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Search of the countryside for a band of bank robbers was intensified this afternoon when it was learned they had killed James Kraft, kidnaped teller of the Menominee State Bank, after escaping with $7,000.

One of the five robbers also was killed by a pursuing posse in 50 automobiles and his body thrown from the desperadoes' car, 15 miles outside of this city. It was also believed a second of the five bandits had been wounded.

Suspect in Murder Shuns Jail Escape

RENO, Nev., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Carl Pierre Andre, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, of Fairmont, W. Va., had an opportunity to escape along with four prisoners from the Washoe County Jail early Sunday, but chose to remain incarcerated, officials disclosed today.

Rites of Methodist Church for Edison

MAYOR FIXES EDISON TRIBUTE

In a proclamation issued today, Mayor Charles H. Kline called upon the residents of Pittsburgh to revere the memory of Thomas A. Edison by observing a period of darkness tonight. The Mayor said:

"I feel that the people of Pittsburgh could well show their esteem and reverence for the greatest inventor of the age, Thomas Alva Edison, by uniting in a period of darkness at 10 o'clock tonight.

"I ask that all residents of the city at that hour tonight turn off their electric lights for a period of one minute."

The proclamation issued by the Mayor is in keeping with the telegram sent to President Hoover by William Randolph Hearst, Jr., of New York, who requested the President to issue a similar proclamation to be observed throughout the nation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Mayor Walker was expected to issue a proclamation today asking the city to pay tribute to Thomas A. Edison by turning out all lights and ceasing all activities at 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

Acting Gov. Wolber, of New Jersey, was to issue a similar appeal.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 20.—Thomas A. Edison, who was so conservative in his religious belief that he would not go beyond admitting that there is a supreme intelligence, will be buried with Methodist Episcopal services.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 tomorrow from Glenmont, the inventor's home on top of the hill in Llewelyn Park. Interment will be in Rosedale Cemetery, a beautiful graveyard on the border line between Orange and West Orange. The Rev. Stephen J. Herben, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Maplewood, a little town two miles to the south of here, will conduct the funeral service.

It was through Mrs. Edison that the Rev. Arthur H. Brown, pastor of New York, who requested the

LIENS TIE UP AL'S PROPERTY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Orders have been issued by the Internal Revenue Bureau to place liens for back income taxes on the property of Al Capone, convicted Chicago gangster.

The liens will hold the property for a jeopardy assessment of $215,000 of income taxes, which the government maintains the gangster evaded. The order was sent to Chicago, where Capone's property will be attached, and from there will be transmitted to Miami, where the gang leader's palatial home will be placed under a lien.

While the action will prevent transfer of his Florida estate, he will be able to use it pending determination of the case if he escapes an immediate jail term when he is sentenced in Chicago the latter part of the week.

Carnegie Boy Grid Victim Fastened to Bed, Smiles

More X-ray pictures were to be taken in Mercy Hospital today of the neck and back of Charles Froelich, 17-year-old Carnegie High School left halfback, injured in a gridiron contest with Stowe Township High School at the latter's field Saturday.

Froelich was injured in the first three minutes of play, when he was kicked accidentally by an opposing player while dodging interference. Stunned, the youthful gridder arose quickly and played throughout the first half. Near the end of the half he failed to intercept a forward pass and it was then discovered that he was injured seriously.

"I hope there is nothing seriously wrong with the neck. My back hurts most. We were greatly outweighed by the other team yet we held them down to a pretty low score, I think. I hope I'm out of the hospital for the game with Mt. Lebanon on Halloween night."

Five other Carnegie players were hurt in the game and two of them, it was reported, were still receiving medical attention.

Froelich, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Froelich, lives at 614 Chestnut street, Carnegie.

MANCHURIA OPENS DRIVE FOR INDEPENDENCE FROM CHINA

JAPAN'S HAND DETECTED IN MOVEMENT

Briand's Geneva Proposal Seen as Possible Basis For Peace in Far East

Associated Press.

Launching of a virile movement for Manchurian independence from China was reported through Japanese sources today shortly after Japan had shown a more conciliatory attitude at Geneva, where the League of Nations discussed the Sino-Japanese controversy.

The independence move also followed Japan's withdrawal of objections to American participation in the Geneva discussions seeking to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute between China and Japan over the latter's occupation of Southern Manchuria.

Observers professed to see in various independence movements the hand of Japanese militarists and imperialists seeking Japanese domination of Manchuria without resorting to military force. The movement was headed by a Chinese general, however.

At Geneva Aristide Briand's "trader's proposal" for oriental peace was set forth as a possible basis for negotiations and both principals were represented as being more anxious than ever for an early settlement.

Japan's withdrawal of objection to American participation at Geneva encouraged Washington to look to the Far East for a settlement of its own difficulties. Japanese Ambassador Debuchi at Washington predicted that a few more days without hostilities would virtually assure peace.

China awaited a meeting at Shanghai of Nanking government representatives and officials of the insurgent Canton government, which was hailed as a possible means of politically uniting China so that she might face Japan with a solidarity.

N. KENSINGTON FIREMEN HALT REDS' MARCH

Paraders Scatter as Hose Is Trained on Mob at Bridge; Eight Arrested

The march of the unemployed through the Allegheny Valley, sponsored by the Communist party, came to an untimely end at the New Kensington Bridge last night when borough firemen met the marchers at the borough line with fire hose.

Police warned the marchers they would be drenched if they persisted in entering the town, and ordered them to disperse. The parade broke up after eight arrests were made.

Communist workers said the march was held in protest against the closing of the workers' meeting place in Third avenue, New Kensington. Several hours after it was broken up, the party held a meeting in the hall under police guard.

POLICE ON GUARD

No disorders were reported. Police armed with maces, tear gas bombs and guns, remained in the hall until after a half dozen speakers made demands for relief amid cheering of about 200 men and women.

About 30 persons took part in the parade, which formed in Verona and which proceeded through Oakmont, Cheswick and Springdale to the New Kensington Bridge.

Seven men and a woman, Edith Brown, alias Briscoe, 21, of 819 James street, arrested when they refused to leave the bridge, were sent to the Westmoreland County Jail for 10 days in default of a $10 fine on charges of vagrancy. Police confiscated scores of banners when the parade was broken up at the bridge.

DEPUTIES SENT FOR ACCUSED IN RIOT

22 Fail to Appear as Trial Following Fatal Wildwood Fracas Opens

Attachments were issued for 22 defendants who failed to appear as the trial of Thomas Myerscough, Communist party candidate for District Attorney, and 20 others indicted in the Wildwood mine strike riot last June 22 got under way today.

In the riot one man was killed and several wounded. A majority of the 43 defendants had been released on their own recognizance and when 22 failed to appear for trial Visiting Judge V. M. Culver, of Bradford County, sent deputies to round-up the absentees.

WOMAN APPEARS

Myerscough at the counsel table with Attorney Jacob Margolis, was backed by four rows of five defendants each, including one woman, Kitty Priselac. Assistant District Attorney Earl R. Jackson, with Sheriff's Attorney B. Robert Averbach prosecuted the case.

Jackson in opening the case reviewed incidents which led up to the issuance of an injunction against marches by miners. He said when the march started after two cars had been stoned and shots fired, Deputy Sheriff William Braun sought out Myerscough and asked if he knew of the injunction. He said Myerscough replied:

"To hell with the injunction."

Jackson further said that as Deputy Sheriff Herbert Reel started to restrain Kitty Priselac from throwing stones, miners shouted:

"Kill the deputies."

Then the shooting began on both sides.

TELLS OF AUTO ATTACK

Braun, in charge of the force at the mine, related the attack on autos bearing United Mine Workers, by representatives of the National Miners' Union and his conversation with Myerscough. He was followed by Deputy Reel, Deputy Elmer Brown, who testified he had fired two shots into the air and three into the crowd, said he arrested Myerscough in the cellar of a store at the scene of the riot.

Jackson did not mention that one man had been killed.

Those who appeared for trial in addition to Myerscough and the Priselac woman, were Joe Rosetti, Gus Ignozzi, Joe Bluey, John Testa, Anthony Chiplavich, Bill Chinoff, Fred Miller, Paul Brasnk, Joe Koncilja, John Sherwood, John Lackovin, Mike Federoff, James Prescelac, George Halich, Joe Soich, Robert Young, Charles Adamick, John Olrowski and Stanley Miklowski.

ELECTION PROBE REOPENED

The reopening of the grand jury probe of election irregularities was ordered today by Judge Frank P. Patterson on petition of District Attorney Andrew T. Park. The order will widen the investigation conducted by the September grand jury and will include phantom registration, distribution of tax receipts and other asserted irregularities at the primaries last month.

Judge Patterson announced that tomorrow he would charge the jury, putting it to work where the probing September jury left off.

In the District Attorney's petition, he points out that on September 18 and 20, petitions were presented asking investigation of alleged failure of some election boards to make returns as according to law and of certain irregularities in obtaining and distributing of tax receipts and of various other unlawful practices accompanying the primaries.

The October grand jury will be asked to continue the probe of above mentioned charges and also investigate the obtaining and distribution to individual tax receipts for the purpose of registration and other irregularities which are purported to have prevailed at the primaries.

COURT TRAVELS TO MELLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Because Secretary Mellon is wanted as a witness, the United States Customs Court will move from New York to Washington to hear a case next Thursday.

The suit was brought by the C. G. Flynn Leather Company, of Vermont, against the Treasury as a result of an order in 1922 barring the importation of Canadian leather under the anti-dumping law.

The court feels the Treasury chieftain could disregard a subpena issued by it in New York, but if it transfers its jurisdiction to Washington, he is bound to appear.

Treasury officials also expect to be summoned in the Russian and Austrian attacks on the anti-dumping order issued last year against Russian matches and this year against Austrian matches.

REED OPPOSES BLANKET TAX

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Passage of a modified, rather than a blanket sales tax, was forecast today by Senator Reed, one of the principal proponents of this method of balancing the national budget.

Reed has heard much opposition to a blanket tax. In turn, he maintained a plan based entirely upon increased taxation of the wealthy would not balance the budget.

Revival of nuisance taxes was foreseen also by the Pennsylvania Republican.

1 DEAD, 12 HURT IN MINE CRASH

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 20—One man was killed and 12 were injured early today when a cage in which all but one of them were being lowered into the mine of the W. J. Rainey Coal Company, at Allison, after decending half way, suddenly plunged 150 feet to the bottom of the shaft.

Ervisto Musson, 45, was killed when a 400-pound counterweight struck him on the head. A. L. Nicholson, at the foot of the shaft was struck by flying iron suffering a probable fractured leg. The others were hurt as the cage hit bottom.

Taken to the Uniontown hospital were Abinadi Federer, 21, Steve Marfinecz, 41; William Tomey, Negro, 50; Andy Midlik, Joseph Sobodas and Nicholson.

Brought to the Brownsville General hospital were John Hate, 45, Thomas Bircheck, 48, Steve Gmetro, 45 and Albert Varda, 32, all suffering leg and foot injuries. Charles Phillips and Edward Landman were treated at the scene.

Legislator to Urge Sheriff Sale Ban

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Samuel G. Hartsock, Blair County Assemblyman, said that he will suggest, at the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, that sheriff sales of residences should be suspended as a relief aid to the unemployed. The special session, at which unemployment relief measures are to be considered, is to begin November 9.

Hartsock also plans to suggest that members of the State House of Representatives and the Senate devote their salaries for the special session to provide work for the unemployed, but not for charity agencies.

Reparations Rule Reversed by P. S. C.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Reversing the stand it previously had taken, the Public Service Commission yesterday held that all the consumers of a public utility company are entitled to reparations when a rate later found to be unreasonable has been collected.

The commission's order was made in the case of the Newville Water Company in which reparation payments were order to 120 consumers.

FIRE BURGOYNE FROM JOB

the swearing in of Thompson, veteran chief clerk in Schooley's office, as Treasurer, with Frank Swaney, Kline's secretary, the only witness as the Mayor administered the oath of office.

KLINE'S LETTER

Kline's letter to Council announcing the firing of Schooley read:

"I have this day removed from the office of City Treasurer of the City of Pittsburgh Mr. Roy D. Schooley for the reason that he was giving no information to the Controller in reference to the audit now being made of the City Treasurer's office and for the further development in reference to the bonds that were to be deposited to secure the funds of the city in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company."

Schooley's fall marks the end of a close political and personal friendship in which he has acted as constant advisor to the Mayor. He was made Treasurer on January 6, 1930.

Prosecuter Park late yesterday announced he had abandoned the contemplated immediate action by the grand jury in the Schooley case and that nothing would be done pending completion of the controller's audit.

CIVIC BODIES' PLEA

The city-wide audit has been urged by civic bodies since shortly after the beginning of the present probe of the treasury. There was some demand for it during the investigation of the Supplies Department, which resulted in the indictment of Kline and his then supplies director, Bertram L. Succop, but the first official recognition of the need came with Kerr's announcement yesterday.

Kerr stated the city's annual $9,000,000 cash payroll apparently needed investigation. Present methods, he said, leave too much opportunity for "padding" of the list. All payments should be made by check, Kerr said. Only about $3,000,000 of the annual $12,000,000 total payroll is by checks, records show.

Board Asks $250,000 Bond For City Treasurer

The recommendation that the City Treasurer be required to post $250,000 bond, instead of $50,000, was to be considered by the Board of Public Education at its meeting today. The recommendation was made by the board's committee on finance and administration last night. City Treasurer Thompson, will be elected school treasurer, succeeding the deposed Schooley.

None of the school's funds have been involved in transactions which led to the present audit of Schooley's office, J. Rogers McCreery, school board solicitor, said. It was indicated the committee would renew its demands that school funds be kept separate from those of the city.

21 Washington Mine Rioters Enter Workhouse

A mother and daughter and 19 men today were committed to the Allegheny County Workhouse following sentences imposed yesterday in Washington County on charges resulting from coal strike riots in Washington County during June and July. Leo Thompson, 22, alleged leader in the riot at Canonsburg last July 19, was sentenced to two years by Judge Erwin Cummins.

Convicted on charges resulting in the same riot were Stella Rasefaske, 18, of Meadowlands, sentenced two years and her mother, Anna Rasefaske, 18 months. Convicted of being the leader of a march on Ellsworth mine June 8, Adam Getto, of Bentleyville, was given a two-year sentence.

The others received sentences ranging from four months to a year and six months.

2 Women Kidnaped By Gypsies, Kin Says

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—John Butch, Trenton, N. J., today asked Columbus police to aid in a hunt for a band of gypsies who, he charged, robbed him of $335 and a pistol, kidnaped his mother and a 14-year-old sister, and left one of their women at his home.

Butch told police he followed the gypsies across the country to Newark, O., where he sought police aid.

Ohio Girl, 18, Shot, Suspect Arrested

Woman Recluse Regaining Sight Under New Diet

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A diet of tomatoes and chicken instead of evaporated milk and bacon has so improved the health of Mrs. Ida E. Wood, 93-year-old recluse, who hid $1,000,000 in cash and jewels in her hotel bedroom until they were taken from her forcibly for safe keeping, that she is slowly regaining her vision.

Half blind, her legs and feet swollen, her arms spattered with blue blotches caused by improper nourishment, Mrs. Wood was in a dangerously run down condition when her nephew, Otis F. Wood, an antiquarian, was appointed her legal guardian two weeks ago today.

With a fortune in currency sewed into her clothing, she had persisted in ordering little cans of milk and sale-priced bacon to be cooked on a tiny electric stove, rather than pay for a regular meal, according to Wood.

Wood had her moved from her cluttered fifth floor suite at the Herald Square Hotel, deposited her wealth in a bank and put her in the care of a physician and two nurses who prescribed a normal, healthy diet. The diminutive old lady, whose iron will was famous even in the days when she was a beautiful young lady and danced with the Prince of Wales, refused to eat at first. But roast chicken sends out delectable odors and her sense of smell was perfect.

Gandhi Holds London Meet Hopeless, Waste of Time

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Mahatma Gandhi, who has indicated on several occasions that he is deeply disappointed with the lack of progress by the Indian round table conference, has made reservations to return to Bombay next month.

England, he said today, is no more prepared to grant the demands of the Indian Nationalists now than when he left Bombay, and he professed to see no hope that Great Britain's attitude would change. In the absence of any assurance as to what the government intends to do, he said, he feels he is wasting his time here.

Other delegates to the conference, discouraged by their failure to settle the Hindu-Moslem communal problem, also are planning to go home within a few weeks.

LAVAL STATEROOM GUARDED AFTER GEM THEFT ON LINER

SOCIETY WOMAN LOSES $50,000 JEWELS

French Officials Bound for U. S. Given Protection; Crooks Sought on Vessel

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE
International News Service.

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, Oct. 20.—A $50,000 jewel theft was under investigation today aboard the French liner Ile De France, en route from Le Havre to New York.

The victim was a wealthy American society woman, Mrs. R. J. Anderton, of Newport, R. I., whose stateroom was entered while she was in the dining salon.

The ship's officers prevented news of the theft from becoming generally known among the passengers, but special precautions were taken to guard staterooms of Premier Pierre Laval and other French government officials, who are traveling on the Ile De France en route to Washington.

The officers said they believed the jewels were taken by members of an international gang of jewel thieves who trailed Mr. and Mrs. Anderton from the time they left New York on the Bremen, August 21, until they boarded the Ile De France at Le Havre.

Search of the ship was started under orders of the captain. The ship's officers have asked the New York police department to aid them when the ship reaches quarantine at New York.

Mrs. Anderton said:

"I was gone from the stateroom only 45 minutes. I had placed the jewels in an unlocked drawer of a dressing table with $100 in American money, which was also stolen.

"When I went to the dining salon, I left the door of the stateroom unlocked, and returned to find the dressing table had been rifled.

"The jewels included a 13-karat solitaire diamond ring, diamond earrings, a five-karat square cut diamond ring, a bracelet with 200 baguet diamonds and two diamond pins."

Allan Hoover Begins Work As Bank Clerk

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Allan Hoover, second son of President Hoover, has begun work as a clerk in a branch of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles.

Officials said he was "placed in a low clerical position that he may learn the banking profession by actual experience in all departments."

Young Hoover was graduated from Stanford University in 1929 and from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration last June. This is his first job since he left school.

As he emerged from the bank yesterday, the President's son said:

"It is going to be splendid."

He denied that his taking a job here has any domestic significance. He said:

"I'm not even engaged."

GEAR INVENTOR IN SUICIDE PACT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Joseph Bijur, founder and president of the Bijur Lubricating Corporation, and his wife, Alice, were found dead yesterday in the company's plant in Long Island City.

Police said they had shot and killed themselves by agreement. Ill health was given as the probable cause.

Bijur was the inventor of a gear system which made possible a self-starting and electric lighting system for automobiles. He held some 200 patents for his inventions, among which was a central lubricating system. He was 57 and his wife 56.

Their bodies were found slumped over two chairs placed back to back. Near each body was a pistol with one exploded shell.

Police said they probably killed themselves simultaneously, a bullet hole being found in the forehead of each.

PINCHOT'S VISIT TO WASHINGTON CAUSES STIR

Governor Calls on Western Senators Favoring Him As Presidential Candidate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, stirred political speculation here today by calling upon some of the western Republican independents who have suggested him for the presidency.

The Governor made the rounds of the Senate office building during a busy morning, calling upon Senators Brookhart, of Iowa; Frazier, of North Dakota, and Couzens, of Michigan. He also paid his respects at the offices of the two Pennsylvania Senators, Reed and Davis.

Senator Brookhart, who has mentioned Gov. Pinchot frequently as a presidential candidate on the Republican ticket in opposition to President Hoover, declined to comment upon the Pinchot conference.

Reminded that he was a sponsor of Pinchot for the presidency, Brookhart said with a smile:

"I certainly have not backed down."

Basel Bank Head Sees World Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, arrived in New York today on the Majestic. He said:

"The opportunities ahead of the bank are great, and its place in the world of finance is already firmly established."

New Castle Bank Absorbed in Merger

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 20.—The Union National Bank was absorbed today by the First National Bank of Lawrence County and the Citizens National Bank. All accounts in the absorbed bank will be handled by the First National, a statement from that bank said.

WEDDING RINGS IN ERLANGER SUIT SHOWN

Woman Seeking Share in Estate Says Showman Gave Gems as Love Seal

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Three wedding rings — two gem-encrusted, the other a chaste plain platinum hoop—graced her fingers, but she never was a bride.

This portrait of Charlotte Fixel, white-haired beauty, was etched in court where today her attempt to establish herself as the common-law wife of the late Abraham L. Erlanger, theatrical producer, was resumed.

If successful, Mrs. Fixel was to claim dower rights in the estate estimated variously at between $1,000,000 and $75,000,000.

One of the two rings Mrs. Fixel slipped from the third finger of her left hand and exhibited to Surrogate O'Brien was studded with precious stones.

A fanciful conceit of a love-tribute in the ring spelled out in gems was brought out by Mrs. Elizabeth Conger, Atlantic City, who added that when Mrs. Fixel showed her the ring in 1924, she quoted Erlanger as having said:

"Now we are doubly married."

Mrs. Fixel contended all three rings were given her by "The Little Napoleon of Broadway," as Erlanger was known.

Hitch-Hiker Perishes In Desert He Defied

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The desert has claimed the life of John W. Henry, 69, of Chariton, Iowa, who defied its dangers as a hitch-hiker on several trips between his home and California in the last eight years.

Henry died of thirst, Coroner Ben F. White announced today a body found in an isolated region October 5 had been identified as that of the Iowan.

Pangborn Raps Rumor Lindy Wouldn't Aid

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The trans-Pacific fliers, Clyde E. Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., today spiked a rumor that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had made no move to aid them during their difficulties in Japan.

Pangborn, an old friend of Lindbergh's, said that far from "high-hatting" them, the famous flier aided them in every way possible. He added:

"Right after we arrived in Tokio he invited us to visit him. When doubt arose as to our ability and our plane's fitness, he issued a strong favorable statement. One Tokio newspaper carried a banner line on his statement. Then, when he was leaving, he stopped at our hotel to say goodby and wish us luck."

The airmen disclosed that the camera the government accused them of using to take pictures of military fortifications was only an amateur model owned by the Herndon family. They praised the hospitality of the Japanese people.

VOTE ROWDYISM STIRS LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—King George will return to Buckingham Palace from Sandringham, Norfolkshire, on Monday to be in London during the general elections on October 27, it was announced today.

Unless the temper of the people undergoes a change, the monarch will find the capital torn by political dissension and submerged in a wave of rowdyism that has swept over the entire country.

Hardly an election meeting has been held in the last few days that has not broken up in disorder. Alistair MacDonald, son of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, was howled down last night at Tilbury, while a meeting staged by Sir Oswald Mosley in behalf of his new party at Glasgow was broken up in disorder.

NAVY ACCEPTS AKRON, ORDERS SISTER SHIP

Construction of New Craft To Begin When First Ship Leaves for Lakehurst

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Secretary Adams today authorized construction of the airship ZRS-5 and ordered that the Akron be accepted.

Adams notified Rear Admiral George C. Day at Akron to accept the airship Akron tomorrow as soon as necessary work is completed and the ship starts from the hangar for her base at Lakehurst, N. J.

At the same time, Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, dispatched orders to Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosendahl to deliver the airship at her base as soon as weather and other conditions permit.

The ZRS-5, sister ship of the Akron, is to be placed in construction immediately at the Goodyear Zeppelin Company's Akron plant.

The ZRS-5 will cost the navy $2,450,000 and is to be delivered within 15 months after the Akron's departure from the construction hangar. The latter ship cost the Navy almost twice as much, in view of the necessity of providing construction facilities for aircraft of a size and type never before built in the United States.

Canada Halts Flow Of Gold to U. S.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—The outward flow of gold across the Canadian border into the United States was at a standstill today, following passage of an order-in-council prohibiting exportation of the precious metal except by governmental agencies or by special license. Conscription of the Canadian gold supply for payment of obligations abroad which the Dominion and certain provinces and municipalities have contracted to meet in gold is the purpose of the government's action, which was announced by Prime Minister Richard Bedford Bennett.

Tomb Slab Rejected Because of Tiny Flaw

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—One little flaw revealed by a magnifying glass has caused the rejection of a 10-ton block of marble for the Unknown Soldier's tomb.

Brig. Gen. Louis Bash, assistant quartermaster general of the Army, disclosed that such is the perfection standard for the memorial and ordered the replacement of the slab, on which will rest a 50-ton, carved block of marble.

Society Woman in Debut as Playwright

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Thetta Quay Franks, author-wife of Robert A. Franks, New York financier, made her debut as a playwight here when her play, "Too Much Money," had its world premiere at the Hartman Theater. The play is a mystery drama. Mr. and Mrs. Franks, residents of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J., are prominent in Eastern social circles.

Turkish Women Must Forego Paris Gowns

ISTANBUL, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The women of Turkey's officialdom must turn their eyes from the mode of Paris and buy their gowns at home, the cabinet decided today.

The edict against foreign raiment applies even to President Mustapha Kemal, who must forego his London tailor's services. It's all part of a national economy program.

N. Y. Bank Heads Plead Not Guilty

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Eight indicted directors of the closed Bank of United States, personally or through their attorneys, pleaded not guilty today in General Sessions. Bail for those not previously indicted was fixed at $1,000 by Judge Collins. The directors are charged with negligently participating in a fraudulent insolvency.

Many Pittsburghers plan to attend the annual convention of the Brotherhood of the Pittsburgh synod of the Lutheran Church Thursday in Leechburg. H. E. Isenhour, Salisbury, N. C., president of the Brotherhood of the United Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Dr. J. W. Kapp, of Cincinnati, will be principal speakers.

Crippled Ship Being Towed to Panama

PANAMA CITY, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Radio messages received yesterday said the steamship Witell was being towed back to Panama City after breaking a propeller shaft October 11 in the vicinity of St. Thomas, Dutch West Indies, and drifting helplessly for days. The ship left here October 8 for Hamburg, Germany.

Clothes for Needy Only Fee In Park Golf Contest

Golf for the poor; golf for the rich! It's all the same this week at South Park, where the needy are deriving real benefits out of the sport of the man of leisure.

It is the "helping hand" tournament—two ball, mixed foursome play; best ball to count for low score. Anybody can play if he has the greens fee.

And the greens fee consists of anything in the way of clothing, cast-offs, which are being collected for the needy. Anything from a discarded pair of pajamas to an overcoat is acceptable and the boys who are running this novel golf tournament—Al McBride, golf professional; Jack Burke, city manager of the county park office, and James Comoroda, caddy master—are doing a worth-while job.

The tournament got under way yesterday with a goodly assortment of men's, women's and children's apparel. A committee of women headed by Mrs. John J. O'Rourke, wife of the Horning justice of peace, is in charge of the distribution of donations. Play will continue all week, the tournament ending Saturday afternoon.

Kyne's Race Horses Lose To War Debt Collector

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—A 13-year-old debt overtook the race horses of Peter B. Kyne, the author, yesterday at Hawthorne track—and the nags are not so slow either.

They were just bounding up the runway into a railroad car to leave the track when a deputy sheriff and attorney representing R. G. Sherman sprinted up. Sherman's story was that Kyne, then a captain in the army, suddenly needed 5,000 francs after the armistice in Bordeaux and that he advanced the sum on an I. O. U. payable when Kyne arrived home. Sherman said:

"Ever since then I've been trying to catch up with him."

Yesterday he learned the horses were here and swore out a writ of attachment.

The race between the deputy and attorney on one side and the horses then got under way—though the horses didn't know it—and his entries rewarded Sherman with $853, the amount of the debt. Kyne, in New York, ordered the money advanced to release his ponies.

Suicide Effort to Please Wife Bared at Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Roy Schuster, a dancing instructor, once attempted suicide "to please" his wife, with whose murder he is charged, his mother, Mrs. C. H. Schuster, of Superior, Wis., testified at his trial.

She told of a visit to the Schusters' home here in July, 1930. She said she went out one day to buy some ice cream and returned to find the front door locked.

When a janitor opened it for her, she saw Roy in the kitchen with his head in an oven in which the gas jets were open. After he was revived, his mother testified, he told his wife:

"Sweetheart, I love you. I am doing this to please you."

A few days earlier, Mrs. Schuster testified, her son's wife threw a plate of rolls and a bottle of milk at him. She quoted the wife as saying:

"Mother Schuster, I know Roy better than you do. I know if I make a lot of trouble, Roy will kill himself."

Schuster is charged with shooting his wife fatally in the office of her attorney, Samuel Siegel, on May 2 last.

His wife had threatened to have him sent to jail for failure to pay alimony while her suit for divorce was pending.

Mrs. Florence Hoover, of Chicago, Roy's sister, testified he changed the beneficiary of a $10,000 life insurance policy from the name of his wife to that of Mrs. Hoover.

HISTORIC FETE CLOSES AT YORKTOWN

Again Quiet Hamlet After Restaging of Stirring Scenes of Revolution

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The Yorktown susqui-centennial anniversary celebration today passed into history that records the event which it refreshed in the memory of the nation.

Four days devoted to a gigantic celebration designed to recall those stirring times of 150 years ago at Yorktown came to their end yesterday in the presence of President Hoover who delivered the address of the occasion and witnessed The Masque of Yorktown depicting the surrender of Cornwallis to Washington and the French allies on the heights of the town October 19, 1781.

VISITORS LEAVE

Besides the President other persons prominent in this nation and abroad came to see this place which still proudly bears the scars of the momentous battle that assured America's independence, ended a revolution, secured the life of a nation destined to be great, and begot an era of representative government.

Today most of the visitors had gone, most of the vessels that dotted the historic York River had weighed anchor, and the town again was assuming the quiet existence of a Virginia hamlet.

As permanent reminders of the celebration walls of historic buildings in the town bore the memorials dedicated on this occasion to Lord Cornwallis and the regard which Virginia feels for the mother country to the Baron De Gallatin, honored for his services under Rochambeau, and to the American and French soldiers who lost their lives in the Yorktown campaign.

City of Annapolis Shuns Reception for President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—President Hoover returned to the White House today, obviously refreshed from his journey to Yorktown to participate in the sesquicentennial celebration.

On his return trip the President received a rousing welcome from the Annapolis midshipmen, but the City of Annapolis as such did not participate.

More than 2,000 Annapolis citizens made up the crowd assembled about the academy, but when Adm. Thomas C. Hart, commandant of the Naval Academy, called for Mayor Walter Quenstedt just before the arrival of the President, he was informed the Annapolis executive was not present.

Quenstedt yesterday wrote to President Hoover protesting the failure of the chief executive to recognize an official welcoming party from Annapolis as Mr. Hoover traveled to that city to board the ship last Saturday.

The incident was explained at the White House today as merely a misunderstanding.

4 Arrested in March Of Textile Strikers

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Four arrests were made today in the textile strike here as a great majority of the 72,000 striking operatives continued in their refusal to return to work under a 10 per cent wage cut.

At one mill a group of children augmented the strikers picket lines, singing songs and calling words of encouragement to the other marchers.

M. E. SERVICES FOR EDISON

morning a series of three short prayers a day, at 8 in the morning, at noon and at sundown, which continued through today. The next service will be those with which the dead wizard is consigned to the dust.

TRIBUTE BY PASTOR

In his prayer at sundown last night, the Rev. Mr. Brown quoted from the book of Ecclesiastes in which Jehovah painted the glory of the heavens.

The clergyman, looking down at the still form of Edison in his bronze casket, continued:

"This man was also touched with the spirit of Jehovah.

"He stands out from among us for his love of truth, for his patient persistence, for his humility before the great facts of life, for his eagerness to be of benefit to the rest of mankind. In him were all the elements that go to make the man of God."

Outside the crowd wound slowly to the building which housed the remains of the inventor. Ten thousand people passed the bier, came and paused for a second for a last look at him.

MESSAGES POUR IN

All through the day telegrams and cablegrams and wireless messages poured into the home in Llewelyn Park and into the office at the factory. Messages came from the Pope and from Mussolini and from the French ambassador at Washington and from thousands of others of the world's great.

Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, the two cronies of Edison, probably will arrive in West Orange before nightfall.

President Hoover, it was expected, will arrive tomorrow, some time shortly after noon. He will stay just long enough to attend the services and then depart for the capital, it was understood.

BRISBANE PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO EDISON

Editor, Memorial Speaker, Points to Inventor's Gift of Light to World

Universal Service

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 20.—Arthur Brisbane, noted editor, paid glowing tribute to Thomas A. Edison in a radio address from Station WOR last night, as part of an Edison memorial service. Mr. Brisbane said:

"It is a great honor to be asked to speak at a memorial service for Thomas A. Edison. It is impossible to praise him. The greatness and beauty of his character cannot be estimated or described by his inferiors. And he has no equal living.

"With him gone it is as though the greatest peak had suddenly been taken from a mountain range, but his spirit, his genius, his ideas, and his great inventions remain. They continue his work and will do so as long as men remain on this earth.

MADE MILLIONAIRES

"Edison died comparatively poor, leaving dozens of millionaires who owe their wealth to his genius, and billions in securities based on his work.

"He created the electrical industry of the United States and of the world.

"At this moment there are employed in electrical enterprises 800,000 Americans; their combined earnings are in excess of $1,000,000,000 a year. They owe employment and pay to Thomas A. Edison.

GIFT OF LIGHT

"But, great as it was, his practical work was not his greatest work. Before Edison was born an Italian had said, 'Give light and the people will find their way.'

"Edison gave light, light to the cities, and light to the mind. Every student works by the light that he supplied, darkness is conquered by it, the sun sets and night falls without interrupting man's activity, thanks to Edison.

"He gave light by hard work in his laboratory, by painstaking invention. He had shed light in his life, setting a good example, lighting the path of true ambition, which leads to service for mankind.

ONLY BODY WEAKENED

"Henry Ford, his intimate and devoted friend, has said that Edison in late years was 'like a young man driving an old automobile.' The spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak. It was weakness of the aged body, not of the noble mind. His spirit at the last shone out more clearly than ever."

"When he was a little boy of 10 his teachers said he was absent-minded, thought him dull. He was always thinking, and his intense thought making him oblivious of outside matters, was mistaken for dullness. That should be remembered by the fathers of overthoughtful little boys.

"Edison's greatest discovery was reserved for his last day. As death approached, he lay in a deep sleep. Who knows what wonders he saw in that sleep? His last words as he stirred uneasily just before death were: 'It is very beautiful over there.'

Gold Standard Aids Mills in England

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Increased activity is reported in many Lancaster and Yorkshire cotton mills as a result of an influx of orders since the gold standard was suspended. Mills in which the spindles had long been silent are now humming with activity executing rush orders, while the nearby Yorkshire district cotton doubling mills are working overtime.

'Orange Rose' Grown For Rochester Fete

ROCHESTER, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—You can have a new rose in your garden in 1933—something very new in roses; sort of a gold and copper combination blending into orange.

The new bloom, grown by J. H. Nichols, and named the "Rochester Rose," will have its coming out party in the rose bowl here next summer.

Heinz Co. Official Home from Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Royal E. Cook, foreign export manager of H. J. Heinz Company, and Mrs. Cook, of Wilkinsburg, arrived here late yesterday on the Carinthia. The Cooks have been abroad for several weeks, visiting in the British Isles and Europe.

Another passenger was Miss Martha E. Wallace, of Mt. Oliver, who spent the summer on the continent.

Garage Gas Poisons Feed Store Owner

Benjamin Golomb, 39, of 5925 Phillips avenue, Squirrel Hill, is in a serious condition in Braddock General Hospital today, a victim of carbon monoxide gas from an automobile motor. Golomb, owner of the Braddock Feed and Supply Company, at 910 Wood street, Braddock, was found unconscious in the company garage by employes who broke into the structure.

Racketeer Slain, Girl Held in Quiz

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Benny Mintz, 28, who police said was an East Side racketeer, was shot and killed in a Brooklyn speakeasy by two men who made their escape.

Mintz was sitting at a table with a young woman when the men called him aside. As he approached them, they shot him. The woman was taken to headquarters for questioning.

PASTOR JILTED, SEEKS BALM

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—The unhappy love of the Rev. Benjamin J. Chudacek, a former Czecho-Slovakian priest, for Betty Randolph, a former show girl and three times a divorcee, had been laid bare today.

Chudacek is seeking $50,000 damages from Miss Randolph. He told his story as a witness in the court of Supreme Court Justice Untermeyer. He resigned his pastorate in Johnstown, N. Y., in order to marry Miss Randolph but she refused him. His Czecho-Slovakian church there was independent and was founded by him.

He described himself as a great writer of love letters, and then squirmed as defense counsel branded him a "male flirt."

LONE BURGLAR LOOTS HOME

Dormont police today were seeking a lone burglar who looted two homes and attempted to rob a third yesterday.

Apparently waiting until the women in each of the houses had left for town, Chief of Police Ralph Miller said, the burglar cut his way through glass panel of the front door at one home and forced a rear transom in another. He had cut the glass of the front door to the third home, that of Rose E. Wentz, 1145 Tennessee avenue, when frightened away, Miller said.

The home of Coulter W. Steeb, 1205 Tennessee avenue, and that of Isadore Marmorstein, 1241 Mississippi avenue were the places visited.

EIGHT STATES AT COAL PARLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Charles E. Bochus, president of the National Coal Association, said today a conference of coal operators from eight mining states would be held in New York tomorrow "to consider the condition of the coal industry." He said:

"The meeting was requested by the West Virginia operators, after they had been in conference with the Governor of that state. Thus far no definite program or plan has been advanced for the session.

"There probably will be from 50 to 100 operators at the meeting. They are going to see if they can find something to improve conditions in the industry. I suppose a score of plans will be offered."

LOTTERY CARDS SEIZED, 2 HELD

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 20.—Three thousand lottery tickets, said to have been issued from a McKeesport headquarters, and $100 of alleged payoff money were seized today by Corp. W. G. McKee, of the State Highway Patrol, and turned over to County Detective A. A. Downing.

Charles Trimmer, 26, of McKeesport, and Roy Richardson, 20, of Morgantown, W. Va., en route to distributing points, were arrested near Smithfield, nine miles south of Uniontown.

McKee's suspicion was aroused when the two men became frightened as he stopped their machine for inspection of brakes and lights. Both are being held, while officers are preparing a dragnet for agents of the pool.

Harbor Congress To Consider Bills

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Whether another rivers and harbors improvement bill should be urged for passage by the next Congress will be considered at the annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress here December 8 and 9. The last Congress authorized expenditure of between $350,000,000 and $400,000,000 for these improvements.

LINK PHYSICIAN, WIFE IN TRUNK MURDERS

in the investigation said he could not see how his invalid wife could have developed sufficient strength to commit the crime unaided.

Questioned at police headquarters following his arrest within a few hours after the grim contents of the two trunks were revealed at the Southern Pacific station, Dr. Judd disclaimed all knowledge of the murders. He said:

"Ruth must have had an accomplice if she committeed those murders.

"I can't imagine how she, weighing only 100 pounds and ill—she suffers from tuberculosis—could have crammed those bodies into the trunks.

"I had several letters from my wife that indicate she was quarreling frequently with the other two women, before she finally moved away from the duplex bungalow.

"She wrote me on one occasion that Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson had taken a couple of men to the place and that there had been drinking."

E. J. McKinnell, 22-year-old University of Southern California student, admitted, according to police, his sister had made a secret appointment with him yesterday in an effort to get him to dispose of the trunks by "throwing them into the Pacific Ocean."

BALKED BY BAGGAGEMAN

McKinnell assented to his sister's proposal, according to police, knowing the trunks contained bodies, but was prevented by a suspicious baggageman from taking the trunks.

The baggageman, Andrew B. Anderson, saw blood oozing from both trunks when they were called for by a woman and a man, he said, and refused to release them. He believed, he said, that the trunks contained venison killed out of season. While he was summoning railroad police the woman and young man disappeared.

Questioned by police, Mrs. Judd's brother said:

"I asked sis what was in the trunks and she said 'bodies.'

"She refused to give me details, saying I had better keep out of it.

"When the baggage man refused to give us the trunks, Ruth said 'I am going to get out.'

TRAIN SEARCHED

Police, interrogating McKinnell, failed to shake his declaration that that was the last he saw or heard of his sister.

Early today Southern Pacific officers were convinced that Mrs. Judd was aboard the Golden State Limited, which passed through Phoenix en route east from Los Angeles at 7:30 o'clock.

When Sheriff J. W. McFadden and Chief of Police George O. Brisbois, of Phoenix, and other officers boarded the train, however, they found no one answering Mrs. Judd description.

SAID TRUNKS HELD BOOKS

Suspicion first fastened on Mrs. Judd when H. U. Grimm, a Phoenix baggageman, said he helped her carry two "lens-like" trunks to the railroad station in Phoenix Sunday afternoon. He told officers:

"She said they were books—that's what made 'em so heavy."

VICTIMS SHOT

Late Saturday or early Sunday it appeared, Police Chief Brisbois said, Mrs. Judd went to the apartment and in a quarrel shot Miss Leroi through the temple and Miss Samuelson through the breast and abdomen. A third bullet struck Miss Samuelson in the face.

Brisbois said his reconstruction of the crime indicated that the body of Miss Leroi, who weighed 150 pounds, was packed into a large trunk. In the trunk were numerous photographs, mementoes and newspaper clippings, the property of the nurse.

Miss Samuelson's legs and the upper part of her body and head were packed in a small trunk, similar to an army locker. Her lower torso was crammed into a suitcase.

Mystery Man at Party Linked in Trunk Deaths

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 20.—(INS.)—A mysterious man who attended a gay party at the home of Mrs. Winifred Ruth Judd, suspected trunk murderess, last Thursday night, was sought today by police.

The mystery man attended a party at Mrs. Judd's rooms on East Brill street, in company with Miss Hedwig Samuelson and Miss Agnes Ann Leroi, police said. That it was a gay party was attested by neighbors, who said the man and Mrs. Judd had been seen "frolicking" in the courtyard.

BROUGHTON BOY BACK IN N. Y.

Chero was immediately arraigned on a first degree murder charge. Later in the day he was to be tried with William Chemnitzer for the slaying.

Chero's right leg was amputated above the knee as a result of a bullet wound suffered when he resisted arrest in McAllester, but despite this he was guarded closely by state troopers during his long journey.

Chero said he expected his parents to come here from Broughton. In Cleveland he received permission to send postcards to them.

KILLER SUSPECT SLAIN IN GUN BATTLE

Three Detectives Wounded In Raid; Two of Gangster Trio Escape Police Cordon

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Heavy battle casualties were listed today along the underworld war front—one ex-convict slain and three detectives seriously wounded.

The trio of detectives had gone into a rooming house on the upper West Side where they had trapped a gangster trio of killers. The detectives went in with their heads up. They came out out bullet-riddled on stretchers after exchanging shot for shot at barely more than punching distance.

WANTED FOR KILLING

Enrico Battaglia, 26, former convict, shot it out until he was killed. He was wanted for his part in the killing of Patrolman Jerry Brosnan in Fordham Hospital, two years ago. Brosnan, assigned to guard a wounded prisoner, was peppered with bullets as he dozed.

The wounded detectives in the hospital today are Edward Willi, James de Ferraro and Guido Pessagno. Pessagno, with five bullet wounds, was in a critical condition.

The two companions of the slain gunman leaped over the bodies of the dead and wounded and escaped over adjoining roofs despite a cordon of police, armed with machine guns and rifles, thrown around several blocks.

FOUND IN BED

In a house near the shooting, Bert Miller, 25, a circus salesman, of Irwin, Pa., was found in bed with his clothes on. He was held by police despite his protestations of innocence.

One of the two gunmen to escape was "Fats" McCarthy, a member of the beer gang of Vincent (Baby Face) Coll, under arrest on the charge of having killed one child and wounded four others during a machine gun foray on a crowded street. He was the only member of the Coll gang to get away when it was recently rounded up in a hotel.

REGALLS EARLY YORKTOWN FETE

Memories of the one-hundredth anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., returned to David W. McCleary, 75, as he went about his duties today in the Sun-Telegraph composing room, where he is a proofreader.

Recalling the fact that it was 50 years ago this week that he went to Yorktown for the celebration, Mr. McCleary said:

"I was a corporal then in the National Guard of Maryland. We embarked on the old Mason P. Weems, I remember, and went up the York River to Yorktown.

"Yorktown then was nothing but sand dunes. There were only six or seven houses there 50 years ago. The sand seemed to cover everything and I remember how the boys had to remove their shoes after a march to dump out the sand.

"President Arthur reviewed the troops that assembled there. Pennsylvania sent two regiments that year, and there were soldiers from almost every state west of the Mississippi."

Swanson's Condition Held Not Serious

Gangster Films Denied Prison Inmates

COMSTOCK, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Gangster movies will be denied the inmates of Great Meadow Prison here. The warden, in announcing that a new assembly hall was being equipped for motion pictures, said gangster films would be barred.

He favors western thrillers and comedies.

He does not think gangster films would do his charges any good, but he also thinks some of them would "laugh at the technique of the movie gangsters."

Matron Sues Widow As Mate 'Stealer'

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Mrs. Ella May Buffington, Washington Township widow, today faced a $5,000 alienation suit brought by Mrs. Ida C. Perviance.

Mr. and Mrs. Perviance have been married 27 years, and lived happily until last December, according to Mrs. Perviance, when her husband "was lost to her."

STATE PROBING GRAFT CHARGES

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Charges of grafting and extortion have been made against persons authorized to take affidavits in connection with the state's campaign to collect registration fees due from foreign corporations and business places violating the provisions of the fictitious names act, Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish said today.

He said the complaints have come from various sections of the state and have also included charges of extortion by officials in connection with the registration of firearms in enforcement of the provisions of the new firearms act.

Beamish said that a member of the House of Representatives asserted that certain officials are charging $5 for registrations which under the act only call for a 50-cent fee.

CHICAGO MOVIE STRIKE ENDS

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The two-month dispute between the Motion Picture Operators' Union and the owners of 104 small community moving picture houses ended in an agreement after public officials had threatened "drastic action" to halt a series of bombings, slugging and other terrorism.

After an all-day conference attended by Mayor Anton J. Cermak and State's Attorney John A. Swanson, officials announced that the warring groups had reached an accord on all disputed points, although several more days would be required to put the agreement into effect. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

Since the controversy started 16 bombings have taken place, including the explosion of an incendiary bomb in a crowded theater Friday night, seriously burning a man whom police suspect of having carried it into the place.

Phila. Bows to State, Buys Vote Machines

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—With but one day to spare, the County Commissioners yesterday acceded to the ultimatum of the state and authorized the purchase of 800 additional voting machines. Bids for the new machines will be opened November 6 and delivery has been set for early in March.

Gas Station Holdup Nets Robber $40

E. N. Kirkland, manager of a Standard Oil Company gasoline station at Hamilton avenue and Putnam street, was held up and robbed of $40 last night, according to a police report. The robber escaped in an automobile.

Injured by Trolley, Boy, 5, in Hospital

Suffering from a probable fractured skull, a back injury and lacerations received when he was struck by a Highland avenue street car, James Kelly, 5, of 6008 Kirkwood street, was in Pittsburgh Hospital in a serious condition today. The boy was struck while crossing Penn avenue, near Highland avenue. The motorman, John Kirby, was released on his own recognizance.

Monessen Man Fined $400 as Rum Seller

Here's Mrs. Bowman's recipe*

1 lb. of butter	1 cup coffee
1 lb. of brown sugar	½ cup grape juice
1 doz. eggs	2½ lbs. of seeded raisins
1¼ lbs. of flour	2 lbs. of not-a-seed raisins
1 teaspoon baking soda	2½ lbs. of currants
1 teaspoon baking powder	½ lb. citron
2 teaspoons cinnamon	½ lb. orange peel
1 teaspoon cloves	½ lb. candied cherries
2 teaspoons nutmeg	1 lb. of candied pineapple
2 teaspoons salt	1 lb. pecan meats

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and beat thoroughly. Add egg yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored. Sift flour (reserve one cup to dredge fruits with) together with salt, spices, baking soda and baking powder and add alternately with grape-juice and coffee (mixed together). Add fruits and nuts dredged with one cup of flour; add beaten egg whites. Put in tins lined with buttered paper and cover top with buttered paper tied securely in place. Steam for three hours, then bake 1½ hours in slow oven of about 300 degrees.

FIRST GUN FIRED IN M'GOVERN CAMPAIGN

Independent G. O. P. Leader Asks Mansfield's Attitude On Minority Board Place

Challenging Senator William D. Mansfield, candidate for County Commissioner, to declare his position on the minority commissionership, Commissioner Charles C. McGovern fired the opening guns of the Independent Republican campaign at a meeting yesterday at the Independent headquarters, 336 Fourth avenue. In addition to McGovern, C. M. Barr, Independent candidate for minority commissioner, and H. C. Workmaster, campaign chairman, were speakers. McGovern said:

"I have endeavored in every way to get Mansfield to help Barr, as Barr indorsed Mansfield in the primaries. I indorsed him. I thought it was no more than fair that he should indorse Barr. But he is reluctant. I don't know why."

McGovern predicted the abolishment of the county works department because of lack of funds. Barr said a recent financial investigation disclosed that Allegheny County has a floating debt of $12,348,497 against which no bonds have been issued nor any tax levy made.

Donald D. Mangone, president of the Roosevelt Civic Legion, will address an Independent meeting at the Oakmont Boat Club, near the Willows, tonight. McGovern and Barr are to address meetings in the Clairton High School auditorium and at Glassport tonight.

Lawrence, Coyne, Alpern Talk at Ehler's Grove

David L. Lawrence, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, and his chief supporter, State Senator James J. Coyne, received a royal welcome at a political rally in Ehlers Grove last night by the North Boroughs and Townships Independent League, but Louis Alpern, Liberal candidate, found himself being overlooked as the meeting drew to a close. W. D. Mansfield also spoke, but C. C. McGovern was not present.

According to C. V. Shoop, manager of Alpern's campaign, it had been given out that all County Commissioner candidates were to be present and speak. Although Alpern did not receive an invitation until last night at 6 o'clock, he attended and was prepared to speak. After the others had spoken, Frank Golmar, who presided, said:

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, it is almost 10 p. m. and as we are supposed to quit at 10 o'clock, we'll do so."

Alpern then demanded the opportunity to speak, but was not called to the platform until after a short conference among those in charge of the meeting. When Alpern mounted the platform he received much applause.

In his address Lawrence declared the new board of commissioners must adopt a policy of retrenchment. He said:

"Statisticians and economists are not needed to prove that all public expenses for 1932 must be slashed to the last mill. To those who are responsible for the preparation of budgets and the fixing of tax rates it must be obvious that the incomes of property owners have been seriously curtailed."

Senator Coyne scored McGovern as a dictator and after asking the Republican voters to support their two candidates, implored the independent voters to support Lawrence in the general election.

Alpern promised, if elected, to reduce taxes and put into effect a program of economy. Senator Mansfield made only a brief address in which he asked for support of the league for the Republican ticket.

Others who spoke were Arthur Bennett, of Richland Township; J. R. McKay, of Hampton Township, and E. F. Englehart, vice president of the league.

Campaign Offices Opened By G. O. P.

Republican Chairman James H. McClure yesterday opened headquarters of the regular Republican party in the William Penn Hotel.

Organizations taking part included the women's division, Mrs. Laura J. Hinnau is in charge of this group and is being assisted by Mrs. Lois Dowes McBride, member of the Allegheny County Bar. Senator William D. Mansfield, candidate for County Commissioner, held a number of conferences.

Two Bandits Routed With Milk Bottles

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—An aerial milk bottle attack didn't score many direct hits for Grocer Robert Zerr, but it saved $150. Two bandits tried to hold up Zerr and Richard Halfenstein, clerk. As Halfenstein was backed into a corner, Zerr threw eight bottles. One broke a door pane but two hit the men, who fled without loot.

"Flat" Furs

Featured in the October Sale of Coats

Eastern Mink, Jap Mink, Kolinsky, Beaver—those are the traditionally rich "flat" furs, with the best reputation for wearing qualities, so we are making much of them in the October Sale of Women's and Misses' Coats. . . . Because we have concentrated on these furs, more of them will be found here than elsewhere; and because Horne coats are famous for their fur trimmings, there will be no doubt about the quality and enduring beauty.

See how effective the deep, dark tones of these furs are with the new browns, greens, Spanish tile, and as a contrast to black, used in the luxurious, new manner on coats at

Pastor Dead

DR. THOMAS R. THOBURN

DR. THOBURN, EX-PASTOR, DIES

The Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Thoburn, 62, former pastor of the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, died in his home in Detroit, Mich., yesterday, it was learned here today. Dr. Thoburn left Pittsburgh five years ago to take up the pastorate of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church at Highland Park, a suburb of Detroit. He was succeeded here by the Rev. Dr. Albert Edward Day.

Born in Bellaire, O., Dr. Thoburn was educated at Mt. Union College and at the Boston Theological Seminary. Before coming to the Pittsburgh district he held pastorates at Warren, Oil City, and at Erie, Pa. He then came to the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church and from there to Christ Church, where he served for six years.

Dr. Thoburn was a member of several Masonic organizations, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Iron City Fishing Club of Pittsburgh. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Harriet Marsh Thoburn, two sons, Paul and Lyle Thoburn, of Cleveland, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Devine, of Cleveland, and Mrs. John A. Succop, of Pittsburgh, a brother, Joseph Thoburn, of Oklahoma City, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Currie, of New York.

Funeral services are to be held Thursday afternoon in Cleveland and burial will be in that city.

FIRST ROCKVIEW CHAPLAIN DIES

The Rev. Thomas W. Young, 89, Civil War veteran and first chaplain of Rockview Penitentiary, died early today in his home, 5849 Bartlett street.

He was a graduate of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., a former pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh and served as the penitentiary chaplain from 1916 to 1923. He was born in Ireland, but had been a resident of Western Pennsylvania since early childhood.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Anna Y. Epley and Isabel Young, and a granddaughter, Isabel Epley, all living in the Bartlett street home.

Funeral services will be held there at 11 a. m. Friday, followed by burial in the cemetery at Washington, Pa., at 2 p. m.

Man Hurt in Fall Fleeing From Police

JOB INSURANCE BACKED BY COUZENS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, is framing legislation for a national unemployment insurance system to be financed by state, federal, worker and employer contributions.

The plan would be compulsory and be administered by the individual states. Contributions would be on the following basis: State, 25 per cent. Federal, 25 per cent. Employer, 35 per cent, and employes, 15 per cent. The employer would be required to pay a larger share, Couzens declared, to prevent careless labor management.

An unusual feature of the plan calls for the payment of 70 per cent of the workers' wage during the first six months of unemployment. This high ratio, Couzens explained, was fixed to maintain the purchasing power of employes and thus aid in overcoming slack business conditions.

The special Senate committee studying unemployment insurance systems was asked today by Couzens to invite Eugene W. Lewis, of Detroit, president of the Morris plan banks, and author of a workless benefit scheme, to discuss the details of his plan. The committee resumes its hearings tomorrow when it will hear Walter J. Kohler, former Governor of Wisconsin, and Prof. Leo Wolman, of Columbia University.

Others who will testify before the committee are Mathew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and James Craig, chief actuary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED BY KOMIC CLUB

Enthusiasm Marks Rallies Held in Various Theaters; Chapters Elect Officers

Saturday's meetings brought several thousand new members into the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club. Each new member received a button and an enrollment card entitling the holder to attend all meetings of the club, to participate in the entertainment features and to compete for the prizes to be awarded.

The rally meeting at the Harris Theater, Diamond street, was attended by an overflow crowd of boys and girls from West End, South Side, Beltzhoover, Mt. Washington, Duquesne Heights and the Hill district. Addresses were made by Harry Marx, district manager of the Warner deluxe houses; William Pearce, manager of the Harris Theater, Diamond street, and a representative of the Sun-Telegraph.

PRIZES ANNOUNCED

Among the prizes to be later awarded at the Harris Theater are a number of magic maps which have created such a furore at the other Junior Komic Clubs, and other valuable articles. Manager Pearce received a great ovation when he announced that a doll contest will be conducted soon. Prizes will be awarded for the biggest doll, the funniest doll, the prettiest doll, the thinnest and the fattest dolls.

The first regular meeting at the Harris, Diamond street, will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and a grand jester and board of governors will be elected to hold office for four weeks.

KENYON CHAPTER

The North Side Chapter, with headquarters at the Kenyon Theater, had a big meeting last Saturday morning. Halloween costumes were awarded as prizes to members drawing the lucky numbers. Officers elected were: Grand jester, Raymond Mikesell; board of governors, James Casey, Bud Gruff, Nelson Mikesell, William Crawford, Woodrow Miller and Calvin Hart.

ETNA HARRIS CHAPTER

Among the interesting features announced at the meeting of the Etna Harris Chapter were a harmonica contest to be held at the next meeting; ping pong sets and sheep skin coats to be awarded as prizes Saturday morning and a Joe E. Brown contest. Officers elected are: Grand jester, Jerry Weidle; assistant grand jester, Dorothy Carrier; board of governors, Roy Ewing Hunter, John Ungalo, Phyllis McIntyre, Virginia Wittman and Betty Gnamm. Tampa, the magician, entertained.

ARSENAL CHAPTER

ROWLAND, WILKINSBURG

The meeting of the Rowland Chapter opened with a salutation to the flag, followed by the "Star Spangled Banner" and repeating the club pledge. Following an interesting program these officers were elected: Grand jester, William Oscar Merck; board of governors, Dorothy Anderson, Marjorie Cowell, Jack Wolfe, James Merck, Jeane Mahon and Ralph Jones.

Probation Revoked, Forger Gets Term

Thomas Banks, 38, a Negro, of 141 Fullerton street, was sentenced by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson to serve two months in jail, after the court revoked an 18-month probation sentence imposed in December, 1930, when Banks pleaded guilty of forging a government check. The probation was revoked because of his arrest in April by the police on a disorderly conduct charge.

Goodwill Industries Hold Bundle Day

Bundle day for the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries is being held today. The bundles are being received at the Smithfield Street M. E. Church, where they will be picked up and taken to the Goodwill plant on Liberty avenue.

A thousand invitations have been sent to women of the Pittsburgh district to take part in a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries this afternoon. Mrs. Herbert Welch, wife of Bishop Welch, will address the meeting.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

LARGE PORES?
BLEMISHES?
BLACKHEADS?
SUNBURN?

Nurses tell how to end these common flaws

But there's no need now for your complexion to have even one defect. For nurses have discovered a quick, easy way to end all five of these common skin faults—a way that already has been successfully used by over 6,000,000 women—Noxzema Cream.

Noxzema's special formula is the secret of its many different results. It contains soothing emollients that soften rough, scaly skin. A mild medication that clears away blemishes—rids the pores of poisons and harmful wastes corrects excessive oiliness. Gentle astringents that shrink coarse pores to exquisite fineness. No wonder dull, faded complexions become so youthfully fresh and charming.

See for yourself the glorious new beauty Noxzema can bring your skin. Try it tonight. Instantly you'll feel your skin grow softer and smoother. Tomorrow morning you'll see how much clearer—finer-textured—it has become.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

"GOOD MORNING, Mr. Hellinger. This is Mrs. Jerome Z. Jones, wife of Jerome Z. Jones, the theatrical man. My husband and I met you and your charming wife at the Ginsbergs' home the other night. Do you remember us?"

"Oh, how do you do? Of course I remember you. How are you feeling?"

"Quite well, thank you. We're having a little anniversary party tonight at our home in Great Neck and we want you and your wife to attend. You will come, won't you?"

"Well, er, that is—I mean—"

"That's fine. I'll expect you then, around 9. Goodby, Mr. Hellinger" . . . .

* * *

9 p. m. . . . "O, how do you do, Mr. Hellinger. So glad to see you and Mrs. Hellinger. Let me take your things. You're a little bit early. Yes, ha, ha. When we say 9 o'clock, nobody ever arrives before 10. You'll get used to our Great Neck ways before long. Yes, indeed, ha, ha. Do come into the parlor. Please don't mind the way the place looks. We didn't expect you to come so early, ha, ha. My husband is upstairs shaving. He always shaves at 9 o'clock at night. Funny man—but they say that all geniuses are that way. Yes, ha, ha. Do let me fix you a drink, Mr. Hellinger. What will you have now? We have anything you might want, you know. What? Brandy? Did you say brandy? Is brandy the same as Scotch? It isn't? Well, I'm sorry, we haven't any brandy.

"Is there anything else? Rye? Is rye the same as Scotch? It isn't? Well, I'm sorry. We haven't any rye. Won't you try our Scotch? You will? That's fine. What will I put in it? Did you say white rock? Well, ha, ha, I'm sorry. We haven't any white rock—but we have some very nice ginger ale. You will take ginger ale, won't you? That's fine. I'll be right back with your drinks. Do make yourselves comfortable, ha, ha."

9:10 p. m.—"What do you think, Mr. Hellinger? We haven't any ginger ale either. Do you mind drinking it with plain water? No? Fine! Now, if you'll excuse me, I'll go upstairs and fix my hair. Just make yourselves at home, ha, ha." . . .

10 p. m.—The guests are arriving, some invited and some not. As each one enters a great shout goes up . . . "Oh, there's Dick! Yoo hoo, hello, Dick. You're looking great. See you later. Say, Fannie, doesn't Dick look terrible? He's getting thinner and thinner. Some day I expect a coat and a pair of pants to walk in—and that will be Dick. I never liked him anyhow. He's too conceited. He's—why, hello, Dick, old pal. I was just talking about you. I was saying that, of all the actors on Broadway, I think you are the least affected. Don't thank me; you know it's true. Let's have a little drink." . . .

11 p. m.—The party is now in full swing. Every one tries to make the affair a wild one. What a laugh! I've seen wilder parties in the Central Park Casino. Everybody is drinking hard to forget the boredom of the thing. The gathering is as friendly as the opposing sides in the World War. People stand around in little groups—and most folks walk from group to group panning the group they just left. Witticism flows like frozen molasses. The host is making love to a little movie player. He's having a hard time, however, because he's keeping one eye on a bottle of Scotch and the other one on his wife. A song writer sits at the piano and plays his latest song. Everybody applauds wildly as they whisper to their neighbors, "I wonder where he stole that one from?"

A youth strolls over to the hostess and informs her he's having a "ripping time, bah jove. Yes, my deah, marvelous." He's sorry that his pals—the Astors, the Vanderbilts and the Goulds were unable to accompany him. But something unexpected turned up at the last minute. The poor sap doesn't know that I know he was the doorman at the Capital Theater only four years ago. O, well . . .

12 P. M. . . . "Hello, ol' boy. Shay, dya mind if I dansh with your wife? You do! You gotta heluva nerve. You must think I'm drunk, or sumpin." . . . Pardon me, Mr. Hellinger, you're a song writer, aren't you? No? O, a newspaperman. How stupid of me! I've read your articles time and time again. You write for the Italian Weekly, don't you?" . . .

1 A. M. . . . Time for practically every one to be in bed. A few drunks lying around. The host has disappeared. I can't say goodby to him because I never did meet him. The hostess sees us looking around for our things. She reluctantly releases the hand of a young tenor and staggers over to us.

"Mush you go so shoon? Tch, tch, tch. Shorry you can't stay jus' a little while longer. Been a nice party, no?"

"Wonderful, Mrs. Jones. Very nice of you to invite us. We had a wonderful time."

"Shure. Everybody always has wonnerful timesh at my partiesh. Well, good night. An' don't take any wooden nickelsh. Ha, ha. Good night."

U. S. Dental Corps Increase Opposed

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The House of Delegates, governing body of the American Dental Association, has adopted a report opposing the introduction of legislation to increase the personnel of the Army and Navy Dental Corps "until the unfavorable economic conditions are greatly improved."

At the same time the delegates adopted a report advising the Secretary of the Navy that the American Dental Association disapproves the announcement made in June "of the lowering of the dental requirements of applicants entering the Naval Academy at Annapolis."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache — torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

NO. 525.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, for and in behalf of said City of Pittsburgh, to enter into an agreement with Henry A. Phillips, of the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pa., for the purpose of acquiring land for the widening of Seventh Avenue.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, for and in behalf of the said City of Pittsburgh, be and they are hereby authorized to enter into an agreement with Henry A. Phillips, of the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pa., for the purpose of acquiring land for the widening of Seventh avenue, which agreement shall be in the following form:

THIS AGREEMENT MADE AND ENTERED INTO this ——— day of ———, 1931, by and between the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, a municipal corporation of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, party of the first part, and HENRY A. PHILLIPS, of the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, party of the second part, WITNESSETH:

THAT WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh is desirous of widening Seventh avenue from a sixty (60) to an eighty (80) foot street or avenue, between William Penn Place and Grant street in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, Henry A. Phillips is the owner of the land on the northerly side of Seventh avenue, twenty (20) feet of which is to be ordained for the purpose of widening the said Seventh avenue from a sixty (60) to an eighty (80) foot street or avenue between the points mentioned;

NOW, THEREFORE, the party of the first part, for and in consideration hereby agrees to and with the party of the second part, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, as follows:

1. The City of Pittsburgh covenants and agrees that it will, by the passage of proper ordinances, widen Seventh avenue between William Penn Place and Grant street, from a sixty (60) to an eighty (80) foot street or avenue, and grade, pave and curb the same as so widened, and the said City of Pittsburgh further agrees to pay the said Henry A. Phillips the sum of Seventy Thousand and Dollars ($70,000.00) for a strip of land fronting along the southeasterly side of Seventh avenue of a width of Seventeen (17) feet, between William Penn Place and Grant street, and agrees to embrace the said strip of land within Seventh avenue as so widened.

2. In consideration whereof, Henry A. Phillips covenants and agrees to deliver to the City of Pittsburgh a deed dedicating for street purposes a strip of land twenty (20) feet in width, extending from William Penn Place to Grant street, along the southwesterly portion of the property owned by said Henry A. Phillips, and the said Phillips covenants and agrees to release the City of Pittsburgh from all claims for damages which he may have arising or growing out of the same.

3. It is understood and agreed by the parties hereto that the City of Pittsburgh shall pay all damages, costs and expenses ascertained by and arising out of the said widening of Seventh avenue, and the grading, paving and curbing of the same, and that the benefits shall be assessed against the of the abutting property along the line of said improvement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the City of Pittsburgh has caused this Agreement to be duly executed by the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, and the seal of the City affixed thereto, and the party of the second part has hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year aforesaid.

NO. 526.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company the right to construct, maintain and use, at its own proper cost and expense, a Telechron Clock in the sidewalk at the curb line of Forbes Street, 45 feet west of Meyran Avenue and in front of the premises of said Trust Company, Oakland Branch, and fixing the responsibility, therefor, and the terms of the grant thereof.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company be and it is hereby given the right to construct, maintain and use, at its own proper cost and expense a Telechron Clock in the sidewalk at the curb line of Forbes street, 45 feet west of Meyran Avenue and in front of the premises of the said Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company.

SECTION 2. The erection, maintenance and use of said Telechron Clock shall be in accordance with the specifications as follows:

The installation will consist of an ornamental 16 gauge galvanized iron standard supported by a 4-inch heavy duty galvanized iron bolt set into a concrete base. The clock will be double faced with a five-inch illuminated time dial with a circular sign one (1) foot in height around the clock, consisting of six inch raised metal glass letters reading "Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Co." The mechanism will consist of two twin motored Telechron motors to actuate the movement of the clock hands operated on a potential of 110 volts—60 cycle—alternating current, direct from the central station service in the Company's building. The Glass Clock Units will be approximately 26 inches in diameter and constructed of vitrate mounted on a 20-inch galvanized sheet iron (24) gauge drum with provision for attachment to the four inch heavy duty pole. The drum will be approximately 13 inches in depth. The circular sign will be illuminated with one 25-watt lamp per each 8-inch letter and the dial will have ten 50-watt lamps. The concrete anchorage for post and base will be approximately four (4) feet 6 inches below the curb line and 2 feet 6 inches above the same and will be two feet square. The 4-inch pole will be imbedded in the concrete to a depth of 5 feet below curb level with anchor rods to avoid turning. Current for clock operation will be supplied by one pair of No. 14 wires from base of building to clock motors and two pairs of No. 14 wires to provide illumination, all wires installed in two conduits. Extreme diameter of clock and sign will be Approximately 3 feet, diameter of clock 3 feet, height of pole from sidewalk to bottom of clock 15 feet, weight of clock and sign 250 pounds. The whole construction will be in accordance with the design prepared by the General Outdoor Advertising Company on file in the office of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh.

SECTION 3. The rights and privileges herein granted are made subject to the following conditions, to-wit:

(a) The Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company assumes as a condition precedent any and all liability for any damage or injury to person or property by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of said Clock and equipment, and will save and keep harmless the City of Pittsburgh from all claim or claims, suit or suits arising out of the same.

(b) This ordinance shall become null and void unless within thirty (30) days from its approval the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company shall file with the City Controller its certificate of acceptance of all the terms and conditions of the ordinance, under and pursuant to a resolution of its Board of Directors authorizing the same.

SECTION 4. The rights and privileges herein granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers over City Streets and the Ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto, and to the provisions of any general Ordinance which may hereafter be passed relating to the use of such streets and compensation for the same.

SECTION 5. The rights and privileges granted by this Ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh without liability reserves the right to cause the removal of said clock upon giving ninety (90) days' notice to its proper officers pursuant to Resolution or Ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh, to the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company, its successors and assigns, to that effect, and that the said grantee when so notified shall at the expiration of ninety (90) days forthwith remove said clock and replace the street to its original condition at its own cost and expense.

SECTION 6. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Passed in Council October 5, 1931.
Approved October 15, 1931.

NO. 528.

AN ORDINANCE—Opening Dollar Street, in the Fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Center Avenue to the dividing line between properties of Ellen Deely, Mary Deely and Susan Deely and that of B. F. Benson, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Dollar street, in the Fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Center Avenue to the dividing line between properties of Ellen Deely, Mary Deely and Susan Deely and that of B. F. Benson be and the same is hereby opened to a uniform width of 40 feet by taking for public use for highway purposes, the following described properties, to-wit:

The easterly line shall begin on the northerly line of Center avenue at a point distant 150 feet west of the westerly line of Craig street measured along the northerly line of Center avenue; thence extending northwardly parallel to and at a perpendicular distance of 149.66 feet west of the westerly line of Craig street for a distance of 545 feet to the dividing line between properties of Ellen Deely, Mary Deely and Susan Deely and that of B. F. Benson.

The westerly line shall be parallel to and at a perpendicular distance of 40 feet west of the above described easterly line and shall extend from Center avenue to the line dividing properties of Ellen Deely, Mary Deely and Susan Deely and that of B. F. Benson, produced.

SECTION 2. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Dollar street, in the Fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Center avenue to the dividing line between properties of Ellen Deely, Mary Deely and Susan Deely and that of B. F. Benson, to be opened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance, or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

NOTRE DAME BROADCAST SET

The Loudspeaker — By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The varied pronunciation of Notre Dame has come to a halt on the microphone. It's nothing but "Noter Dame" now. In a broadcast of an alumni banquet of the institution not so long ago, it was pronounced six different ways.

Right now there is too much radio ballyhoo for Notre Dame. Picture publicity men shouldn't be permitted to diminish the good will the public has toward the institution . . . For the past 10 days Notre Dame has been crammed into listeners' ears. Even the well-meaning Hunk Anderson has permitted himself to be ever-exploited. And Anderson is not a skillful enough speaker for such activity. Zealous press agents are making a monkey of him . . . The unemployment crisis was responsible last Sunday for the most glittering program yet to be offered to the armchairs.

Good to hear Sousa agitating the air again. He helps to keep discontent away from the doorsteps . . . Wonder if any President, were Stalin threatening to take us over, would think of summoning Sousa, bid him to turn on "The Stars and Stripes Forever" . . . Speakers are brought to the radio to talk of Lord Reading, brainiest of English statesmen. Why don't the caliphs of the microphone bring Lord Reading himself to the radio? . . . A radio career is beckoning to Earle Sande. Not as a dispenser of turf anecdote, but as a warbler.

* * *

Why can't radio time be found for the four mad Marxes? . . . Oscar Wilde's wisecrack, "there comes a time in the life of a child when it tolerates its parents" has special application today. Childhen forced to hear Beethoven and Tschaikowski broadcasts at school are now tolerating parents who can't get enough of crooners mumbling "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain."

How Do Women in the Movies Manage?

Filming a picture means weeks of work without a pause. The star can't stop because she is "indisposed!" Monthly sickness does not excuse her. If you know some woman who is in pictures, she will tell you how Hollywood women manage during those pain periods. Try to find even an "extra" girl who doesn't carry Midol with her!

Midol was a marvelous discovery. It isn't harmful. It isn't a narcotic. But it acts in seven minutes—ends all pain or discomfort for hours at a stretch! Just ask for Midol at any drug store.

We Now Present — By Darrell V. Martin, Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS for Saturday's broadcast of the Pitt-Notre Dame game at South Bend, Ind., over WJAS in Pittsburgh were completed last night . . . starting at 2:45 o'clock, Pittsburgh time, WJAS will relay Pat Flanagan's word picture of Pitt's gallant attempt of the season, that of wresting a victory from "Hunk" Anderson's Irish . . . We praise the enterprise of the local sponsor whose civic spirit has made this expensive broadcast possible . . . Five hundred miles of land wire will be run from the Notre Dame Stadium to WBBM, Chicago, then to WJAS in Pittsburgh, at a cost of nearly $1,000 . . . Credit for the broadcast must be given Sun-Telegraph readers who encouraged WJAS through this department to pick up the game over the same network used for the Father Coughlin talks on Sunday.

Question a Day:

It seems to me that several radio sponsors are guilty of using the lottery system on the air to get listeners. Aren't they violating the law?—Vincent K., Duquesne U.

Answer—We suppose you refer to the cigar company that offers automobiles for 20 cigar bands containing the 20 best words of advertising. This advertiser has worked out a system of getting around the very strict laws regarding lotteries. Listeners don't have to buy anything. They can go to the cigar store and carefully copy the trade mark or cigar band and it's just as good as the genuine band, providing it's a fair facsimile. We wonder how many contestants have taken the trouble to carefully copy the intricate designs of 20 cigar bands.

While local gridiron fans await the 2:45 broadcast of Pitt-Notre Dame Saturday, they may tune in at 1:45 on WCAE for the Yale-Harvard setto and KDKA at the same time for Navy and Princeton . . . McNamee at Yale and Munday at Princeton.

Studio Lights:

Adele Vasa, of CBS, once sang under an assumed name, got a letter from her father, who said that she had a voice exactly like his daughter's. . . .

Tom Waring has a new star out of the Middle West as his guest on WTAM at 8:30 tonight. . . . Thelma Kessler, soprano, is only 19, but critics are very laudatory. . . .

Carrie Jacobs Bond, celebrated song writer whose "I Love You Truly" appeals to us as one of the greatest sentimental pieces of all time, walked into NBC studios unheralded the other night to watch Frazier Hunt, editor of Cosmopolitan, broadcast. . . .

Aileen Clark, the 24-year-old songbird who married a Pittsburgher, has challenged Evelyn Hagara, of Los Angeles, to a "high C" contest, the result of Miss Hagara's claim that she can hold the note without fluctuation for three solid minutes . . . in her first attempt, Aileen held the concluding notes of Farley's "Wind Song" for three and a half minutes. . . . NBC plans to have Aileen warble from New York with Miss Hagara coming right back at her, octave for octave, from Los Angeles . . . it'll be anything but a calm night on the "high C's" when NBC launches this bark.

Ben Bernie contributes to the collegiate spirit at 9 tonight with a new novelty number, "A Blanket, a hot Dog and You" . . . something about football, as you like it. . . .

Howard Claney has replaced "Thundering" Eddie Thorgerson on the B. A. Rolfe program. . .

The CBS press department slipped up on a good one yesterday . . . listing Don Bestor at 5 o'clock and then presenting Emerson Gill was equivalent to treason . . . Don is traveling again and may be heard soon from either WLW or KDKA.

That million-dollar experiment against Amos 'n' Andy is to be tried out soon on WOR . . . it concerns two Hebrew partners in a dyeing and cleaning shop . . . if it clicks, CBS will present it every evening but Sunday at 7 o'clock . . .

CBS is about to switch Arthur Pryor's Band for either Annette Hanshaw or Bing Crosby . . .

"Deak" Aylesworth, president of NBC, has set his guns for that Diction Medal despite the CBS theme song, "Now You Belong to Me" . . . neither Ross nor Knight is to get it if Mr. Aylesworth can help it . . . he has had electrical transcriptions made of all his announcers' voices, obviously to correct any errors of speech before "the big push" next week when judges are to sit in on all broadcasts with pachyderm ears. . . .

Today's Tid Bit:

Col. Stoopnagle tells this one about the cloak and suiter who had "arrived."

"Expansive, isn't it?" said the friend who was inspecting the successful man's large and lavish apartment.

"My face and chest were covered with pimples that were hard, large and very red. The itching and burning were so severe that I did not know what to do. My clothing aggravated the breaking out, and sometimes the irritation prevented me from sleeping. I had the trouble over six years.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. I got great relief in a short time, and after using two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Katherine Swick, 610 N. We All Must Learn by Our Own Experiences

Suppose a worthless woman were ruining your boy's life—

What would you do?

A broken hearted mother wants to know.

Such a woman has come into her son's life . . . an utterly vicious creature . . . a bad wife and mother—such a woman as every good mother teaches her sons to avoid.

Yet this son is fascinated. So fascinated that he's alienating his friends and ruining his career and breaking his mother's heart. What can she do?

She has tried everything to save him: talked as a friend—appealed to his decency: threatened: wept: pleaded—all to no avail.

"I'm not hurting anybody," he says sullenly and goes his way.

"Oh, how can I save him?" wails the mother. And many another distracted mother will echo that cry.

"Dear Miss Sally:

"I am in need of your help. In fact I am desperate. I have a son, a fine chap, and he is getting tangled up with a woman who is utterly worthless.

"He is smart, makes a good appearance and had a good job till this depression hit business. Since then he's been unemployed. About a year ago, he met this woman and her husband, who are about his own age. They've been married about 10 years and have a little girl of nine. But that doesn't keep the woman from falling in love with every man she meets.

"She had an affair with the man she worked for. He bought her clothes even. Then she got a new job and the same thing went on there. She has even been coming to our house to see my boy and often when she'd had too many drinks, she acted very silly, embarrassing her husband if he happened to be with her.

WRECKING HIM

"Now she's left her husband, lives with her mother, and my son goes to see her all the time. I have talked to him about it, but he won't listen to me. He says his seeing her doesn't do any harm and that he likes her company.

"But it is doing harm. She is ruining him, ruining his life. He neglects all his friends and all his business chances on account of her. She is wrecking him body and soul.

"What can I do? I am so worried, and he won't listen to a word I say. It is making me so wretched I don't know how to stand it.

"A WORRIED MOTHER."

Yes, I know, my dear. I know just how hard it is for you to sit back and watch that boy of yours messing around and maybe getting himself into bad trouble.

NEEDS EXPERIENCE

But after all, serious as this business is, there is nothing you can do. Nothing really that you have a right to do. For every human soul must buy its own experience, if it's ever going to learn how to live.

I know how badly you want to protect him . . . to protect him from himself, from hurts and scars. But you can't protect him, my dear. Even if you could, you wouldn't be doing him any real good. You'd be doing him actual harm.

Unless he learns to stand on his own feet, and use his own sense and judgment, he'll topple over into the first chuckhole he comes to, the minute you withdraw your support.

That's one of the hardest lessons we mothers ever have to learn. But it's one we must learn, if our children are to grow up, and be real men and women, with backbones of their own.

So keep hands off, mother. But go on loving him. Above all, go on believing in him, no matter what he does, no matter what is done to him. Faith and love are the greatest medicine on earth for sick spirits.

Women Find Facial Expression Important Factor in Success—Fay King

By FAY KING

Women who have chosen careers have learned that the most important factor in their success is facial expression.

They have learned to smile and look cheerful whether they feel like it or not.

A business man does not contact any grumbling or frowns.

The secretary, cashier, waitress, stenographer, clerk, manicurist, hat check girl, telephone operator, and all the women he contacts in his busy day of routine smile upon him and look exceedingly pleasant.

And so it is important for a wife to greet her husband with a smile and cheerful manner, lest he be startled to find the only frown and grumbling of his day at home and think every other woman in the world has a sweeter disposition than hers.

Madge Begins Task of Placating Her Mother-in-Law

"Whom did you tell about Hank, Junior?" I asked, hiding my quick dismay at my almost certain knowledge of what would be his answer. He had been near the kitchen when his father had sent him down to have Jim bring the car around to the door, and——

"I told Jim—and Katie, too," he said slowly. "I didn't know it was a secret."

"Of course, you didn't, and I'm not blaming you. I simply want you both to remember that it is always best not to speak of things that have happened, until you are very sure that they are not secrets."

I broke off abruptly and stared at the floor, seeing endless difficulties in the way of sparing the sensitiveness of Hank and Bill with so many people cognizant of their sartorial trouble. I knew that I must go directly to my mother-in-law's room. I could not risk her being in a bad humor when my father should talk to her—as he had planned—about the name which he so longed to give his new little granddaughter. How long I should have to remain with her I did not know—placating my captious mother-in-law is a long task sometimes—and if the boys came back before I had had a chance to talk to Katie, her garrulous tongue would be sure to apprise them, sooner or later, that their secret was theirs no longer.

Junior sidled up to me and tugged at my arm.

"Couldn't I fix it some way, Mums?" he asked eagerly. "I could go down and tell Katie and Jim that it was a secret and that I oughtn't to have said anything and that they mustn't say anything so the boys could hear."

"Yes, we could do that," amended Roderick, who misses no opportunity to declare himself in on any enterprise.

"Yes, you could do that," I answered, snatching at the straw they offered. "Go down, both of you now, and tell Kate and Jim I do not wish them to say anything about the scorched trousers or to say anything except 'Good afternoon' to the boys if they should get back before I get down to the kitchen. Tell her I'll be down there in a few minutes."

"All right, we'll go and tell her," they chorused. But at the door they hesitated and looked back.

"You'll see we can keep the secret," Junior said stoutly, "and then it will be all right about Ruby Pearl and Opal Violet, won't it?"

"Yes, dear," I said, disciplining my twitching lips until I was sure the youngsters were outside the door. Then I rested my tautened nerves with a laugh. I had no fear that my indulgence of this queer whim would lead to any permanent nicknames for the baby. I know how evanescent are the fancies of children, and even if they were unusually tenacious upon this particular point, I had confidence enough in my own powers of discouragement, if cautiously applied, to insure their eventual abandonment of the ridiculous names.

A glance at my wrist watch reminded me that I had no time to waste upon either mirth or reflection. Reluctantly I pulled myself together and went down the hall to my mother-in-law's room. She knows my knock, and I knew that she was still in a bad humor by the length of time it took her to answer it. When at last she came to the door, she pretended not to have known who was knocking—a little trick which she employs whenever she is angry.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" she said dourly. "Come in."

She stood stiffly holding the door as I passed her, then closed it, walked back into the room and pushed forward a chair with the air of one offering a seat to some troublesome business caller to whom could be offered the minimum of courtesy.

"Sit down," she said, and I meekly obeyed her, although the old Adam within me urged a speedy exit. For aside from the deference which I always strive to give to Dicky's mother because of her age and infirmity, I was especially anxious to get her placated before the after-dinner interview which my father wished with her. Upon this depended the name he wished so ardently to bestow upon the tiny new princess who was the grandchild of both of them, and I knew that if Mother Graham were vexed with me, she would be in no mood to listen to my father.

So it was for his sake that I bent the pregnant hinges of the knees, and spoke quickly and placatingly.

"I came to apologize to you, mother, for making you wait for me. But I could not help it. If I had not gone down just at that minute, Hank and Bill might have been terribly humiliated."

"How?"

The syllable was not encouraging, but I went on explaining at length the dread of the two boys that the scorching of their trousers might become the occasion for ridicule especially upon Marion's part, and the conspiracy of silence I had instituted.

"Young whippersnappers! Ought to be made to face facts. You're altogether too easy with them."

This was her comment when I had finished, but her voice was pitched in a much milder tone than the one which had greeted my entrance.

"But you won't say anything about it?" I said, and regretted my rashness as soon as I had uttered the words, for she drew herself up majestically, and her voice was frigid with offended dignity.

"Margaret, am I in the habit of commenting upon occurrences in this household?" she demanded.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Opening Bids of Two

Under the official system an opening bid of two, either of a major suit or a minor make, is only semi-forcing in character. It announces holding too great strength for an opening bid of one, and insufficient strength for a demand bid of three. This opening two bid of a suit shows at least seven probable tricks, including two or more quick tricks. Sometimes an excess of quick tricks justifies bidding two upon a minimum of six and one-half probable tricks.

The following hands are worth opening bids of two, but they are not worth opening bids of three:

♥ A-Q-J-5-3
♣ 9
♦ K-6

• • •

♠ A-K-Q-J-8-6-4
♥ 8-4
♣ 6-5
♦ 10-7

• • •

♠ A-9-7-3
♥ A-K-Q-10-8-5
♣ 5-3
♦ 4

• • •

♥ K-Q-9-7-5
♦ K-Q-8-4
♣ A-J-10-6

Due to its great quick trick strength the next hand should be bid two-Spades:

♠ A-K-7-4
♥ A-K-8-6
♣ 9
♦ A-9-8-6

Never jump your partner's two bid; that may hamper him; his semi-forcing bid of two always primes further bidding in case you respond, either with an assist of a shift of make; in shifting do not make an unnecessarily high bid. You can show surplus strength after your partner has answered your first response.

♥ K-6-5
♣ K-8-2
♦ 7-4-3

• • •

♠ A-8-7
♥ 7-4
♣ 6-5-4-3
♦ Q-J-8-5

With the next hand shift partner to 3-Hearts.

♠ 9-5-2
♥ A-10-8-7-4
♣ 6-3
♦ K-7-4

• • •

Shift to 2-No Trumps on either of the next hands. The second hand has great support for partner's 2-Spades, but the type of hand in both cases urges no-trumps, unless partner either rebids spades or shows a two-suiter. On the second hand you may jump partner's spade rebid to 5-Spades, urging a slam attempt.

♠ 7-4-3
♣ Q-J-7
♦ 10-9-6-2

• • •

♠ Q-5-3-2
♥ A-7-5
♣ K-J-6
♦ K-10-7

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Unsuspected Eye Trouble Causes Many Complaints

There is no organ of the body more abused and more neglected than the eye. Somehow we take it for granted that it is unnecessary to give it a thought. Unless actual disease, redness and pain, sticking together of the lids, or some other really uncomfortable symptom presents itself, we go about our affairs in delightful ignorance that after all there is something wrong with the organ of vision.

Dr. Copeland.

These bodies of ours are odd things. There may be something wrong in one organ that produces strange and unusual symptoms, not in the organ itself, but in some other part of the body, perhaps remote from the diseased or irritated organ. For instance, who ever thinks about indigestion or backache as being due to eye-strain? As a matter of fact, however, symptoms of this sort are frequently the result of the struggle of nature, pained and distressed because of the drainage of nerve energy from imperfect or abused eyes.

Outside of digestive disturbances, the most common cause of headache is eyestrain. It matters little where the headache is, or what sort of pain it produces. Except for those headaches which women frequently have in the top of the head, every form and type of headache may be removed by putting the eyes in proper condition.

I beg of you not to misunderstand me. Not every headache comes from the eyes, of course. There are many other causes of headache. But I have seen so many thousands of persons relieved of headache by the wearing of glasses, that I feel like crying from the housetops to suffering humanity to have the eyes examined. Certainly you should do this when there is not direct evidence that the trouble, whatever it is, can be assigned to a definite ailment somewhere else than to the eyes.

Persistent headaches, frequently recurring headaches, periodical headache, obscure symptoms in the head, less defined than real headache—any one of these symptoms should arouse the suspicion that the eyes may be at fault. If they are at fault, nine times out of ten it is because the eyes are being strained, either from overuse or use in improper light, or because of the need of spectacles.

Answers to Health Queries

M. A. E. Q.—Is it harmful for a girl of 17 to use ——— for reducing?

A.—Since I am not familiar with the preparation in question I cannot advise you along the lines you request. Proper diet and plenty of exercise should tend to bring about the desired results.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Curves may or may not be fashionable, it does not matter, the fat lady had better bandage hers down with a properly fitting corselette just the same. When flesh moves about and quivers, it is suggestive of sloppiness. There's an old saying to the effect that a horse and a woman should be well harnessed.

Shoe manufacturers are puzzled. More women are seeking sensible shoes, comfortable ones with a reasonable amount of toe space. Is it possible that the spiked heel has had its day? Let us hope. It is responsible for beauty crimes—bad posture, twisted backbones, nervous troubles, internal displacements, curdled dispositions. It was never meant that women should hobble along on their toes.

Correct Manners

Duties of the Best Man

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to have the honor of acting as best man for my friend's wedding. There is to be a reception at the home of the bride and a theater party later. Is it the duty of the best man to pay for the theater tickets, or is that the groom's responsibility? Or would it be proper to "Dutch treat"?

BEST MAN-TO-BE

If the best man wishes to give this party, he may, but there is no reason in the world why he should be expected to give it. The best man should not have any expenses for the wedding. His position is solely as you put it, "having the honor of being best man." The groom would, I think, give this party, but there is no rule about it, for theater parties are not customarily given after weddings, and especially when there is to be a reception.

It would not be proper to go "Dutch treat" for an occasion of this kind. I am sure that the groom will give this party.

Replying to an Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When invitations to a bridge party or shower are sent on one's personal calling card, how should the acceptance or regrets be sent? READER.

A formal acknowledgement, written on the first page of a double sheet of letter-paper, should be sent, like this:

Miss Helena Broadhurst
Accepts with pleasure
Mrs. Allen Whiting's
Kind invitation
For bridge
On Friday, the first of November,

Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Does one send wedding announcements to those invited to the wedding? No formal invitations will be issued to the wedding.

No, the guests who are invited to the wedding, even if they are invited informally, are not sent announcements of the wedding.

ONE DAY'S DANDRUFF

LAZY GLANDS

Get rid of dandruff. Anyone can. And no one can ever hide it. In its secondary stage, the infested scalp sheds enough dead scale to fill a tablespoon every twenty-four hours!

And a simple treatment will end this disgusting condition!

Dandruff is caused by lazy glands that won't open and close. They need stimulating. You can do this with your finger-tips, dipped in Danderine, to dissolve the gum that has fouled the pores. The worst caked scalp will soften under this massage. There will not be a speck of dandruff after one application.

Do not neglect lazy glands, or the scalp will granulate and leave the hair dry as straw—and as dead. Even its color is affected when roots are starved, and telltale streaks must be "touched up." If you will only stimulate the glands you won't have to use color restorers.

Glands that stay open are just as bad! Hair and scalp get oily and odorous—soil and smell-up hats. Danderine is a positive corrective of this evil condition. It's a real medicine for sick scalps. And its fresh fragrance makes it a delightful thing to brush through the hair as the finishing touch to head daintiness.

And if you doubt that Danderine makes hair grow—measure the length after using one thirty-five cent bottle!

To Mothers whose children won't eat

NATURE knows best. Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite. When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children a constipating cathartic that drains the system. California fig syrup is all the "medicine" they require.

The Child's Appetite Will Always Respond

Specialists will tell you that a sluggish appetite almost always means the child has a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children seem to need is pure, unadulterated fig syrup.

Children who get fig syrup, now and then, soon have the appetite and energy of young animals! They keep well and avoid colds and sluggish spells.

Nature never made a finer laxative for children; and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California fig syrup. It's purely vegetable but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. The very next day, your child will be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

A single IF

The promises made by the bottlers of California Fig Syrup are true and it will do the same for you. IF it's genuine CALIFORNIA Fig Syrup. Don't accept substitutes.

Keep on your Feet 4 MORE ACTIVE DAYS

Any Day..But "This"

That's the way to keep happy and strong. It regulates the system. Relieves the pain. Try it! Buy a box of the new tablets. All drug stores have them now. Don't go on suffering month after month when comforting relief is so easy to obtain.

STOMACH TROUBLES

HOW frequently we hear people complain of "indigestion." And how seldom there is actually anything wrong with the digestive organs!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali to neutralize the acids. But don't use any crude helps. Use what most doctors would advise: use what your own doctor prescribes in his daily practice for just that condition.

The very best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. You will find nothing else so quick in effect, so harmless, so efficient. One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Results are immediate, with no harmful after-effects to follow your relief.

This pleasant way to alkalinize your system is so much better—so much quicker—than attempting to accomplish the same thing by a diet! But you cannot do this with any form of magnesia. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the formula; it is the one preparation that gives you magnesia in perfect suspension. It is alkaline, its action is thorough, and there is nothing more soothing to an ailing stomach or more helpful to sluggish bowels. Druggists have Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in 25c and 50c bottles.

The best way to whiten teeth is with Phillips' Dental Magnesia—the ideal dentifrice. Try it and see for yourself how white your teeth become. At drug stores everywhere.

RETAILERS SET FORUM TOPIC

The present economic situation and its bearing on retailing will be discussed by A. E. Oxenreiter, of the Joseph Horne Company, at a meeting of the Retailers' Forum tomorrow night at the Horne store.

The Retailers' Forum, organized recently under the Research Bureau of Retail Training, University of Pittsburgh, is a group of junior executives from all the Pittsburgh department stores.

Alfred Palmer is president of the forum; Jean Clymonts, vice president; Margaret Keeney, secretary-treasurer; H. Leonard Edelstein, chairman of the program committee; Marion Mohan, subchairman, program committee, and Mrs. Clarisse Shubin, chairman of the public relations committee.

PAINTING GIVEN SETON HILL

An oil painting of Dr. Daniel Richard Sullivan, late president of Seton Hill College, was presented to the college by the Sullivan Society, an alumnae group, at their October campus meeting. The portrait is a three-quarter length life size figure, the work of the English artist, B. E. Ward. The painting was started last July and was done in Mr. Ward's studio in Franklin, Pa.

Rites for Stratton, Edison Friend, Set

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Announcement has been made that the funeral of Dr. Samuel Wesley Stratton, friend of Thomas A. Edison, would be held on Wednesday at Trinity Church and that burial would be at Pasadena, California.

The Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, rector of Trinity Church and the Rev. J. S. Moses, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, will officiate at the services of the chairman of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who passed away while dictating a tribute to Edison.

Studio Worker Hurt Fighting Film Fire

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—(INS.)—Fire broke out in a laboratory of the Fox Film Corporation here when film in a cutting room became ignited and severely burned William Treanor, Jr., 21, a cutter.

Treanor seized the burning film and threw it into a corner in order to prevent the fire spreading to other film. In doing so he suffered second-degree burns. The studio fire department put out the fire.

Taxicab Fare Rates Reduced by Operators Here

COURT ASKED TO BAR 253 WILMERDING VOTERS

TAXICAB RATES CUT BY GREEN AND YELLOW

Fares Lowest in City History For Single Passenger to Be Effective Tomorrow

A cut in Green and Yellow taxicab rates, effective tomorrow, was announced today by P. L. Houston, president of the Green and Yellow cab companies.

The new rate, the lowest single passenger rate ever effective in Pittsburgh, provides a reduction of about 25 per cent on the longer trips from the residential districts to the downtown area, Houston, local representative of the Parmelee Transportation Company, said.

INITIAL RATE CUT

The initial rate has been reduced from 25 cents for the first quarter-mile to 15 cents for the first sixth-mile, each two-thirds of a mile thereafter being 10 cents. Under the new rate, a single passenger may make a 12-mile trip at a cost of $1.95, instead of $2.65 as under the old rate.

A charge of 10 cents is made for each additional passenger, according to the new fare rate.

A four-mile trip for one passenger under the new rate is 75 cents instead of $1.05. An extra charge of 10 cents is made for each passenger without regard to the length of the trip. There is no extra charge for children 12 years old or under.

Taximeters are being changed to conform with the new rate. A temperary provision has been made whereby a passenger who uses a cab operating on the old rate is given a receipt entitling him to an immediate refund from the company, Houston said.

COMPARATIVE RATES

Following is a comparative table of cab hire for a single passenger between certain designated points showing the new rate and the old rate. These distances have been carefully run off by a cab in actual operation at the old and new rate between the given points:

CITY BACK TAX TOTAL RISES 110 PCT.

Delinquent Amount Over $4,000,000; Big Increase In Kline Administration

Delinquent taxes have increased from $2,272,924 at the beginning of the administration of Mayor Charles H. Kline, January 4, 1926, to $4,779,569 at the end of 1930, a rise of more than 110 per cent.

All of Pittsburgh's bad tax accounts, extending in some cases back to 1877, were only slightly over the $2,000,000 mark at the end of 1925. They more than doubled during the five years of the Kline regime which followed.

The specter of increasing delinquencies has haunted the budget sessions of City Council for several years. Each increase in the city tax rate has aggravated it. The law of diminishing returns in economics as applied to taxes means that the higher the rate is raised the more difficult collections become.

Nor can the trouble be blamed on the business depression. The two fat years of 1926 and 1927 showed big increase in delinquencies.

Greater difficulty has been experienced each year in keeping the city's fund liquid to meet expenditures. Efforts were made this year to secure legislation to permit the city to issue bonds in anticipation of taxes.

Total delinquencies at the end of 1930 amounted to approximately 16½ per cent of the city's 1931 budget of $28,747,626. Tax collections for the current year at the end of August were reported by the City Treasurer to

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 20.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Best Edison joke I know was on me. He and Mrs. Edison used to always come to Ziegfeld Follies and I played directly to him with my little jokes before I knew he was deaf. Owen D. Young was making a flowery speech about him at the Fords' great dinner at Dearborn. We all get to laughing, Young was mystified. It was Edison making faces and pantomiming that what Young was saying was "hooey." Ford moved Edison's old invention shop to Dearborn; even brought the red New Jersey clay. When Edison first saw it he noticed the clay and asked, "Henry, where did you get this?" He'd have been a great old man even if he never invented anything.

VOLPE FACTION ATTACKED IN PETITION

'Phantom' Registrations Charged; Names Listed By Political Boss' Foes

Common Pleas Court today was asked to strike 253 names from the voting lists of the Fourth Ward of Wilmerding.

Judge William H. McNaugher immediately granted a ruling ordering Joseph Capo, register-assessor of the district, and Gilbert C. Cloonan, head of the County Bureau of Election, to appear before him Friday morning and show cause why such an order should not be granted.

The petition, filed by Attorney Mayer Sniderman in behalf of George Munro, chairman of the Independent faction of the Republican party in Wilmerding, charges Capo enrolled the names of 240 "phantom voters," persons who do not exist, nine unnaturalized citizens and five persons now dead.

'PHANTOMS' CHARGED

The list of the 253 names is said to show four alleged "phantoms" registered from the home of Louis Volpe, an old-line Republican leader, living at 136 Middle street, five from the home of Peter Grillo, Volpe overseer in the Fourth District, at 200 State street, 11 from 215 Bridge street, the home of Paul Dangolo, another Volpe overseer, and three from the home of Carmine Trenga, 323 Bella street, judge of election in the Fourth District.

NAMES LISTED

Frank Dangelo, Sam DiBiasi or DiBeasi, Paul Dimoni or Dimnoi, Firrendino Domato, Louis Luzitti, Sam Perrone, Bill Perrone, John Pashuto or Panuto, Emma Barker, Sabato Caruccio and Sam Carlino.

From the home of Overseer Grillo:

Diego Balzara, Steve Bayko, Nick Cappeta, Paul Daringo and John Niglio.

The nine persons listed as unnaturalized citizens are:

Martin Cwynar, Marie Ivosee, Mary Kvaternick or Gautacick, Mary Yaslyk or Walyk, Martha Znoczko or Znacko, Mary Kozak or Kogak, Catherine Myrsk or Myryk, Mary Mance and Victoria Cwynar.

The five dead person's names said to be on the list are:

BRIDGE BUREAU ABOLISHED

The city Bureau of Bridges and Structures was abolished today by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang as an economy measure. John D. Stevenson, superintendent, was among those discharged. His successor in the reorganized bureau, to be amalgamated with the Division of Engineering, has not yet been named.

Stevenson received a salary of $6,500 per year. He has been with the city since 1906, with the exception of a year and seven months spent with the government and a private engineering organization.

Savings estimated at $35,000 annually on the bureau's payroll will be effected by the slash. Others discharged included:

F. C. Coder, division engineer, $5,000 per year; Harry Keefer, chief clerk, $2,750; Edward Gall, inspector, $2,120; B. T. Thomas, assistant designing engineer, $3,000; W. J. Curley, draughtsman, $2,120, and J. G. MacConnell, tracer, $1,920. A number of others are said to be scheduled to go.

U. S. Judge Raps 'Sympathy' Racket

The practice of defendants bringing their wives and children into Federal Court in an effort to arouse sympathy was condemned and held "of no benefit to the accused" by Judge R. M. Gibson today.

The court's remarks were directed at Leroy W. Porter, 31, mail carrier of the Washington (Pa.) Postoffice, who pleaded guilty to stealing letters containing about $200. His wife and 7-year-old son were in the courtroom. He was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay the government $500 during that period.

3 BOYS HELD IN HOLDUP

Three boys were held for court today charged with the robbery of Charles Dobrowski, 37, of 724 Kerr street, held up and beaten at the foot of South Twenty-first street near the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, where, a short time later, a switch engine struck him. Dobrowski's legs were amputated later in St. Joseph's hospital.

A fourth boy, James Dillon, 19, of 1804 Westmont avenue, Carrick, was held for receiving stolen goods after it was testified in Morals Court he had sold a watch taken from the injured man.

The other boys are John Dobranski, 18, of 177 South Sixteenth street; John Sujowski, 18, of 46 South Nineteenth street; and Anthony Wyzykowsik, 17, of 1719 Wharton street.

We Have Our Pessimists, Also Our Optimists

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Pessimist is a man who hopes the country is going to pieces.

Optimist is a man who hopes the country is going to pieces so he can grab himself a big chunk.

But everything will straighten out like the sword swallower who ate the crowbar.

Naturally, the public is a little suspicious now. It trusts nobody. A New Hampshire farmer was chased by a brown bear last week and stopped every 20 yards to pull up his socks and count his money.

That's the general feeling. And that's why savings banks and life insurance companies are getting all the golden gravy.

SUSPECT SHOT, 2 OTHERS HELD

A man and a boy were held for investigation after a Morals Court hearing today, while their alleged companion in a Woods Run robbery, committed this morning, lay in St. John's Hospital, a police bullet wound in his back.

Homer C. Fox, 35, of 1104 Success street, denied any part in the robbery. He said he had met the other two, Lawrence Bruckmiller, 18, 1102 Success street, and John Morrow, 21, of 1104 Success street, and offered to help them carry several packages.

When police appeared Fox's companions fled and Morrow was wounded as the officers opened fire.

Bruckmiller substantiated Fox's story and admitted the package he and Morrow had been carrying contained ham and bacon, valued at $25, stolen from the store of Joseph Polyak, 2347 McCook street.

McKeesporter Hurt In Fall on Bottle

With the neck of a broken bottle imbedded in his spine, Martin Quinn, 38, of 908 Soles street, McKeesport, was taken to Allegheny General Hospital early today in a serious condition, suffering from loss of blood. Quinn collapsed in Cedar avenue near Ohio street. Police believe Quinn carried the bottle in his pocket and it broke in his fall.

Stills, Rum Seized 6 Arrested in Raids

Six arrests were made, two whisky stills and a large quantity of intoxicants seized by constables and prohibition agents in four raids yesterday in Pittsburgh and one each in Etna, McKees Rocks and Bruceton.

Minister, Dentist Held in Vote Row

Arraigned on charges growing out of Hill district election disorders, nine Negroes, including a dentist and minister, were held for court today by Alderman John J. Verona.

Held on various charges were: Dr. Alfred J. Kyles, the Rev. W. Wade, Ina Wayne, Walter Rainey, Carrie Goodman, Lillian Fairfax and Clarence Clark. Warrants were served by Constable Harry Fink.

Pastors Laud Park In Vote Prosecutions

In a resolution adopted by the Methodist Episcopal ministers at their weekly meeting yesterday, District Attorney Park was commended for his prosecution of election fraud and pledging him support. Park was declared to have "the greatest opportunity within a generation to curb political iniquity and redeem the name of Pittsburgh."

Miners' Pay Slash Discussed in Parley

A proposed 15 per cent reduction in wages was discussed yesterday at a meeting of officials of the United Mine Workers and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, it was announced. No action was taken on the proposal. Another meeting will be held Thursday, it was said.

The meeting was one of a series held since September, when the 90-day clause in the union agreement expired.

Greater Values in Stores Cited at Research Opening

Greater retail values in the department stores is the outcome of the present economic condition, David R. Craig, director of the Research Bureau for Retail Training, University of Pittsburgh, said today as the bureau opened a three-day annual conference in the William Penn Hotel with nine local department stores participating.

The annual conference, at which 13 out-of-town stores also are represented by executives, will continue through Thursday. The sessions will be devoted to analysis of four changes confronting store management: management and operation, publicity, control and training.

Director Craig was the leader of the morning session devoted to retailing and the bureau. Discussions were led by Joseph M. Meyers, of Kaufmann's store; Miss Elsie Hoewicher, Boggs & Buhl, and Miss Helen MacWilliams, Frank & Seder. Current changes in training sales persons was the afternoon topic, being discussed by Miss Louise Bernard and Miss Grace Ely, both of the bureau.

Citing that quality has not been sacrificed in the price decline, Mr. Craig declared:

"It is hard for some consumers to realize that quality has been maintained. They cannot believe that the article formerly priced at $39.50 today is available at $29.50. Along with the price decline department stores also have progressed in service.

"Through the use of part-time sales persons, better attention is being given to the customer at the rush hours. The added help is available generally from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m., when the greatest number of customers shop. And through retail training, the sales persons are being equipped to better serve the customer."

SLATER, SPIRITUALIST LEADER, ACQUITTED IN TRIAL HERE

NOT FORTUNE TELLER, JURY DECIDES

Court Costs Put on Accuser After Lecturer Crosses Continent to Face Charge

John Slater, 72-year-old lecturer in the Spiritualist church in San Franciso and a national leader in the church, was on his way back to the Pacific coast city today, acquitted of a charge of fortune telling in Pittsburgh.

He answered a subpena and came across the continent to stand trial in Criminal Court yesterday. A jury in Visiting Judge C. M. Culver's court freed him and placed the costs on the man who accused him.

Slater was charged by George Wallace, a cab driver of Charles street, North Side, with having given him a palm reading and charging him $3 for it May 22, while Slater was attending a convention of Spiritualists in the William Penn Hotel.

Wallace testified Slater advised him about a job he was considering, and told him to delay his contemplated marriage. Wallace said friends later told him he had been cheated out of his $3, and he made the information against Slater.

Slater told the jury he had never seen Wallace.

When Wallace was called before Judge Culver and ordered to pay the costs, the judge asked whether he had delayed his marriage. Wallace replied:

"No, I'm married now."

The judge commented:

CITY BACK TAX TOTAL RISES

be running only $148,848 behind last year. This made allowance for a ½ mill decrease in taxes in 1931 and a slight increase in delinquent tax collections.

The city tax rate on land has been increased from 19.5 mills in 1926 to 25.5 mills in 1931, an increase of 30.7 per cent. The expenditures of the city have been increased from $20,209,822 in 1925 to the estimated sum of $29,073,626 in 1931, an increase of 43.8 per cent.

TAX RISE STEEP

The rise in the tax rate has been very steep, and, with the exception of the slight decrease last year, has been uninterrupted. Under Mayor William A. Magee, Kline's predecessor, the tax rate was unchanged for four years and in 1925 a slight reduction was accomplished.

Annexation has added a considerable item to the city's expenses in recent years. Undeveloped suburbs entering the city have immediately demanded high standards of city service. However, the citizens of the newly-merged territories have been immediately called upon to foot the bill and assessments on their properties have been raised to meet the city standard.

Until recent years, the protests of civic organizations against high taxes have largely taken the form of polite co-operation. This attitude has changed, however, to angry determination. A speaker who recently told members of City Council that they should take a cut in salary if they could not reduce expenses was applauded vigorously by the taxpayers.

	Land Tax Millage	Delinquent Taxes	Expenditures
1926	19	$1,600,000	$17,783,408
1927	20	1,400,000	19,480,118
1928	20	1,141,418	18,284,415
1929	20	1,126,140	19,455,701
1931	19.5	1,272,524	20,209,822
1932	20.5	1,701,119	22,143,284

PITTSBURGH'S PARKS PRAISED BY ENGINEERS

Delegates Cite Conditions Here as Guide for Cities; Town Planning Studied

Pittsburgh's municipal parks demonstrate the advantages to be taken of topographic conditions and can be a guide for other cities, delegates to the American Society of Municipal Engineers' convention in the William Penn Hotel today were told by Francis J. Mulvihill, chief of the division of city planning and municipal engineering, Pennsylvania Department of Interal Affairs.

Recreational advantages of parks in aiding in the decrease of crime, delinquency of juveniles and better health were cited. Particular praise was given Frick Woods by Mulvihill, who declared one acre of park for each 100 population is the recognized standard.

The afternoon was devoted to sightseeing trips to steel plants and points of interest. A second session will be held tonight. Three engineers will receive the annual Greeley Veterans' Award medals at the banquet Wednesday night.

Those receiving the awards, based on service to one community consecutively for 25 years, will be James H. Dingle, of Charleston, S. C.; E. A. Dutton, Minneapolis; and Robert Hoffman, Cleveland.

'Skeleton' Hurt By Frightened Constable

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 20.—Five skeltons, very much alive, came to grief here. Attired in skin-tight suits on which bones had been painted with a phosphorescent material, the five Elizabeth boys started out to frighten "spooners" parked in country lanes.

Some lively scenes resulted and the group was having the merriest time when they came upon a lone individual repairing a flat tire.

Said the ghosts:

"Boo."

The individual said:

"Scram."

When the boy recovered he and the four other skeletons were bound for the police station.

TOURISTS VIEW PLANTS HERE

Official representatives of 21 Latin-American countries today were completing a two-day inspection tour of local industrial plants and points of interest.

The party, consisting of 45 industrialists and business men, were delegates to the fourth Pan-American Commercial Congress at Washington last week. Trips to the Woodlawn plant, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, H. J. Heinz plant, Cathedral of Learning and United States Bureau of Mines were to be made. The group will dine tonight at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club as guests of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. The party leaves for Akron tomorrow morning.

3 GIVEN TERMS FOR FAKE CASH

Terms of two years and six months each in Atlanta Penitentiary for counterfeiting $10 banknotes were imposed yesterday by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson on James E. Bova, 30, of 2604 Pioneer avenue; Arthur J. Korbe, 25, of 2124 Spring street, and Alfred J. Lux, 28, of 142 South Nineteenth street. The three pleaded guilty.

They were arrested August 18, when W. A. Landvoigt, United States Secret Service operative in charge of the Pittsburgh district, led a raiding squad to the home of Lux and seized a "plant" for making the spurious notes. The secret service operatives had the place under surveillance for six weeks before they crashed it and found the three men at work.

Bova was a barber with a shop at 95 South Eighteenth street; Korbe, an engraver, and Lux, a mechanic.

Sterzelezaka, of 4623 Plummer street, in West Penn Hospital told police he had been attacked and robbed of $8 by four men at Forty-seventh street and Eden way early today.

How One Woman Lost 47 lbs of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at druggists the world over. Take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lost fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

Local Druggists Supplied With Free Sample Packages Of Two New Vick Products

Desire of Makers That Every User of Vicks VapoRub Have a Free Trial of New Vicks Nose and Throat Drops and Vicks Medicated Cough Drops.

RESULT OF RESEARCH

REDUCES "COLDS-TAX"

A quarter century ago Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern and better method of treating colds — externally. Now, Vick Chemists develop a new preparation—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea in preventing colds. A perfect ally to VapoRub, it makes possible the new Vick Plan for better Control of Colds in the home—and further reduction of the family "Colds-Tax."

Here is the Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts.

On exposure to colds or any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—(crowded indoor places—stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold) — that slow down the normal functioning of the nose, Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds"—use Vicks Drops promptly. Or, if a cold actually threatens—when you feel that first stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—When a Cold Strikes.

Use the convenient Vicks Drops during the day—anytime, any place—as often as needed for comfort and relief. At bedtime, rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bedclothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. This Vick Plan gives you a full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, you will like another new Vick product—Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

Trial Packages Free.

In order that every user of Vicks VapoRub may try the two new Vick products now being introduced, a supply of free trial packages of each has been sent to every druggist in the United States. Go to your druggist today and ask for yours. If, by any chance his supply is exhausted, send us the top of a Vicks VapoRub carton—or coupon from the VapoRub directions folder — and we will mail free samples direct to you, together with a folder on the new Vick Plan for Control of Colds in the home. Address Vick Chemical Co., 1001 Milton St., Greensboro, N. C.

EAGER TO TELL ABOUT HER STOMACH

"I want to tell others about my experience with Pape's Diapepsin," says Mrs. B. Eastman, 1200 California St., Denver, Colo. "I tried a lot of things for my indigestion, but none of them did any good. Then a friend persuaded me to take a few tablets of this wonderful preparation.

"Now I even eat cabbage without any distress afterwards. It used to cause real suffering. I am not nearly so nervous as I used to be; feel much stronger and better in every way."

A medicine must have real merit to bring forth enthusiastic statements like this. And when not one, but hundreds, even thousands, are telling the same story of success, there seems no reason to doubt the day-in and day-out reliability of Pape's Diapepsin to help stomach sufferers.

WILL THEY HAVE GOOD TEETH?

THE CARE you give your children's teeth at the start is of vital importance in after years. Take them to the dentist at regular intervals. And between these visits, don't let them risk damage to their growing teeth and gums with harsh abrasives, bleaches or astringents. See that they use a safe dentifrice.

How will you select such a dentifrice?

Squibb's is as modern as modern dentistry. It is made with more than 50% Milk of Magnesia, a product used and recommended by dentists everywhere, in the care of teeth and gums.

Children, as well as their elders, enjoy using Squibb Dental Cream. It cleans beautifully, and leaves such a pleasant, refreshing taste. Make Squibb's your family dentifrice today.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

The Nixon, as usual, attracted a large number of the faithful first-nighters last night to see "The Admirable Crichton." Neil Stuart Zang was there, wearing a charming frock of very deep copper-colored chiffon having a cape collar bordered by two ruffles. Mrs. Arthur P. Woolfolk was chatting in the foyer, wearing a gown of white satin, and I noticed Mrs. Samuel Hazlett Church and Mrs. E. V. Babcock, who was wearing a gown of black georgette with a knee-length wrap of black velvet.

Suzanne Trimble was in the foyer. Mrs. John W. Lawrence entered the theater with Mrs. William Terrill Johnston. Mrs. Lawrence was wearing a gown of flowered crepe with a wrap of black and silver lame, and Mrs. Johnston chose white crepe with a lame wrap.

An interesting gown of paisley print crepe was chosen by Mrs. John F. Walton with a jacket of green crepe having a narrow band of squirrel around the neckline. Mrs. J. Shirley Austin was among the audience, wearing black and her sister, Mrs. Sidney Stuart, chose black lace. Harriet Ramsburg was charming in black velvet, having two wide flounces of the same material, adding fullness to the skirt. She wore a long coat of black velvet. Mrs. H. C. May, Jr., wore black velvet, too, and a matching wrap. Mrs. Jack Bailey chose rose-beige lace and tulle for her gown and Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby was stunning in black with a long wrap of black velvet furred with white fox.

"Meet Mr. Sister" is attracting folks to the Alvin this week.

MISS COBURN ADDRESSES AD CLUB

MISS JULIA COBURN

Mrs. Gilchrist, president of the Woman's Advertising Club of Pittsburgh, welcoming the club's speaker at the luncheon at Kaufmann's.

MRS. MARTINA GILCHRIST

Miss Coburn is director of the fashion bureau for Hearst Newspapers, came to Pittsburgh upon an invitation to address the Advertising Club.

Fashion Shelves Its High Hat, Expert Says

Fashion was once high-hat, but it has come down the ladder and has become available to many people, Miss Julia Coburn, fashion director for the Hearst newspapers, told the Women's Advertising Club and its guests (among them a number of men) at luncheon in Kaufmann's yesterday.

The principle of fashion can operate in a $1.95 dress as well as in one costing $195, Miss Coburn went on to say in her absorbing talk on "This Business of Fashion," a highly intelligent common-sense talk, charming in its informality and made interesting even to the few "outsiders" who were among the 120 persons present.

The fashion business is becoming scientific, Miss Coburn observed, and one need no longer consider price as fashion's criterion. Indeed, the speaker observed, that store is to be complimented that presents a good copy of an expensive article.

Ideas Changed

A great deal of her talk was "shop" and concerned displays (these are simple but dramatic), selling (things people want and not what they may be persuaded to want are to be featured) alert merchandising, fashion appeal in merchandising, "flops" and "winners" and elimination of the in-between "perhapses."

Fashion is no longer a racket, it has got down to essentials, has become a business, and has had to learn to pay its way, Miss Coburn summed up.

The speaker was introduced by A. C. Rankin, Sun-Telegraph advertising director, who was presented by Mrs. Martina Gilchrist, president of the club.

Miss Marie Miller Weds Walter Theodore Bauer

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Marie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Miller, of Detroit, formerly of Swissvale, to Walter Theodore Bauer, of Millvale, which was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in Millvale.

The bride wore a gown of brown transparent velvet with a matching hat, and a corsage of tea roses. Miss Gertrude Diebold, also of Millvale, was her only attendant, and wore a pale blue crepe dress with a matching hat, and a corsage of pink roses and daisies. Francis Gilmour, a nephew of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, a dinner and reception were given in the home of Mrs. Charles Hasley, sister of the bridegroom, in Millvale. Mr. and Mrs. Bauer will be at home in Millvale after November 1.

COLORED WOOLENS FAVORED FOR EVERY DAILY ACTIVITY

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph,

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Wool is leading a colorful existence these days. Not only does it go everywhere, even to the nicest afternoon affairs, but it adds gaiety to life by breaking out in bright tones. When woolens became supple, light and fine, they went out of mourning, shed their blacks and blues and blossomed forth in dashing reds, greens and other bright colors. And so now we see frocks and ensembles in almost shrieking colors, and they look good, even better than silk frocks in the same shade would, for somehow the wool tones the color down and gives it a softer look, soft-pedals it, as it were. And so women who used to wear woolen only in its utility weight and color are now taking enthusiastically to woolen frocks of the brightest color, or colors, for wool goes in as enthusiastically for color contrasts, as does silk, and the result is all to the good.

* * *

SCHIAPARELLI can always be relied on to do the right thing by neat ensembles that are good for country and town and she is most successful with the costume shown here. It is angora wool jersey in a soft raspberry shade. As the Eton jacket dips in back and is attached to the top of the skirt, at sides and back, a single garment is formed. The odd little hook-shaped clasps are in silvered metal and pass through small holes in the opposite edge of the jacket to close it. There are two shallow pockets at the top of the skirt.

* * *

COMEDY AND MUSIC :-: Operetta and Revival Of Barrie Play :-: AMUSEMENT NOTES :-: Reviews of New Pictures And Stage Chat

'The Admirable Crichton' Not So Admirable After 28 Years

By GEORGE SEIBEL

There's no use denying what was settled fully 28 years ago—that the admirable dramatist James Matthew Barrie wrote an admirable comedy in "The Admirable Crichton," which came to life again last night, like a healthy ghost, at the Nixon Theater, during a seance in which the admirable actor Walter Hampden and the admirable actress Fay Bainter were the mediums. No use denying it—and yet one may be permitted to have a few furtive and timid doubts.

George Seibel

What a joy this comedy was when William Gillette first presented it to a generation now sere and gray! How the whimsicality of it and the philosophy of it kindled a cheery glow in our hearts! What has happened since?

Well, that old cynic Bernard Shaw has revamped the political economy of the stage and that painfully truthful fellow Galsworthy has geared up the psychology. There's a Labor government in Great Britain and a Soviet republic in Russia. The world is not what it used to be. The Grimm Brothers are dead and Little Red Riding Hood is protected by a police dog.

Barrie's Arabian Nights tale doesn't fool anybody any more and his High Tory politics are as antiquated as an arquebus.

IT MOVES SLOWLY

The result is that the play ambles along leisurely style without giving out pulses a single surplus beat. It is not the fault of the actors, though the classical severity of Walter Hampden blends inefficiently with the humorous subtleties of Barrie. We should say that the Bill Crichton presented by Hampden would never have remained a butler very long. He might have adorned a soapbox in Hyde Park or a Nonconformist pulpit in Bloomsbury.

Fay Bainter also has some difficulty to simulate the stiffness and languor of her aristocratic role. There were times during the third act when she feels the impulse of love toward the Guy that her tender sweetness melted into a human mood, but during the first act especially she appeared to be groping for something lost on the long road of 28 years this play has traveled.

Sydney Greenstreet, who played the Earl of Loam also seemed unable to catch either the pathos or the sincerity that are required to make him somewhat credible. And if Effie Shannon did create an illusion as Lady Brocklehurst, it was because she has only a single scene and is cast in a role of the sort she has played superlatively since Clyde Fitch sent forth his family of snobs.

LIFE BELOW STAIRS

The representatives of life below stairs, including Esther Mitchell as Tweeny, who wanted to be wrecked on an island where you could be vulgar, and Vivian MacGill as the pompadourish lady's maid, were more effective than the "hupper suckles." Maurice Wells as Ernest seemed rather too airy and J. P. Wilson as Lord Brocklehurst rather too vacuous.

But there was a fine tropical moon which rose in full splendor at the close of the second act, just as if Crichton had been reading a nautical almanac instead of Henley's Poems.

For the sake of that moon, and the gentle humor of J. M. Barrie, and the sterling dramatic gifts of Walter Hampden, and the poetic grace of Fay Bainter, one should like to rave rapturously about "The Admirable Crichton" in his reincarnation. But it look as if the Karma of 28 years had been too much for the whimsicality and romance of old Thrums.

Not So Merry Is Vienna Picture

By MILDRED FILLMORE

With a title like "Die Lustigen Weiber von Wien" ("The Merry Wives of Vienna") for a musical film by the creators of the famous "Two Hearts in Waltz Time," one expects something particularly worth while at the new German Cinema, which is crowding them in on Liberty street. But this operetta is too silly to be very funny.

The great idea is a father who has 10 daughters. Why not a dozen? That would be 20 per cent funnier.

The 10 daughters, learning they are to have a stepmother, run off and form a ballet. The father goes to his superior in the ministry in order to resign, and the pair wind up in the cabaret where the girls are dancing.

The oglings and amorous ecstasies of the elderly official furnish most of the comedy. There also is a dancing master who falls on the polished floor and rips his unmentionables. It is all rather sad and the music not much better.

'Night Life in Paris' Bill in Academy

On view in the Academy, "Night Life in Paris," stars Georgia Sothern, brunette, whose singing and dancing are featured specialties. Harry (Boob) Meyers and Joe De Rita, are comedians of the piece and are aided by Al Baker and Les Spensler, as straight men. Spensler contributes individual specialties. Walter Wayne sings and dances. Beatrice Craig, Lillian Wayner, Marion Lee and Ann Valentine complete the list of principals.

In Revival

Mme. Schumann-Heink will come to the Alvin the week of November 2 in a revival of the comic opera, "The Mikado."

Davis' 'Tabu' Beats Its Honor

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Two pictures of feature-length proportions are now on display in the Davis. One is "Honor of the Family," a comedy drama. The other is "Tabu," a South Seas tragedy.

"Honor of the Family," based on the stage play of the same name, is satisfactory screen entertainment; that is, if you like farce and boudoirs. Of course, it is all quite sophisticated. And there is one episode that is a pretty suggestive bit even for the sophisticates.

GOLD-DIGGING LADY

The scene is after-the-war Hungary. The plot is about a gold-digging lady and her ex-soldier boy friend, who try to wheedle a fortune out of an old man. But old man's nephew, fresh from the Foreign Legion, arrives on the scene. He fights a duel and gets the lady for himself.

Bebe Daniels is the official star. But Warren Williams, as the he-man dueler and lady-beater from the Legion, walks away with the show.

However, it is "Tabu" that is the thing in the Davis. Here is a beautiful picture. It was made on the islands of Bora-Bora and Takapota in the Polynesia, the realm of pearls and tiara blossoms.

MONUMENT TO MAKER

The story is simple. It is that of a boy, who loves a girl, only to lose her forever when she goes back to the gods she has deserted and he goes to death in the deep Pacific.

It is acted by an all-native cast, with the girl, Reri, seen here in the "Follies," in the leading role. There is no dialogue, but it is presented with appropriate musical accompaniment.

"Tabu" remains a fitting monument to its maker, F. W. Murnau. It was on the night that he put the finishing touches on the production that he met his death in an automobile accident.

CATHOLIC RITES TO AID RELIEF

Catholic churches, schools and institutions throughout the diocese of Pittsburgh will observe an all-day adoration of the blessed sacrament Sunday. The date chosen is the feast of Christ the King, a comparatively new feast day in the Catholic Church.

The observance will bring special appeals for the relief of unemployment, following the request of Pope Pius XI in a recent encyclical.

Bank Receiver Shot; Found With Note

WESTON, W. Va., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Charles R. Carter, 50, of Huntington, receiver for the National Exchange Bank which closed here recently, was found shot and probably fatally wounded in the basement of the bank today.

'Meet My Sister,' Musical Comedy in Alvin, Much Enjoyed

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

For a long time there has been in use a phrase that describes this thing or that thing as a thing "that is different." Well, the phrase is really applicable to "Meet My Sister," musical play that delighted an Alvin audience last night. And that calls for another bromide, "the audience was small but appreciative." Much smaller in number than the merit of the "different" musical play deserved but really quite expansive in the matter of expressing approval.

"Meet My Sister" is different because it is a real comedy and because it has real music, with real singers, but no chorus, no dancing ensemble, no girly-girly atmosphere. Just music and comedy—with a Cinderella theme turned around. The Cinder person is a male—a Cinder-Eric—with blue eyes and a winning smile and a Teutonic accent, and a plebeian taste in the matter of life. And the poor little rich girl has just as difficult a time making the romance click as the rich lad has with the poor girl in the usual type of musical comedy.

SHOWN IN FLASHBACK

It all opens with a prologue in a divorce court, with a young countess and her husband each intent in having the marital ties cut. As Cinder-Eric—really a poor young professor of psychology—begins to tell his story, there comes the familiar movie device, the flashback, which reveals how the romance was developed. Two acts of that, then an epilogue in which the judge decides that the young folk love each other, and adjourns the case for six months, with the certainty that the postponement is forever.

Nancy McCord is the countess and a good singer. Walter Slezak is the Cinder-Eric and a good singer also. Their romance is fermented in the home of the countess, wherein the professor is employed as a librarian much in awe of his employer, who is unable to break down his reserve. So she pretends she has a sister who has renounced her noble state in life and has gone to work in a town in which the librarian is to take a position in an academy. She gives him a ring to take to her nonexistent sister and, of course, is there to receive it when he shows up.

He is not in awe of "sister," as you probably have guessed, but the deception, revealed after marriage, leads to the divorce court. The comedy is developed through the diffidence of Prof. Eric, a silly ass marquis, supposedly the fiance of the countess, a sputtering German type of shopkeeper, supposedly the employer of "sister," into whose employ the countess buys her way, and the real clerk in the establishment.

Harry Welsh is the sputtering shopkeeper who causes many laughs. Peggy O'Neil is the clerk, and attends to the dancing end in good style, with some assistance from the comic opera marquis, Gerald Oliver Smith. Donald Brown, James Martin, Pearce Hughes, Katherine Skidmore and Boyd Davis complete the efficient cast—possibly the smallest ever seen in a complete musical comedy.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Our theaters are getting the jump on attractions. They will jump clear over next week for bills to succeed the current programs. Following "Meet My Sister" into the Alvin will be "The Mikado," with Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, coming November 2 for a week of nites and a brace of afternoons. Tickets will be on sale next Monday.

"No, I don't have 'nerves.' You can't have them, and hold this sort of position. My head used to throb around three o'clock, and certain days, of course, were worse than others.

"Then I learned to rely on Bayer Aspirin."

The sure cure for any headache is rest. But sometimes we must postpone it. That's when Bayer Aspirin saves the day. Two tablets, and the nagging pain is gone until you are home. And once you are comfortable, the pain seldom returns!

Keep Bayer Aspirin handy. Don't put it away, or put off taking it. Fighting a headache to finish the day may be heroic, but it is also a little foolish. So is sacrificing a night's sleep because you've an annoying cold, or irritated throat, or grumbling tooth, neuralgia, neuritis. These tablets always relieve. They don't depress the heart, and may be taken freely. That is medical opinion. It is a fact established by the last twenty years of medical practice.

Labor's Reward for Suffering: Shorter Hours; Why Industry Must Adopt This Course

By B. C. FORBES

UNEMPLOYMENT WILL give birth to more jobs than this country has ever yet known.

B. C. Forbes

Working hours will be reduced.

Already a number of very important companies have adopted six-hour working shifts, several hundred organizations have introduced the five-day week, and the whole tendency is toward curtailing work hours.

EDISON FOUR YEARS ago was asked:

"Do you think the five-day week possible generally, and desirable?"

He replied:

"As the introduction of automatic machinery becomes general, it will be compulsory, to prevent over-production with all its evils."

HENRY FORD, who long ago adopted the five-day week, in an interview declared:

"The five-day week has been a success in our business and it is here to stay. It will spread eventually to industry generally. I am sure it will be a success everywhere. It will give the people more chance to use up what they produce. The five-day week means more time for play and pleasure and the use of mechanical products.

"It will be a boon to business by creating a demand for more products."

THE NATIONAL Industrial Conference Board, after exhaustive investigation into the experiences of concerns operating on the five-day week even before the panic, returned this verdict:

"The disadvantages appear to have been outweighed by the advantages derived. The preponderance of opinion in favor of the five-day week schedule indicates that in most plants reporting it has commended itself to both management and working force."

EXPERIENCE HAS proved that in a majority of instances the output per worker per hour and per day is substantially increased when the length of the work-day or work-week has been shortened. In not a few cases total production has been maintained or even increased after voluntary cutting of the working hours.

Many employers have thus lost nothing by their progressive move but have actually gained—in profits, in loyalty, in satisfaction.

PLANTS WHICH operate continuously have been turning their attention to the six-hour day instead of a five-day week, as a feasible alternative. Instead of employing three eight-hour shifts, they have begun experimenting with four shifts.

Sufficient experience to permit of definite conclusions regarding results has not yet been acquired; but, so far as has been made known, the outcome has been satisfactory. It is said several large organizations mean to make the six-hour shift permanent.

AT LEAST until very recently, the main consideration in fixing the length of the work day and work week usually has been the probable effect upon balance sheets.

Has not the time come, however, when another consideration of transcending importance must be taken into the reckoning?

Is not the successful preservation of our whole social, industrial, economic system of paramount moment? This can be achieved only if the existing order can be so molded as to provide employment for an adequate number of workers.

IF THE HUMAN race is to benefit to the maximum by the inventions of Edison, of our scientists, our research wizards, our fertile-brained chemists, our unprecedented genius for creating labor-saving machinery and mass production, surely one chief, logical benefit must be the lightening of human burdens, the reducing of necessary toil, the advent of a greater measure of leisure.

THE PRESENT serious evil of unemployment will hasten the further emancipation of wage earners from long work hours. When prosperity returns, as it inevitably will, there will be welcome additional worktime for millions now employed only on part time; but there will not be a return to pre-panic hours. The trend is, as it should be, toward the seven-hour and six-hour day in many businesses and toward the five-day week in many others.

Thus will labor obtain some compensation for the heavy price the panic has inflicted upon it.

RAIL WAGE CUT WON'T SOLVE PROBLEM

Savings on Workers' Pay But Small Per Centage Of Losses on Traffic

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Rails have been focusing the temblors of financial uncertainty seismographed by the stock and bond markets. Neither increase in freight rates nor cut in wages can immediately restore the carriers' earning capacity. What they need, like most other forms of industry, is return of the high volume of business lost during the last two years. This loss, represented in car loading of revenue freight from January 1, 1930 to October 3, 1931, amounted to 11,756,149 cars.

From 1924 net class I railroad operating income—which means the balance after paying operating expenses and taxes—steadily held above $1,000,000,000 until 1930. In 1929 it amounted to $1,274,595,403. In 1930 it dropped to $885,001,325. During the first half of this year came a further big decline. For that period net operating income was only $238,550,140, compared with $377,379,212 for the corresponding period in 1930.

Out of net operating income must be paid fixed charges which include interest on bonds.

RAISE INSUFFICIENT

Railroads estimate that increase of 15 per cent in freight rates would provide additional revenue of $400,000,000. This sum, even if so big an increase in rates were granted, would not be sufficient to lift railroad earnings back to the average level maintained from 1924 up to 1930. The effect of a smaller increase is easily estimated.

It has been assumed that if no increase were granted, the railroads would attempt to obtain a cut in wages. Furthermore, it seems to have been supposed in many quarters that a reduction of 10 per cent in wages would effect a larger saving in cost of operation than the amount of additional revenue that would be brought about by a 15 per cent raise in freight rates. This is not the case.

WORKERS' RANKS CUT

The average number of class I railroad employes during the first six months of 1931 was 1,306,654. The number has never exceeded 2,000,000 except during 1920, the year the railroads were returned to private management by the government. Then it was 2,022,832, and average annual compensation was at the peak of $1,820.12.

In 1929 the average number of employes was 1,660,850; average compensation, $1,744.03. During the first six months of this year average compensation has been $1,678.20, a drop at the rate of $65.83 annually. From 1929 to the present there has been decided increase in "real" wages because of larger dollar purchasing power caused by decline in the cost of living.

WAGE SLICE NO AID

This is the basis on which railroads found proposals for wage reduction.

It is not always made clear, however, that a cut of 10 per cent in wages now would not come anywhere near offsetting loss in railroad earnings. Such a cut would result in an annual saving of only about $219,000,000 on the basis of the number of employes and their wages last June.

Washing Machine Sales Show Gain

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—The biggest month's sales in three years was reported today by the American Washing Machine Manufacturers' Association.

The September sales exceeded the best month of 1929 by 2 per cent and the best month of 1930 by 9 per cent. They were 11.5 per cent above September, 1930, and 18.9 greater than in August, 1931.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

United States Liberty and Treasury obligations reflected greater confidence than in more than a week.

Public utility and industrial obligations scored many of the widest advances among domestic corporate issues.

STOCKS, BONDS PUSH UPWARD VIGOROUSLY

Rail Issues Lead Advance, But Others Soon Join In Forward Movement

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP.)—Both stocks and bonds pushed forward with renewed vigor today.

The drying up of liquidation during the recent period of hesitancy, and signs of renewed confidence in this market abroad, were generally regarded in brokerage and banking quarters as the basis of the new upturn.

Rails led the advance in shares in the early trading, but were soon joined by other groups. There was an average rise of about 3 points in leading issues by early afternoon. Issues up 4 to more than 6 included American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Case, Eastman, New York Central, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. A wide assortment of shares gained 2 or more, including United States Steel, American Can, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, North American, Westinghouse, Electric Power and Light, Stone and Webster, Union Carbide, and Dupont. Trading was fairly lively in the morning, but quieted down after midday.

Renewed purchases of bankers acceptances in this market by the Bank of France were interpreted as indicating that the recent flurry of irresponsible rumors abroad, together with bear attacks on the dollar, had subsided.

Call money held at 2½ per cent, but was available in the outside market at 2. There was scarcely any business in time money against stock exchange collateral, but the rate was pushed up 1 point to 4 per cent for all maturities. Federal funds—excess balances of member banks at the reserve—were again easier, ruling at ¼ to ½ of one per cent, against ½ to ¾ yesterday.

In connection with the recent strength in wheat, Wall street heard rumors of prospective arrangements to sell grain to France and Germany.

Foreign copper producers arriving in New York today for the International Copper Conference scheduled for later in the week, expressed themselves as sympathetic toward plans to curtail output.

The upturn in the securities markets took Wall street somewhat by surprise, since brokers have been inclined to look for a period of quiet and stable fluctuations. While observers were inclined to feel that there was some professional bidding up of stocks at the start, brokers said that the advance attracted a good following.

GRAIN PRICES TEND DOWN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. — Grain prices tended downward early today after an irregular start. Unexpected lower wheat quotations from Liverpool, ascribed to surprising changes in sterling rates, had a bearish effect, despite frost reports from Argentina. Opening at ½ cent off to ½ up, wheat later sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼ advance and subsequently declined.

No damage by the frosts in Argentina was reported, but it was stated that if they spread northward serious injury to wheat would be probable. On the other hand, Liverpool stocks of wheat continued to increase, totaling 5,768,000 bushels larger than a year ago. Continental European stocks were also reported as larger than at this time last year.

Moderate rallies from inside figures in wheat accompanied persistent commission house small-lot buying of future deliveries.

Texans Hold Cotton For Higher Prices

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 20.—Following announcement from New Orleans of the proposed plan to hold 7,000,000 bales of cotton off the market with co-operation of southern bankers, the Federal Farm Board and the co-operatives the holding movement by Texas farmers is gaining momentum. About 40 per cent of the Texas cotton ginned to October 10—roughly 2,500,000 bales—is being held for a higher price.

CONSUMERS CAN BE AIDED IN 3 WAYS

Stabilized Work, Federal Program and 6-Hour Day Held Solution of Relief

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—In their anxiety to bolster up the situation, administration officials and bankers sometimes mistake symptoms of depression for underlying causes. For example, there is considerable current talk concerning steps to aid the bond market.

Fundamental aid will consider the consumer. He can be helped in three ways.

Mr. Rukeyser

First, if corporation heads will emulate Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, who has stabilized employment in his company for six months, gainfully employed workers will be less fearful about spending.

Secondly, if the Federal government, through a vast extraordinary public works program, provides work for millions of unemployed, the effective consuming power of the public will be enhanced.

Thirdly, private industry can further lessen unemployment by following the example of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Company and others in the chemical industry of spreading work among a larger number of persons through adoption of the six hour day.

REMEDIES NEEDED

If remedies which go to the causes of depression are applied, and there is some success in turning the business situation upward, then the pressing financial problems will to a degree solve themselves. As soon as the earnings of corporations show prospects of improving, there will be an improved spontaneous demand for bonds. Hoarding will be diminished when the timid and the anti-social recognize that more normal conditions have enabled marginal banks to operate safely.

The disturbed confidence in banks, resulting from bank suspensions, emphasizes that in the past the Federal government and the various states have been too free in issuing bank charters. The mistakes of the weak have disturbed confidence, but sophisticated observers know that the well managed banks are at present extraordinarily liquid and are fully capable of meeting their commitments.

BIG BEER REVENUE

The chief economic effect of a legalization of beer, according to a nonpolitical survey by the Standard Statistics Company, would be a psychological lift. It estimates that Treasury receipts from legalized beer might approach $250,000,000 a year. It states that the legalized liquor industry gave employment to slightly more than 250,000 persons before prohibition.

William Guggenheim, capitalist and brother of the president of the American Smelting and Refining Company, in a message to this column says:

"Your statement that the present governmental financial plan does not involve inflation, and is simply a belated attempt to check the uncontrolled and reckless deflation, deserves special attention. You are the only financial writer that has clearly pointed this out."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The curb contributed a moderately active rally to the general advance of security prices today.

All groups took part in the upward movement which established new highs for the October recovery in some issues. Utility favorites got good support.

The market's ability to break out of its rut on the upside encouraged traders who had been standing aside to await developments. A more active public participation was reported.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

STAR BACKS TO KEEP CARNEGIE BUSY

THE SQUAD OF 60 players to be brought to Pittsburgh by Purdue for the game with Carnegie Tech at the Stadium Saturday will include some of the best football material in the Middle West. There are 21 major lettermen and eight minor lettermen in the outfit. Though the team naturally misses such stars of 1930 as George Van Bibber and Horace Buttner, tackles; Howard Kissell and Lewis Pope, halfbacks, and George Stears, Jack Christman and Don Trimble, guards, experienced material is available for every position.

Ed Risk

An item that presages lots of trouble for Carnegie is the fact that eight backfield players who gained more than two-thirds of the entire yardage credited to the Boilermakers in their six Western Conference games last season, headed by the sensational Ed Risk, are again in harness. In those six games Purdue's offensive, on running plays from scrimmage, netted the remarkable average gain of 4.63 yards per play. In 331 attempts the ball carriers made a total gain of 1,533 yards.

AND THE EIGHT backs holding over this fall for Noble Kizer in his second season as head coach at Purdue show an even higher average gain, for on 219 attempts from scrimmage in 1930 these eight lugged the ball a total of 1,080 yards, an average gain of 4.90 yards per play.

Risk, who will be the main threat against Carnegie, was the leading ground gainer of the Big Ten last season, averaging 6.18 yards per play. Roy Horstman, fullback, averaged 6.07 yards; Jim Purvis, halfback, 4.06 yards, and Alex Yunevich, fullback, 3.22 yards. Jack White, veteran quarterback, and his able understudy, Fred Keegan, are among the other backfield men who have returned. The Skibos are likely to have plenty of trouble holding that offensive in check.

SHOWING THE REMARKABLE growth of football, Yale men have dug up some interesting figures of the old days. Against a gross revenue of $1,140,568 for the last fiscal year at New Haven, football in 1884 yielded only $5,600. That receipts at the Yale-Harvard game that year were $650.

When Yale went to Hanover to play Dartmouth, the trip cost $217 for the entire squad, including railroad fare and hotel bills. The training expenses for the squad were $25. The referee of the Yale Harvard game received $9.50.

SPORTSMANSHIP AND SENTIMENT continue strong at Lafayette, as always. The varsity players have made another nice gesture in standing by a stricken comrade and refusing to let an injury take away from him the honors of leadership. Despite the fact that during all of last season he had been unable to play on account of a broken leg suffered in the first game, Walter Vanderbush was elected captain for 1931. It was believed at the opening of the present season that he could get back in the lineup, but it developed that the broken leg had not healed properly and he is out for the remainder of the year. Finding that he would be unable to play, Vanderbush tendered his resignation as captain, but the members of the team held a meeting and unanimously refused to accept it.

Gus Suhr

NICK WILLIAMS, until recently manager of the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast League, is the man who discovered Paul Waner. Williams was scout for the Seals before he became manager in 1926, and picked up the elder Waner in 1923. After three seasons Paul was sold to Pittsburgh for $60,000.

Another member of the Pirate crew, Gus Suhr, was developed by Williams after the latter was made pilot. Among other young players turned out by Nick and sold to the majors were Vernon Gomez, Earl Averill, Frank Crosetti, Roy Johnson and Smead Jolley.

WILLIAMS DENIES THE statement given out by the San Francisco club officials that he resigned as manager. "I did not resign. I was fired," Nick said. I was called into the office and told I was fired. I asked why and was informed they did not like my personal habits.

"I was handed a statement to pass around to the effect that I had resigned. I tore it up. I did not resign. I was fired just two days after I had led the Seals to a pennant. I want all my friends to know I did not quit, but was fired with no notice."

BECAUSE THEY SUCCEEDED in getting Pitcher Bob Smith from the Braves last winter for Wes Schulmerich, Bill McAfee and a roll of currency, the Cub bosses appear to believe that they have only to pull out the old checkbook in order to acquire more slab strength from the same source. Rumor has them now seeking not only Ed Brandt, but Fred Frankhouse, as well. They are likely to find that their money will not go as far as they thought it would.

MANAGER BILL McKECHNIE is aiming to build up the Boston club, not to tear it down, and he is not selling any valuable players for cash, though, like any other smart pilot, he is always willing to consider a trade whereby he might strengthen his team. The Bruins would have to offer some high-class playing material to induce him to part with any of his men.

Incidentally, Cub officials may hear some pointed remarks at the National League meeting in December, as several of the other magnates are known to resent public announcements that the Chicago club is after this or that player. They hold that it breeds discontent and amounts practically to tampering with another club's athletes.

WHILE VICTORIO CAMPOLO, by knocking out Ralph Ficucello in the eighth round last night, was advancing another step in his campaign to re-establish himself among the ranking heavyweights, Tommy Loughran continued his cleaning up by winning the decision over Johnny Risko.

There was nothing surprising about Loughran's latest victory, as he had figured to beat Risko without trouble, but it draws attention again to the fact that Tommy is being compelled to keep working among the lesser lights when he has clearly earned another chance at one of the so-called big shots. If there is any trailing heavyweight except Primo Carnera whom Loughran has failed to defeat since Jack Sharkey knocked him out the name does not readily come to mind. It's high time they were letting him re-enter the title circle.

Tony Canzoneri

JIMMY JOHNSTON, as Madison Square Garden's new boxing supervisor, didn't lose any time in booking for New York fans one of the most attractive cards possible in the lighter classes. He has landed a sure-enough natural in matching Tony Canzoneri to defend the world lightweight title against Kid Chocolate in a 15-round bout on November 20. It's a hard job that Chocolate undertakes, and he may not be quite equal to it, but before victory goes either way there is in prospect one of the best numbers seen in a long time in any of the little divisions. Canzoneri, in addition to proving himself a fighter of parts, is showing the other title-holders how a champion ought to conduct himself. This will be the third time he has defended his crown since he won it from Al Singer last November 14.

WILKINSBURG SETS PACE FOR LOCAL TEAMS

By JULIUS LEVIN

With the elimination of Charleroi, Beaver Falls, Ford City, McDonald, East Pittsburgh and Monessen, the field of contenders for the W. P. I. A. L. football championship shows another marked reduction this week.

Clairton, as a result of its impressive victory over Charleroi last Saturday, stands out as one of the most powerful elevens in the district and next Saturday will attempt to add its fifth straight triumph over the undefeated Monongahela High team, coached by Tuffy McMillan, former Wilkinsburg and Pitt star. Monongahela won its fourth in a row by defeating Trinity.

WILKINSBURG LEADS

Wilkinsburg is the pacesetter in the Greater Pittsburgh District with four victories and no defeats, Edgewood being right at its heels with three victories without a setback.

Freeport, New Kensington and Springdale are running neck-and-neck in the Allegheny Valley. Freeport shows five wins and no losses, New Kensington four victories and no defeats, and Springdale three victories and no losses.

Jim Hudson's Braddock eleven has moved into the lead among the schools in the Turtle Creek Valley with two victories and two ties. Braddock ousted Johnny Coleman's East Pittsburgh team from the lead by handing that team its first setback last Saturday.

STOWE IN FRONT

Stowe Township, under the guidance of Coach Ted Marnen, is the leader in the Panhandle district with four victories and one tie. Burgettstown being second with three wins and no defeats.

Six teams are undefeated in the Monongahela Valley. Clairton is the real leader with five victories, Washington, Monongahela and McKeesport each have four, while California and South Union boast three apiece.

Coach Lomond's powerful Midland aggregation is the standard-bearer of the Beaver Valley schools with five victories and no defeats. The Crucibles removed the only barrier to their climb to first place last Saturday by defeating Beaver Falls. Ambridge is second with four victories and one tie.

Greensburg is the lone undefeated team in Fayette and Westmoreland counties, having won five in a row. Sharon sets the pace in the Shenango Valley with four victories and no defeats, while Altoona is the leader in the Conemaugh Valley with five and none. The records of the district schools follow:

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE FLATTEST THING IN THE WORLD—The optical glass produced in a Camden Town factory, London, England, has been called the most perfect in the world by eminent physicists in the science of glass-making, and the firm has acquired a monopoly of such things as "echelon" gratings and other optical apparatus requiring perfect optical surfaces. In order to test a surface for flatness, it is laid upon a "proof-plate" of the required flatness and viewed by the light of the mercury lamp. Any irregularity of shape is immediately revealed by irregularities in the "Newton's ring" formed between the plates. The final testing apparatus is called the "phenika," which again uses interference fringes for discovering irregularities of optical thickness. The instrument maps out the slab in contour lines, the steps being a quarter wave-length of light, or about a 200,000th of an inch. An expert operator can gauge unevenness within a ten-millionth of an inch. The finished glass plates are used to build up echelon gratings for spectroscopic purposes and as flat mirrors in large Newtonian reflector telescopes and other optical apparatus requiring the formation of a perfect virtual image. THE BOOK OF WEALTH—The Book of Wealth, by H. H. Bancroft, the American historian, was published in 1902, only 150 copies being printed in an edition de luxe, called by the publishers the "Black Swan" edition. The book sold at $2,500 a copy, a record in publishers' prices for all times.

TOMORROW—THE ONE-ARMED MAN WHO BUILDS HOUSES ALONE.

PITT ELEVEN WORKS HARD FOR IRISH

By JESS CARVER

It is remarkable, the degree of equanimity possessed by this fellow Bob Waddell. He's been coaching out there at Carnegie Tech now for almost y'ars and y'ars, and he's always the same. Win or lose, Robert N. always has a smile on his phiz.

Hooks Sample

Robert is very carefully preparing his Tartans for their game this week with Purdue. The Boilermaker contest figured to be tough from the start, but now that Wisconsin has erased the noble Hoosiers from the unbeaten list, it will be tougher than ever. Purdue, the remembrance of the manhandling of Saturday still rankling in mind, out to do perfectly terrible things to Mr. Waddell's and Mr. Steffen's and Mr. Overend's boys, who are none too strong this fall, either. Strong men will grit their teeth and women and children will faint—or should.

The Skibos have been resting since their game 10 days ago with Georgia Tech. The cripples have had opportunity to mend, and the entire squad is rounding into fine physical trim.

WATCH SAMPLE

A gent who is very likely to cause Purdue a troublesome afternoon is Hooks Sample, the hefty guard. Hooks played a whale of a game against Wash-Jeff and repeated against Georgia Tech.

Purdue, despite its defeat by Wisconsin, has a good ball club. Dress the Hoosiers up in blue or green and you'd think you were lookin' at Notre Dame. Noble Kiser has done a good job at Lafayette, and has some sweet running backs in Purvis, Risk, Horstmann and Pardoner. Purdue also sports a formidable aerial attack, the only factor that saved it from a shutout licking Sat'day.

THANKS, MISTER SOLEM

The Pitt coaching staff is considering sending Ossie Solem, Drake's mentor, a thank-you message for the cracks he made about Notre Dame and Pitt. Solem, after his team was kicked to pieces by the Irish, said he figured Notre Dame would beat Pitt with no trouble at all and by from three to five touchdowns.

Such a crack burnt the Panther squad up. It now is Jock Sutherland's job to keep 'em burnt up until late Saturday afternoon. Solem may have talked out of turn. He should be able to find plenty of money gents who will lay him hard cash on that five-touchdown remark.

What a workout Jock gave the squad yesterday! It was a wow! He used Luch at fullback and Cutri at quarter in the first backfield, with Collins and Hirshberg at the ends; Quatse and MacMurdo at the tackles and Daugherty at center, flanked by Morris and Milligan. Bob Hogan, the first-string quarterback, had late

BAMBINO TRIES NIGHT BALL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Night baseball gets a golden opportunity tonight at Wrigley Field when Babe Ruth comes under its magic spell in his second exhibition game for the benefit of the Marion Davies clinic for ailing children of disabled war veterans.

The stamp of approval by the king of swat might be the deciding influence in swaying big league owners into its adoption in the majors. Ever since after dark games became the rage in the minors there has been rumors in some quarters of the big time of owners seriously considering switching to after dark play. An encouraging report from the Babe might stimulate such plans.

On the other hand if Ruth should put thumbs down on the arc light style of play, night baseball will be doomed, if not by a majority of big league owners, at least by the moguls of the New York Yankees.

Tonight Leroy Herrmann, Angel righthander who reports to the Chicago Cubs next spring, will do the pitching for the Ruth All-Stars with Wilbur Peters, also of the Angel staff, performing for the team captained by George Burns.

PENN STAR WEDS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Word has been received here of the marriage of Harold W. Sander, former University of Pennsylvania basketball star, to Frances Rice, in Balboa, Canal Zone, Saturday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sander formerly lived in Madison, Wis., and were graduated from Penn last spring. They will live in Panama, where the bridegroom is an architect.

RINK OPENING DELAYED

The opening of Duquesne Garden for ice skating has been postponed until tomorrow night. Faulty mechanism in the ice-making plant caused the postponement.

BILL M'KECHNIE LIKES SHIRES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Bill McKechnie made the coffers bulge at Boston this year partly on account of the Maranville influence. And now Bill has plucked Arthur (Whataman) Shires, one of baseball's most appealing personalities, for his next campaign.

Art Shires

"I think Shires is quite a ball player," said McKechnie as he discussed his new firstsacker with this writer today.

"Art is no graceful greyhound around the bag," continued Bill, "but he is surehanded and a hustler. Moreover, he shapes up like a good batter; at least, that was the impression he made on me as I watched him play with Milwaukee before we purchased him."

Shires had a banner season with the American Association club. His bat was a high spot in the performances of his team, and he was an asset to the whole league, on account of his color and prestige. Paired up with Maranville, King Arthur should provide quite a show. Also, he will be a teammate of Catcher Al Spohrer, who finished second with Art when Shires was a boxer bold.

HAS DEALS ON

Skipper Bill admitted he had started negotiations looking toward an important deal or two, but, for obvious reasons, he did not care to go into details on these matters at this time. Premature publicity might spoil what already has been accomplished.

The Wilkinsburg citizen is determined to give Boston a winner. The fact that the Hub sport followers go in droves to The Wigwam proves he has given them an attractive club, but Bill wants more than appeal—he will leave nothing undone in his efforts to get the Braves in the flag race.

Besides the acquisition of Shires, McKechnie purchased Shortstop Bill Akers from the Kansas City club of the American Association. Akers also is a hustler and in many ways a fine prospect. He spent part of last season with the Detroit Tigers.

STRIVES FOR WALLOP

McKechnie is especially anxious to add punch to his club. He would give a lot for another

Selph Won't Play If He Can't Be With Houston

HOUSTON, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Carey Selph, Houston second baseman, drafted three weeks ago by the Chicago White Sox, is slated to confer here today with Lou Fonseca, new Sox manager, but Selph said he would not report to the major league club.

"I will play baseball only in Houston," Selph said. "This is my positive decision in the matter. I believe that when the White Sox realize I am sincere in this declaration, they will make no effort to force me to play with Chicago."

In addition to being a ball player of much ability, Selph is a hustling insurance agent. During the past two years he has built up a thriving business here.

LOCAL ATHLETE IS HONORED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 20.—Tom Slusser, former all-Pittsburgh scholastic football end in 1929 from Schenley High and Penn State's varsity end this year, recently was awarded the Tradition Hat, a battered old felt headpiece which stands as the symbol of the outstanding Nittany athletes during the last 10 years.

Tom Slusser

Although dirty and worn, this hat has an enviable history. Originating in 1920, it was first worn by Squeek Hufford and since that time it has been passed down every three years by the senior to the man in the freshman class who shows the most promise as an athlete during his first year in college.

Many of the names inscribed on the hat are already forgotten, but some will be remembered. Hap Frank, three-letter man in 1924, possessed the hat while the most recent wearer was Yutz Diedrich, captain of the football team last fall and a letter man on the varsity nine. Following his graduation, Diedrich selected Slusser as the most outstanding freshman to wear the hat for the next three years.

Slusser was selected because of his outstanding ability in four sports during his freshman year here. He played end on the gridiron, guard on the plebe quintet and held down an outfield post on the freshman baseball team. He gained his numerals in all three sports and in spare moments devoted some time to boxing. As a result he won the all-college intramural 160-pound fistic title and indications show that his college boxing career may almost equal his football attainments.

Seattle Hockey Players on Block, Club Out

SEATTLE, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—For sale—all players of the Seattle Hockey Club, of the Pacific Coast League.

Lloyd Turner, manager, has announced that all the Seattle Eskimos will be sold in wholesale lots, starting today. He said he was conferring with Hugh Caldwell, president, over prices and terms.

Caldwell said that unless Frank Patrick, Vancouver, would step out as president of the league, he would withdraw from the circuit.

Turner said Capt. (Red) Stuart and the veteran Jack Walker, forwards, will seek jobs as managers in minor Canadian circuits. The other players are to be sold with Gordon Savidge and Johnny Houbregs, defense stars, and Davie Kemp, goalie, likely to go to the big leagues.

Coach Walsh Hurt In Yale Practice

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Adam Walsh, Yale line coach was taken to the New Haven Hospital last night suffering from a torn ligament in the right knee, suffered while participating in a scrimmage with the second and third teams yesterday.

BENEFIT CARDED IN TUBE CITY

The third annual football game between the McKeesport Firemen and McKeesport Police, which will be played in the World War Memorial Field, McKeesport, on Thursday night of next week, will be staged for the benefit of the unemployed of the Tube City, instead of the Police and Firemen Pension Fund, as was the case in previous years.

The battle has created unusual interest throughout the Monongahela Valley and preparations have been made to handle a crowd of 15,000. The first game played between the two teams in 1929 resulted in a 6-6 deadlock, while the Police took the decision last season, 6-2.

Joseph Hopkins, a former Brownsville star, is in charge of the Police team. He will play at fullback. The team is staging daily workouts at Cycler Park. The Firemen are under the leadership of Stanley Doughty, former star independent halfback, and are holding their drills at Swimming Pool Park.

Hockey Players Refuse Contracts

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—Contracts offered three former Ottawa hockey players—Alex Connell, Alex Smith and Hec. Kilrea—by the Detroit Cougars are still unacceptable, the players said.

Interviewed, they said they would seek berths either with the Olympics of the International League or stay out of the game this winter unless Charles A. Hughes, president of the Detroit club, offered more favorable contracts.

OLYMPICS, BURNS TO CLASH

WEST VIEW PLAYERS IN SHAKEUP

By TOM BIRKS

Sandlot followers of the West Penn Independent Grid Conference will have another banner offering tomorrow evening, when the McKeesport Olympics clash with the Dan Burns club at Parnassus High School field.

Interest is running high and, with both clubs striving to keep up with the J. P. Rooneys, there is reason to feel both Managers Boyer and Cable will shoot to win.

Both teams apparently have hit a winning stride. After a shaky start, the Olympics revealed real form Sunday, beating Akron Awnings the first time since the teams started the annual clash.

Socks Reed had been priming the boys. Sullivan played a whale of a game in the line, which, by the way, upheld its reputation as a stone wall. The crack Buckeye outfit had the ball on the two-yard line, first and 10, and failed to make the grade.

BERKMAN SHINES

Stanley Berkman had the Burns club hitting on all cylinders last Wednesday against West View, and the New Kensington fans went home raving about Al Dunn's proteges.

Sunday, the Olympics visit West View, while Burns makes the trip to East Liverpool. McChesneytown also will play Burns next week at night.

The much-discussed shakeup at West View came last evening, Manager Paul Muzzio announcing that Politz, quarterback, Biggam, end, Brown, end, and Assistant Coach Whitey Dummer had been released.

Pat Scanlon has been named assistant line coach in place of Dummer. Since the Rooney game, then later the Burns contest, things have not been going right, and Muzzio has declared he will have a winner.

FOUR ARE SIGNED

Conti, a halfback, formerly of Villa Nova; Ray Burke, a Homewood boy, formerly of St. Vincent; Chuck Tully, former Pitt star, and Butla, of Latrobe, have been signed to bolster West View.

The J. P. Rooneys still hope to bring the New York Giants to Pittsburgh to meet the conference champion at Forbes Field on the eve of the Pitt-Army game.

The Rox Rangers play the Etna Sycamores at Sanders Field, Aspinwall, Thursday night, in what is expected to be a fine contest.

ST. VINCENT DRILLS

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 20.—After securing their first win over Cathedral in three years, the St. Vincent Bearcats began practice yesterday for their coming game Friday against Saxon. The season's victories and losses are now evenly divided and the tussle on Friday will mean a lot to the Bearcats.

PRACTICE SCHEDULED

The Millvale eleven, of Homewood, will hold a practice session on Turner Field tonight and all players are requested to report.

J. W. BARBER IN HOSPITAL

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

James W. Barber, of the Chartiers Heights Country Club, veteran treasurer of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, and recorder for Syria Mosque, is in St. Francis Hospital recovering from an operation now a week old.

Barber's condition is on the "up-and-up," however, and he is expected to be out of the hospital and back on the job before many days have passed.

Only two foursomes battled their way round the rather bare South Park county links yesterday in the opening day's shooting in the second helping hand tourney there.

ALCOMA CONFAB CARDED

The mixed foursome idea, at 18 holes, which is to continue until Saturday, is expected to draw a better entry as the week grows older, however. Professional Al McBride is accepting the entries at the first tee, and any man and woman can enter the interesting competition if they donate some sort of clothing to help keep warm this winter a child between the ages of 6 months and 6 years.

The annual meeting of the Alcoma Country Club is to be held on Friday night, and it is anticipated that Tom Nichols again will be elected president.

NEW GREENS BUILT

Greenkeeper Art Snyder has completed some very fast work at Alcoma. New greens are flourishing on the third, fourth, tenth and twelfth holes, and the twelfth green has been rebuilt entirely.

Tentative plans call for the professionals—which will include paid-to-play players from Western and Northern Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Western New York—to open the golfing season. Play will be 72 holes medal.

The women will play 36 holes of medal play—18 each day—with prizes going to the medalist and winners and runners-up in the second and third divisions.

Y. M. & H. A. Begins Handball Sunday

The Y. M. & W. H. A. of Pittsburgh will open its handball season Sunday at 3 p. m. when a team of eight men of the Baltimore Y. M. H. A. meets a similar squad of locals in six singles and four doubles matches on the Bellefield avenue courts.

George Nelson, star of the Marylanders, is the former national singles champion and runner-up in the nationals for the past three years, losing out in the final to Al Banuet, present national champion.

A special match is being arranged between Nelson and Theo Manos, Western Pennsylvania handball champion. Last May the local Y journeyed to Baltimore and lost seven out of eight matches.

Kirn to Return To Play Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Bullet Lou Kirn, Navy's ace halfback, will be back in action next weekend against Princeton, Head Coach Rip Miller has predicted. Kirn, who has been out because of injuries, will be able to play 10 or 15 minutes in the critical stages of the game, Miller said. His recovery, however, has not been as rapid as had been expected.

TONY DEFENDS TITLE NOV. 20

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Jimmy Johnston signalized his debut as director of Madison Square Garden's boxing affairs yesterday by closing negotiations for a 15-round match between Tony Canzoneri and Kid Chocolate for November 20, for the world lightweight championship, now held by Canzoneri.

Contracts will be signed Thursday, Johnston announced, after arranging a match that has been regarded for some time as a "natural."

The lightweight crown will be the chief prize at stake, but three titles will be taken into the ring. Canzoneri also holds the synthetic junior-welterweight championship. Chocolate is the junior-lightweight or 130-pound title holder.

Canzoneri may attempt to make this weight, so that all three titles will be at stake.

Field Day for Local Shooters Saturday

The South Hills Gun Club will be host at a field day Saturday. Running deer, rising bear and still targets are on the high power rifle competition program, and for the handlers of shot-guns there will be four contests of 25 birds each.

Cash prizes are to be awarded the winners in all events.

U. S. BOXERS BEATEN IN BERLIN

118 pounds—Hans Ziglarski, Munich, outpointed Mike Belloise, New York.

TOM CRAWLEY LOSES VERDICT

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 20. — (AP.)—Ernie Rainer, Silver Lake, won a 10-round decision over Tommy Crawley, Pittsburgh, in Laurel Garden last night. Both fighters weighed 133 pounds.

HERMAN FOLINS WINS

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 20.—Herman Folins, Ambridge (Pa.) lightweight, a last minute substitute for Benny Levine, scored a decisive win over Willie Garafola, of New York, in the 10-round main bout here last night. Folins was outweighed by 13 pounds.

LIONS CARD CHARITY GAME

STATE TO PLAY LEHIGH IN PHILLY

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Penn State and Lehigh will play a postseason football game at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, November 28, the net proceeds to go to the unemployed, Ralph D. Hetzel, president of Penn State, has announced.

By a plan suggested by Owen D. Young, the proceeds will be divided between the two colleges, to be disbursed by the presidents.

It was generally felt at Penn State the game should pave the way for regular football competition between the two schools. In 11 games played between 1889 and 1920, State won six, Lehigh four and one was tied. State won the last game 26 to 7.

BELMONT SIGNS WITH YAROSZ

After many days of haggling over a pound of flesh, the Jimmy Belmont-Ted Yarosz, local "natural" welterweight battle finally has been signed, sealed and delivered for Motor Square Garden next Monday night. The two young stars who thrilled the fans with their victories during the outdoor season, notably over Buck McTiernan, and have been laid up recently with injured right hands will scale in at 147 pounds, give or take a pound.

Jimmy Belmont

Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight puncher, of Elizabeth, and clever Billy Rose, of Cincinnati, will box the eight-round semi-final, a repeat number, Randall having scored a deserved but unpopular victory over Rose in a bout at the Meyers Bowl a few months ago.

Between Rounds

New York and New Jersey newspapers say Harry Carlton really defeated Tony Herrera in their 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden the other night, the fans booing down the decision for Herrera.

The card is complete for the Eddie Brandon-Lou Petrone show in McKeesport on Harrison night with the signing of Gene Campbell, of Ohio, and McKeesport, to box Chuck Zelnick, Clairport lightheavyweight, in the six-round opener. Lou Baghdaris, of Beaver Falls, tosses Leo (Kid) Wallace, of Youngstown, in the eight-round semi-final, and Wayne Barnhardt, of McKeesport, is the second bout. Wallace has boxed Chet Smallwood and Frankie Fox each three times and has a win in his record over Frankie Fox.

Jim McGirr, McKeesport promoter plans to hold his show next week on Wednesday night instead of Thursday, when the annual football game between the firemen and policemen will be staged for the benefit of the unemployed.

Sid Lampe boxes Johnny Lucas in Baltimore tomorrow night. Gorilla Jones battles Johnny Rogers and Sammy D'Dell meets Ray Van Horn in Akron the same night.

Sid Bilas, former New York lightweight, a youngster fight trained by Jimmy De Forest, the veteran trainer, is here and will box under the management of Jackie Lightning.

Other boxers ready for action in local rings are Young Chaney and Hans Roberts. Roberts has been employed at hard labor during the summer months and believes he is back to the old rugged form that made him a sensation around here a few winters ago.

Motor Square Garden is trying to make a Mickey Duris-Sammy Dorfman bout for one week from next Monday night. Johnstown wants Duris a home town boy, to box Eddie Brandon there three nights later.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. announces it will stage no more amateur boxing shows until next spring.

Fight Results

At Motor Square Garden—Frankie Wallace defeated Jackie Rodgers, 10 rounds. Charley Baxter defeated Johnny Dunn, 8 rounds. Young Ruiz and Phillie Cooper, 8 rounds, draw. Johnny Green won by technical knockout over Jimmy Demko, 1 round.

Jackie Rodgers Suffers Defeat at Garden

JACKIE RODGERS

WALLACE WHIPS RODGERS

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

That hollow sound you seem to hear today is the rattling shell of Jackie Rodgers. The onetime rugged local Negro featherweight thumper, pared down to a shadowy 118½ pounds, so that he was outscaled seven full pounds by his 18-year-old opponent, Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, ran into another stunning defeat in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden last night. The reverse was even more onesided than that handed him by Mose Butch at Hickey Park recently and had the fans singing his swansong as a main-bouter before the halfway mark was reached.

Rodgers won only one round, the eighth, and then when, in sheer desperation, he flung all caution to the winds and tore into his foe swinging both fists from the floor as a raw rookie of the ring might be expected to do when cornered. Wallace was hurt by the loaded-up blows, and fled in retreat throughout the round, but he weathered the storm, and it was Jackie's final gesture. The latter was through, and, in the last two rounds, he went back on the receiving end of a shellacking.

GOES THROUGH MOTIONS

With the exception of that eighth-round flurry, Jackie gave one the impression of a boxer simply going through the motions. Wallace was too shifty for him as he circled about, first to the left and then to the right, at times fighting from an orthodox stance and then shifting to southpaw and back again. The only thing Rodgers could do with any degree of success was to hammer him about the short ribs solidly with his right in the clinches. After a time, Wallace learned how to break the force of these blows with his arms and he had Rodgers at his mercy to win the unanimous decision all off by himself.

There is something radically wrong with Rodgers. Maybe it is his eye trouble. Perhaps it's something else, but he isn't the fighter he was. He's lost his judgment of distance, his vital fighting spark, much of his punch. He simply goes through the motions, as against the 18-year-old lad he was facing last night. Without detracting from the credit due Wallace for his pleasing fight, it is a fact that it is almost inconceivable that a man of Rodgers' former all-round ability could have slipped so far in such a short time.

BAXTER BEATS DUNN

Charley Baxter, of the North Side, 132½, outpointed Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, 128, in a fast eight-round semi-final, which saw two good boxers stabbing left hands into each other's faces and crossing rights to the head and body without a letup and seldom backing away. Baxter's heftier punch decided the issue. Dunn was making his first start in almost six months, following an operation for appendicitis, and did very well indeed.

Johnny Cooper, willing Negro welterweight, of Cincinnati, made a hit by slugging it out to a popular draw with Young Rudy, of Charleroi, 149, in the first eight-round bout. Judge Jimmy Beeson awarded him the decision, while Judge L. K. Meininger and Referee Al Grayber voted for a dead heat. It was a great fight, with Cooper winning the first two rounds, being shaded in the next five and coming on to fight Rudy off his feet in a hurricane closing rally in the final round.

TOWEL SAVES DEMKO

A fluttering towel from his seconds saved Johnny Demko, of Weirton, W. Va., 157, from further punishment after 2 minutes 50 seconds of the opening round of the first bout, with Anson Green, Homestead Negro, 149, but not until after he had been on the floor seven times. He was knocked down for four, slipped down, went down for four again and staggered down as he arose to take a count of nine, fell again, got up groggy to be dropped for six and then pitched down again without being hit. With the crowd yelling to Referee Joe Keally to stop the slaughter, the towel ended it.

The crowd was fair in size. Bill Schuster did the announcing and A. C. Couch and Steve Russell were the timers.

JOCK MARKS ERRORS

Sutherland pointed out to Mussolini Cutri several tactical errors he committed against Western Reserve, taking especial pains to note mistakes in the passing game. During a lengthy signal drill, the double-wing back system was called into use.

Pitt is in good physical trim, there being only four slightly crippled men on the squad. Rip Collins is nursing a sore left ankle; Capt. Hirshberg's shoulder hasn't fully recovered from the bruising it received in the Iowa game; Reider has a bruised left side and Quatse has a stiff leg.

TERRORS HERE THURSDAY

Facing a team stinging under the lash of a one-point defeat suffered last Saturday at the hands of Wash-Jeff, the Dukes are pointing this week to withstand the attack of Dick Harlow's Green Terrors of Western Maryland College. The Terrors will coast into Pittsburgh Thursday to meet the Dukes on Friday night at Forbes Field under the floodlights. And the Western Marylanders are all steamed up.

The problem of the locals is in keeping a team at fighting pitch for one of the toughest battles on the schedule right after having worked to a peak for the Georgetown game. Elmer Layden certainly had his men up on top as far as fighting spirit goes and they showed it last Friday night by outplaying the reputedly better Hoya team.

MURPHY RITES TODAY

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Funeral services will be held at St. Columbkill Catholic Church here today for Charles Webb Murphy, former owner of the Chicago Nationals League baseball club. Burial will be in Sugar Grove Cemetery. Murphy's body was brought from Chicago, where he died Friday.

POLO STAR NEAR DEATH

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Gen. J. Quinones, well known in the South western United States and one of the outstanding polo players in Mexico, was in a grave condition in the British hospital last night from injuries received when his horse fell on him. He was unconscious 24 hours.

Walter Maranville will continue with the Braves, but the Rabbit might be switched to another position in the event that Bill Urbanski comes through. Skipper Bill likes Urbanski; the little Pole jumped off poorly after joining the club, but he was switched from his natural shortfield job to third and the change may have bothered him. If Urbanski is impressive at short next spring, McKechnie may flind it feasible to assign Maranville to second or third.

Big Three Grads To Honor Dreyfuss

The Harvard - Yale - Princeton Club of Western Pennsylvania will honor the memory of Sam Dreyfuss, at its weekly luncheon tomorrow. A collection of books will be given the club to start a library on sports.

William E. Benswanger, son-in-law of the Pirate owner and treasurer of the club, will represent the Dreyfuss family at the ceremony.

RISKO BEATEN BY LOUGHRAN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavyweight, jabbed his way to a 10-round decision over Johnny Risko, Cleveland rubber man, in the main go of the Arena card last night. Risko outweighed him 13½ pounds.

Loughran stepped away to a lead in the first round and continued to jab his left into Risko's face and body until the final gong. The Philadelphian sent his opponent's head back sharply in nearly every round, but Risko came back for more, flaying rights and lefts to the body.

U. S. CARPENTIER BOWS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20.—(AP.)—Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, veteran lightweight, unloosed a right in the first round of a six-round battle with Louie Severo, of Meadville, Pa., here last night, and developed mastery of the situation from then on to a well-earned decision. Both men weighed 135 pounds.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, Pa., lost to Mickey Doyle, of Scranton, Pa., in a six-round preliminary.

N. H. L. Playing Rules Changed

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—Several changes in the playing rules of the National Hockey League were effected yesterday at the annual meeting of the league's directors.

The most important of the changes had to do with a goal scored while a member of the defending team was out of position. In the future such a goal will be allowed. Other rule changes were: No persons connected with a team will be allowed to talk to the referee on the day of a game, except the team captain. A penalty face-off given any player who falls on puck within 10 feet of own goal. If any player obstructs the vision or impedes opposing goalie, the referee shall stop play and face puck five feet outside the nearest blue line.

The play offs will be conducted as in past years, with first three teams of each division competing.

The season will open November 12.

Phillips Calls Off Go With Brady

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 20.—Tug Phillips, local welterweight, was forced to call off his bout with Jackie Brady, of Syracuse, N. Y., last night because of an injury to his right hand received last Wednesday in a match with Merrie Sherman at Detroit.

Phillips received word from his manager, Duke Denning, that he is scheduled to fight Emanuel Cortez in Tampa, Fla., October 30.

SOCCER HEADS MEET

The West Penn Soccer Cup committee will hold a meeting tonight to arrange for the opening games of the 1931 state championship, to be held on November 1.

Notices 1-A

Mrs. David Keefe and family wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for the sympathy and kind assistance during their recent bereavement.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Frances Aston, who died two years ago today, October 20, 1929.
Nothing can ever take away
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance is always here.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"Ernst, I must speak with you a moment," says my father.

I can guess what is coming. For days he has been going about with an anxious air, dropping hints. But I have always escaped him until now, for I am not often at home.

We go to my room. He sits down on the sofa and looks uncomfortable. "We are worried about your future, Ernst." I produce a box of cigars from the bookcase and offer them to him. His face brightens a little. They are good cigars—I had them from Karl, and Karl smokes no beech leaf.

"Have you really given up your position as a teacher?" he asks.

I nod.

"And why did you do that, may I ask?"

I shrug my shoulders. How should I even begin to explain it to him? We are two utterly different men and have got along well together thus far only because we have not understood each other at all.

"Oh, anything," I say. "It's all one to me."

He looks at me, shocked, and begins to talk about a good and respected calling, about getting on and making a place in life for myself. I listen to him sympathetically, but am bored. How strange that this man on the sofa here should be the father who formerly regulated my life! Yet he was not able to look after me in the years out there; he could not even have helped me in the barracks—any N. C. O. there carried more weight than he—I had to get through as best as I could by myself, and it was a matter of entire indifference whether he existed or not.

SATISFIED JUST TO LIVE

When he has finished I pour him out a glass of cognac. "Now listen, father," I say and sit down over against him; "you may be right in what you say. But you see, I have learned how to live in a hole in the ground on a crust of bread and a little drop of thin soup. And so long as there was no shelling I was quite content. An old hut seemed to me to be positive luxury and a straw mattress in the rest area was paradise. So you see, the mere fact that I am still alive and there is no shelling, that is enough for me for the moment. What little I need to eat and drink I can rake together all right; for the rest there is my whole life before me."

"Yes," he objects, "but that is no life, a bare hand-to-mouth existence like that."

"Every man to his taste," I say. "To me it would seem no life to be able to say at the finish that I had entered every day for thirty years the same schoolroom or the same office."

Rather astonished, he replies, "It's 20 years now that I have been going to the carton factory, yet I have always contrived to be my own master."

"I don't want to contrive to be anything, Father; all I want is to live."

"And I have lived, and uprightly and respectably, too," he says with an accession of pride. "It wasn't for nothing I was elected to the Chamber of Commerce."

TEMPORARY JOB

"Then be thankful that you have had it so easy," I retort.

"But you must do something, you know," he complains.

"I can get a job for the present with one of my army pals as a matter of fact, he has already offered me one," I say. "That will bring in all I need."

He shakes his head. "And for that you would give up a good civil service job!"

He puffs away at his cigar distressfully. "And even assured of a pension too!"

"Ach," I say, laughing, "where's the soldier will live to see 60? There are things in our bones that will only show themselves later—We'll all have packed up before then, don't you worry."—With the best will in the world, I cannot believe I shall reach 60. I have seen too many men die at twenty.

I smoke away thoughtfully and look at my father. I still see that this is my father, but also I can see he is just a kindly, somewhat older man, rather cautious and pedantic, whose views have no longer any meaning for me. I can quite well picture what he would have been at the Front; somebody would always have had to be looking after him one way or another, and he would certainly never have become an N. C. O.

Demonstrations in the streets were called for this afternoon. Prices have been soaring everywhere for months past, and the poverty is greater even than it was during the war. Wages are insufficient to buy the bare necessities of life, and even though one may have the money it is often impossible to buy anything with it. But ever more and more gin palaces and dance halls go up, and ever more and more blatant is the profiteering and swindling.

Scattered groups of workers on strike march through the streets. Now and again there is a disturbance. A rumor is going about that troops have been concentrated at the barracks. But there is no sign of it as yet.

Here and there one hears cries and counter-cries. Somebody is haranguing at a street corner. Then suddenly everywhere is silence.

DOGS LEAD BLIND

It is formed up by sections, marching in fours. Big white placards are carried before: Where is the Fatherland's gratitude?—The War Cripples are starving.

The men with one arm are carrying the placards, and they look around continually to see if the procession is still coming along properly behind them, for they are the fastest.

These are followed by men with sheep dogs on short, leather leads. The animals have the red cross of the blind at their collars. Watchfully they walk along beside their masters. If the procession halts they sit down, and then the blind men stop. Sometimes dogs off the street will rush in among the column, barking and wagging their tails, wanting to romp and play with them. But these merely turn their heads and take no notice of all the sniffing and yapping. Yet their ears are erect, pricked and alert, and their eyes are alive; but they walk as if they no longer wished to run and to jump, as if they understood for what they are there. They have separated themselves from their fellows, as Sisters of Mercy separate themselves from jolly shopgirls. Nor do the other dogs persist long; after a few minutes they give up and make off in such haste that it looks almost as if they were flying from something. Only a powerful mastiff stands still, and with front legs widely straddling, barks slowly, deep and hollow, till the procession is past.

It is strange how a face without eyes alters—how in the upper half it becomes extinct, smooth and dead; and how odd the mouth is in comparison, when it speaks! Only the lower half of the face lives. All these have been shot blind; and as they behave differently from men born blind. They are more violent, and at the same time more cautious, in their gestures that have not yet gained the sureness of many years of darkness. The memory of colors, of sky, earth and twilight still lives with them. They move still as if they had eyes; involuntarily they lift and turn their heads to see who it is that speaks to them. Some have black patches or bandages over their eyes, but most go without them, as if by that means they would stand nearer to colors and the light. Their eyelids are withered and closed; only the narrow strip of the lower lid still protrudes a little, blotched, wet and red like a dim, cheerless dawn. Many of them are healthy, powerful fellows with strong limbs that would like well to move freely and have play. The pale sunset of the March sky gleams behind their bowed heads. In shop windows the first lamps are being lighted. But they hardly feel the mild, sweet air of evening on their brow. In their heavy boots they move slowly through the everlasting darkness that stretches about them like a cloud; and troubled and persistent, their thoughts clamber up and down the meager scale of figures that would mean bread and comfort and life to them, and yet cannot be. Hunger and penury stir idly in the darkened rooms of their mind. Helpless and full of dull fear, they sense their nearness; yet they cannot see them nor do aught against them, but to walk slowly in their numbers through the streets, lifting up their dead faces from the darkness toward the light, in dumb appeal to others, who can still see.

DAILY SHORT STORY

A Lucky Break

Hurricane Badly Damages Old Farm House

Bill Bascom sat on the edge of a dilapidated short flight of steps fronting the house in which he lived. His wrists were dangling idly over his knees. A woman stood in the doorway looking down upon him. Bill was speaking in a slow drawl.

Dinged ef we ain't run up agin a rock wall, Nance," he was saying. "I seen Hurley this morning, and he can't put out another cent."

"Yuh mean he won't put another cent, Bill, I reckon?"

"No, by heck! I mean he can't."

"We had a dinged sight more'n we can pay for out'n these here crops. We got to give up ever grain o' corn we got, an' them peas; an' then we'll still owe a bunch o' money."

TO QUIT FARMING

"Give up the corn? What air we goin' to do shore 'nough?"

"Search me—I don't know. But yuh can figger it out yuhrself, Nance. The fertilizer was two hundred and twenty. Half o' that we got to pay for—thet's one hundred an' ten. Then our ration bill was one hundred an' fifty. What does all thet make for our part, Nance?"

"I got to think a minute. I reckon thet'd be two hundred an' sixty."

"Well, Hurley says his feed bill for the mule I worked, and his bill for the plow irons an' things for this year was upwards of a hundred an' sixty, an' thet wi' his part o' the fertilizer, one hundred an' ten on top o' that makes ten dollars more'n we owed, ain't it?"

"Yeah; thet's right."

"Well, we made eight bales o' cotton, weighin' 500 apiece; 150 bushels o' corn, an' them 15 bushels o' peas. The cotton ain't bringin' but $40 a bale, ca'se some of it was caught in the storm an' got stained, as they say. An' time we take out the ginnin' an' warehouse charges, hit gits down to about $35 a bale. Well, wi' corn at 80 cents, an' peas at $2, I reckon yuh see where we're at. Puttin' hit all together, our'n an' Hurley's, hit won't bring much more'n 400—so, there!"

"Yeah," Nance sighed.

"That's what yuh mought call some farmin', by heck! Can't raise no more cotton in this country at no 10 cents or 8 cents a pound."

"I reckon not, but what else can we do, I wonder?"

"What we're goin' to do now is what gits by me, Nance; wi' the whole o' December and more'n half o' November still agin us. No rations, an' no money to buy 'em with—an' no job I can git, as I can see. Not a thread o' clothes can we have for them young 'uns, an' them half naked now. Hit's hell, Nance, I'm tellin' yuh!"

SORRY FOR HURLEY

"Hit ain't nothin' else, Bill, as I can see." Nance sighed again, more deeply than before, as she folded one hand in the corner of her apron.

Bill was silent for some moments, then, looking up at Nance, he said: "I shorely am sorry for Hurley!"

"Sorry for Hurley? I reckon yuh got enough to be sorry for nigher t' home, ain't yuh, Bill?" queried Nance.

"Yeah—I know; but Hurley shore has done us white, helped us ever time he could. Now he jest can't. This here farm's in the Federal loan, an' Hurley ain't paid no interest in two year, an' no taxes neither, 'case he ain't had nothin' to pay 'em with. Thet little old Star mail route h's got don't pay him no more'n rations for his own family; an' what wi' thet game foot he's got he has to have a substitute ever onct in awhile. Thet takes off some o' his pay. On top o' all thet, here comes the boll weevil, the red spider, then the drought, an' then too dinged much rain—an' on top o' all thet this here dinged eight an' ten cents market. Hit's plum' sickenin', Nance, ef yuh want me to tell yuh?"

"Yuh don't ha' to tell me, Bill."

"Here's this old house—needs a new roof right now. An' the old chimney there's about to fall down—nothin' but red clay mortar j'ints, nohow. Wonder to me it ain't fell down afore some o' these mornin' breezes. Been here over a hundred year, though. Hurley's grand-daddy built it, they say, wi' his own hands. Some says old Amos Hurley was a miser, an' had money buried on this farm. Nobody's ever found none of it. Pity Jule Hurley couldn't git his hands on a roll of it right now."

At this moment three small children came running around the corner of the house. They were bare-footed, bare-legged and their bodies were little more than half clothed. They were playing hide-and-seek.

BILL STARTLED

"Lord, Nance; they don't know, do they?"

"Yeah; maybe so."

Bill was silent a moment. Taking his head into his hands he ruffled his hair with his fingers. "Hurley said," he went on presently, "he reckoned the Federal fellers'd sell this place, come spring, 'ca'se he can't raise a nickel to pay interest. I'm shore sorry for Hurley—I shore am, Nance!"

Bascom got up and started around a corner of the house. Suddenly he stopped in his tracks, and gazed into the sky towards the southwest.

"Lord, Nance!" he called. "Look here?"

"Somethin's risin' out o' Peter's Mudhole back down yonder!" Bill exclaimed. "Better git the kids inside—thet thing ain't goin' to be more'n a minute gittin' here!"

It was less than two minutes before the storm was upon the home of Bill Bascom. Inside of the house, the little family was huddled together in the southwest corner of the kitchen. Bill had argued that if the house went the flying timbers would be in front of them, and the chances for their being hurt reduced.

All was over in a moment of time. The hurricane had passed, but in its track was much wreckage. The main part of the house was left standing, but part of the roof had gone—and the chimney that Amos Hurley had built with his own hands lay prostrate in the yard, its stones sundered at every mortar joint.

NANCE ASKS QUESTION

"Well, I reckon we got somethin' to be thankful for," breathed Nance Bascon, realizing they were safe from personal hurt.

"Yeah—I reckon so," agreed Bill, as he looked from the kitchen doorway into the yard.

To the left could be seen the debris of Hurley's big rock chimney. "I reckon the Federal fellers'll have a job on their hands at the fust start when they git this place," mused Bill.

It had begun to rain, but Bascom went outside to make investigation. He walked to the fallen chimney, and stood among the ruins. Presently his attention was focussed upon an object near a large hearth stone, which excited his curiosity. The object was an oblong sheet-iron box. Bill stooped and took it up. His finger sank through the top of it, rust having destroyed the fibre. A sudden thrill shot through Bascom's frame. With the box in his left hand, and the fingers of his right tearing away at the rest of the rusted top he ran back to the kitchen, where he turned the box upside down on the table. Out rolled a great heap of gold coin.

Nance came over to the table and toyed with the gold wonderingly. "What youh goin' to do with it?" she asked.

"Yeah—I know he will," Nance sighed.

"I reckon now he can pay off thet land debt, an' fix up the house. An', by heck, he'll git us all the rations we need, Nancy, gal, an' like as not, some clothes for them kids."

MAKE THE HIGHWAYS SAFE AND PLEASANT!

Every motorist in the United States should have at least one little Darling Safety Device (see cut) in his automobile to keep the highways free of menace. This marvelous gadget is made from French flannel and cannot be detected from the arm of a beautiful woman. When installed in a car it can be used for giving traffic signals, but its most important use is in case of arrest. Place the Little Darling in the officer's hand, pull a concealed lever and the hand contracts, giving him a loving squeeze. The officer then tears up the ticket, thus saving you hundreds of dollars at the end of a year.

It Is Not Businesslike

Controller Kerr Is Right in Opposing the Payment of City Employes' Wages in Cash.

Former Senator C. M. Barr is quoted as having said in a recent speech:

"William Ziefel, the manager of Armstrong's campaign, and his chief clerk for years, up until McGovern went into office as Controller, drew $150,000 a month, or $1,800,000 every year, from the County Treasury, and placed this amount to his own account in the bank. Out of this he paid the employes of the County Works Department. The so-called payroll books that were supposed to be signed by employes drawing this money McGovern charged to be a mass of fraud and forgery . . . Whole pages on the payroll books showed the outgo of tens of thousands of dollars, page after page, on different signatures all in the same handwriting by the same man."

Our purpose in recalling this charge by Senator Barr is to direct attention to the possibilities of fraud and payroll padding that lie in the system under which the head of a department of the government personally draws a large sum of money from the treasury and then himself pays the wages of the employes in his department.

It develops that such a system is in vogue in certain departments of the city government and that employes receiving not more than $1,800 a year are paid in cash instead of by check.

City Controller Kerr called attention to the system yesterday in answer to the suggestion in this column that he prevent payroll padding by invoking his legal authority to require evidence that payments demanded by city employes are justly due.

Kerr says the system is wrong and "needs looking into." It is unbusinesslike, to say the least, and should be changed.

It is incumbent on City Council to act.

A New Coal Conference

There Is Encouragement in the Spirit Shown by Those Who Are to Discuss the Problem.

It must be confessed that the history of the numerous conferences that have been held in recent years to rehabilitate the "sick man of industry"—soft coal—has been discouraging.

Before general depression set in the conferences were being held, and they have continued intermittently to the present day. Operators have met, miners have met, Senate committees have met, boards of trade have met; they have investigated, presented the facts, and made recommendations, but without producing relief.

Despite this unprepossessing record, there is ground for hope that something may be accomplished by the conference that has just been called by Gov. Pinchot. There is encouragement in the spirit shown by all concerned—in the frank acknowledgment of the difficulties that must be overcome, in the prompt acceptance by the operators of Pinchot's invitation, and in the recognition of the urgent necessity of remedial measures.

Interest in Rowing

There Is Not as Much Indifference to the Sport Here as There Seemed to Be.

Publication of his comments has disclosed, however, that there is not as much indifference to the sport as there seemed to be. What is needed is leadership to stir those who are interested into action.

John H. Morton, of Bellevue, has written to the Sun-Telegraph to suggest that Pitt, Duquesne and Carnegie Tech include rowing in their sports curriculum. With our three rivers, he says, there is no reason why the city should not be represented at the annual intercollegiate rowing competition at Poughkeepsie.

If the proposed park for aquatic sports in the Allegheny valley at the mouth of Squaw Run, just above Aspinwall, ever materializes, rowing and sculling races may come into their own. The plans, as prepared by the Chamber of Commerce, call for tiers of seats along the river bank from which sports may be viewed by thousands of spectators.

Leader in Eggs

The State Department of Agriculture Calls Attention to an Important Farm Product

Pennsylvania poultry flocks produced in 1930 the most valuable egg "crop" of any state in the Union. The total value was $42,737,000, which was almost a million dollars greater than the value of the egg output in Ohio, our closest competitor.

Pennsylvania farmers received for their eggs last year an amount equal to the combined receipts from the same source of all the farmers in New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Delaware, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

Graveyards for Autos

The Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel Has a Plan That Will Help to Preserve Rural Beauty.

One can scarcely drive anywhere without encountering every few miles the bones of an abandoned machine. These unsightly piles of junk are to be found in forest glades, in meadows and on the banks of streams or in the streams themselves.

The automobile scrapping committee of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, which was in session in Pittsburgh last week, has a praiseworthy plan that will help to stop this defacing of attractive landscapes. It proposes to establish a chain of scrap yards which will accommodate 3,000,000 autos a year.

It is to be hoped the plan will succeed, that autoists will deliver old cars to these graveyards for machines, and that the scrap men will dispose of them profitably.

Isn't It So?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The over-peopled strip of Harlem known as the Black Belt accepts its economic sadnesses with a commendatory calm. One cannot walk through Lenox avenue without a pricking qualm that the army of colored jobless are doing less whining than most of us.

While Sunday afternoon is the gala period, when everybody struts, there seems no time when the street is without a characteristic grin. From upstairs flats float the plunk of the banjo and harmonizing of quartets. Always music and song.

Lenox avenue offers a variety of street salvationists who are apostles of cheer. One gray-haired patriarch from his curb perch cried: "Us cullud folks ain't livin' on chitlins these days. And we ain't grumblin'. We is just poah ole blacks and pow'ful glad we ain't Reds."

All of which emphasizes the diffidence of the American Negro to proselytizing by radicals. In many ways he has been hardest hit by vast pandemonium that has swept the world. Hundreds in Harlem have not had a day's work in two years.

Aristocrats of the section are naturally theatrical folk whose vogue until recently has been pronounced. Yet the lull on the Rialto coupled with the decline of interest on the sepia revue left many entertainers without work and standing under "The Wishing Tree."

Several extraordinarily fine residences on Striver's Row and Sugar Hill are shuttered and displaying "For Rent" signs. The slump among the railroads has affected another prosperous Harlem set—the Pullman porters and manicure maids of de luxe trains.

In times of financial stress the colored citizen turns to religion more devoutly than ever. Churches above 125th street are crowded and several revivals are on. The "numbers" gambling game, which is Harlem's besetting sin, has had a big drop in suckers.

Devotion of the late Eddie Dunn to his employer, George M. Cohan, was symbolized by his will. He left his estate of $5,000 entirely to Cohan's beautiful daughter, Helen. Dunn had been Cohan's manager and personal representative since the actor's flag-waving vaudeville days. His devotion to Cohan took on something of idolatry.

* * *

Dunn was for years featured in Rennold Wolf's sparkling Morning Telegraph column as the parenthesized Eddie (Waistcoat) Dunn, a tribute to his extraordinary dazzling collection of fancy vests. No weskit was too flamboyant. He had them in zebra stripes, polka dot, blood red and apple green. It may have been an exaggeration, but the Rialto reported more than 300 in the mighty array.

* * *

Cohan is not only loyal to old associations, but to old scenes. In the summer he still tilts in an old chair in rear of his Broadway theater. He had a gaudy office, but it was only a pretense. His real office was in this areaway. In a like manner Cohan has retained an apartment at a mid-town hotel by the year. When he is rehearsing or directing a play he lives there.

* * *

Most of us think of Cohan as the jumping jack comedian—a miracle of sprightliness with a nasal twang. And even today it is rather shocking to see instead a sedate gentleman with graying hair—as white almost as that of his beloved father Jerry.

Incidentally, a serial writer showed a letter the other day just received from an enthusiastic magazine editor. It read: "I have scanned but 34 pages of your latest and already have a racing pulse. It rings bells and in two places fires off cannon."

My only fiction effort was a mystery yarn about 20 years ago. It came back with a printed rejection slip, but inadvertently an inter-office critique was also returned, reading: "The mystery in this is how it came to be written."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Now it is fall.
Last week the colors were still oily bright—
Bright emerald leaves against bright cobalt sky,
Bright jade and orange in the garden patch,
And, over all, a brassy glare of light

Then, suddenly, the brilliant summer broke—
At dawn the cobwebs spread their frail, wet lace
Across the fence rails, and the kitchen smoke
Goes slowly upward in a straight blue wand;
The sparkling air is sharp as muscat wine;
Against the lilac shadows of the woods
The poplars burn like steady candle flame.

Gleaming with light that clings like thistle-down;
The wheat and oats were long since gathered in,
But now there's harvest of wild-flower seeds,
Acorns and berries, and fat roots of weeds,
Sift strips of bark and woolly floss to line

All day the ground-squirrels scamper on their trails
That run like tunnels through the tangled grass,
And busy wood-mice leave a dotted track
The quail run calling through the chapparal,
The Oaks are filled with crested racketeers—
Woodpeckers war with jays for acorn crops—
On mossy boulders striped chipmunks squat

A while, at noon, the light lies warmed and still
Then, from the higher ranges comes the chill
A film sweeps like a wing across the sky—
A silence spreads its hush through wood and field—
The shadows flow like water, coldly blue,
Until the earth and sky dissolve in one—
Far off, along the ridge, coyotes howl;
The kitchen light glows warmly down the trail;
The brook's faint lisping wanders like a ghost

Wise Words

—La Rochefoucald.

Text for Today

Lady Bountiful In Rags

By Claude G. Bowers

We must confess to some amazement over the disposition of so many of our newspapers and publicists to concentrate attention and sympathy on countries across the sea; as though we have nothing to worry about at home. We believe it is getting to be bad taste to refer to the fact that there are more than 6,000,000 breadwinners of America who are refused the opportunity to work; and 30,000,000 people on the farms who are on the verge, if they have not already gone over the brink, of bankruptcy. Reading the comments of our editors and publicists, one would naturally conclude, had they been dropped suddenly to the earth from Mars and, having no time for looking about, that we are a fabulously prosperous country, sympathizing deeply with our poor relations among the nations.

We are surfeited with suggestions as to what we must do for Europe; and there is a tragic dearth of suggestions as to what we must do for our own millions, ruined, or on the verge of ruin.

We hear a great deal about the European war debt to us and about scaling the debt down to the other nations' "capacity to pay;" and we are left with the impression that we have an unlimited capacity to pay ourselves.

Perhaps it would be just as well for us to clean our own backyard, strewn with the wreckage of banks, business houses, and human lives, before we permit ourselves to be too gravely shocked by the wreckage in other lands.

Thanks Due Lloyd George For His Frankness

Lloyd George has just called attention to our condition, and we ought to thank him for his frankness. Frankness is a quality that is at a premium in Washington today. He gives us some figures, which, we believe, are not much exaggerated:

"There are 8,000,000 workers today walking their (our) streets for work or for bread. There are millions on short time. Their unemployed, on our basis of computation, are well over 10,000,000, and the number is increasing.

"There is more actual privation through unemployment in one American city than in the whole of Britain. Financially, the spectre of bankruptcy is stalking through this rich country, whose streets two years ago seemed to have been paved with gold."

Perhaps he is a million high on the unemployed, and if the 700,000 in New York City know more privation than all the jobless in England it is probably due to the dole, which we do not want.

But it is interesting to know that some other nations are amused at the richman airs we put on in the midst of our poverty.

Our Condition Pitiful, Compared With France

Compared with the condition of France, ours is pitiful. She has balanced her budget and we are running $1,000,000,000 behind this year. She is not increasing her taxes; and the enormous falling off in our revenues because of the enormous decreases in the earnings of our people will necessitate an increase in our taxes this winter. If for party reasons, the Hoover administration postpones the inevitable increase in taxes until after the election next year, by floating another loan, we will be doing something that France has not done. Because French statesmen have thought in terms of the nation, rather than a class, a proper balance has been maintained between industry and agriculture, and French farmers are prosperous; but because our statesmen have thought in terms of a class, our farmers are all ruined.

But our heart goes out to France. It is a noble sentiment though France must smile tolerantly behind her fan as she rakes in more of our gold.

* * *

Running a Billion Behind in Revenue

We are facing the necessity of increasing our taxes, already onerous, to meet the necessities of the Treasury.

We have from six to seven million breadwinners unable to find work and millions dependent on private charity.

But we are considering the cancellation of the debts due us from France and other countries, or scaling them down to their "capacity to pay;" on the theory that we in our condition, can transfer all the debts to the backs of our own people and have an unlimited capacity to pay.

Nothing About the Full Dinner Pail Today

"As to its trade, exports had fallen off in August last, as compared with August, 1929, by 62 per cent. This is infinitely worse than our plight. That is what protection has done and is doing for our greatest industrial competitors, Germany and the United States. Why, therefore, should it be supposed to be a remedy for our ills?"

Since we built our tariff walls to prohibitive heights, and other nations have retaliated, international trade has been wrecked, our factories have poured the millions of workers on the streets, our railroads are suffering because of the loss of freight, and merchants because of the loss of customers.

We are not hearing anything about the tariff and the full dinner pail today, but the President stands four-square for the Grundy bill.

We have enough to do at home to end the human misery here, and the statesmanship, standing amidst our own ruins, due in large measure to the stupidities and shortsightedness of our own policies, and, seeing nothing to exercise its ingenuity closer than 3,000 miles across the sea, can be dispensed with to advantage.

Hyde's Two Versions Of the Stock Market

And now a Daniel come to judgment! A member of the President's Cabinet, Mr. Hyde, has caught up with the Democratic contention of three and four years ago, with this confession:

During the last year of the Coolidge administration and in 1928, Mr. Hyde and others of his tribe were singing another tune. Then, with the stock market mad as a March hare with speculation and fictitious values, they pointed to this vary same market as evidence of what Mr. Hoover, in his acceptance speech, called the greatest "prosperity" we had ever known before. It was in the silly days of the G. O. P. bubble—as certain to end in a tragic explosion as the Mississippi bubble or the South Sea bubble. And the administration was doing its utmost to inflate the bubble more—and did, until it burst.

The market did not "lie" then; it was the proof of the "prosperity." Prosperity so great and permanent, thanks to the genius of the Harding and Coolidge regimes, that Mr. Hoover promised, in his acceptance speech, to proceed to the elimination of poverty. The employment agencies even then were crowded, agriculture ruined, the mining industry in collapse, but—"look at the market" said the Mr. Hydes. "It does not lie."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

When you lie or do some other underhanded thing to help a man out of trouble that man will never have the same degree of confidence in you as a man.

Friends often ask favors of you that they would hesitate doing themselves.

They might tell you that they'd like to do so and so to please you.

But they are frank to say that they could not retain their own self-respect if they complied with your wishes.

It is quite possible that you ask and expect too much of your friends.

To ask your friend to do a wrong or dishonorable thing is going beyond the limits of good friendship.

Loaning money without good security or free of interest should not be expected, yet you are hurt when treated in a strictly business way in a matter of business by a friend.

Your friend must protect his interests, his family, even against his best friends, when it comes to business, so don't ask too much of friendship.
